BI Bowling

Banquet Winds It Up

The Burlington Bowling League held its annual awards banquet at K&W Cafeteria with President Alexander Kelly presenting the trophies to the winners.

High average: Blanche Farmer and Richard Inman. High series: LaDoris McNeill and George McKoy. High series with help: Kirk Davis and Mary Merritt. High games: Lucille McNeill and Robert McNeill. High games with help: Thelma Grace and Morris Rozier. Most improved: Lucille Bullard and Lonzell Kelly.

The Weavers (Johnnie Smith, Carol Baker, William Clark and Ralph Currie) received the first place trophy. The second place team was the Low Riders (Ardell Leggett, Gloria Murchison, Marion Hollingsworth and Larry McDonald).

Mamie Leggett received the secretary's trophy and participation trophies were given to all bowlers. Brenda Gardner won the door prize, a bowling ball.

Attorney General Issues Warning On 'Bill' Gimmick

Attorney General Rufus Edmisten warned business firms in the state that there is an apparent scheme to collect money by sending out solicitations designed to look like bills for accounts due.

Describing what he called deceptive looking solicitations for advertising, he said, "It looks like a bill to me and certainly should be checked out carefully. In response to a number of complaints from tarheel business firms, the Consumer Protection Section of our office has begun an investigation."

While the two known solicitations are identical in form, they originate from seemingly separate sources. One, from National Business Association Directory, shows a post office box address in Boston, Mass. The other, from Global Business and Industrial Directory, shows a street address in Los Angeles, Cal.

Edmisten said, "Business and industries should warn their accounting departments about these gimmicks and notify the Consumer Protection Section immediately if any are discovered. I can see, unsuspecting accounting personnel thinking that these are legitimate bills for ads already published. In fact, most of these documents are being routed directly to the attention of accounting departments."

None of the complainants bought advertising from the two named firms.

The majority of the invoice look-alikes describe half-page ads in to-be-published business or industrial directories for amounts ranging from $199 to $299.

A notice in small print at the bottom of each solicitation states that it is an order with no obligation to pay unless accepted and that it is not a bill, but Attorney General Edmisten said that, "small print denials aren't sufficient. The solicitations look like invoices and tend to mislead businesses into thinking they owe a bill."

Anyone with information concerning this problem should report to the Consumer Protection Section of the Attorney General's office in Raleigh.

Lady Eagles Now 7 - 0

The Lady Eagles won three games straight - April 26, 27, and 28 to take a 7 - 0 standing.

The Eagles defeated Greenwood April 26, 17 - 12. Plagued by errors, the Eagles were down in the second inning but made their comeback in the fourth with a solo homer by A. Thomas.

A. Thomas was the leading batter with a 4 - 5 performance. C. Love was 3 - 5 with a two - run homer in the fifth. J. Pate was 4 - 5 for Greenwood.

The Eagles defeated Hamlet April 27 after being down by six runs in the first inning. The Eagles began their rally in the second inning to pick up six runs. After a slow and deliberate struggle the Eagles defeated the Red Rams 13 - 12. M. Haynes led the Eagles batting with a 4 - 4 performance.

The Lady Eagles made their final game of the week short and sweet with a 15 - 4 victory over Anson after four and one half innings of play. T. Parker, C. Love and G. Hasty had perfect batting with a 3 - 3 performance for Parker and Love and a 2 - 2 for Hasty. Lee and Bennett were 3 - 3 for Anson. Anson had 14 hits to the Eagles 16. Better base running and better defense made the difference in the game.

The Eagles will finish their regular season on the road Thursday, May 5 against Wicker of Sanford.
