HIGH MAN - Andrew Reddick of Rockingham rides a derrick ball over the new office building of The Bank of Raeford in downtown Raeford. He was about 30 feet above ground when this picture was taken Friday afternoon.

Baker

contacted the Raeford Jaycees and requested help in a knock-on-every-door campaign. Jars for change were also placed in many local stores. Local ministers were contacted, and pleas for donations made in many area churches.

The originator of the drive, Ronda Pickler, said the drive began "because an immediate need was present."

"Without the help of the Raeford Jaycees, the weekend campaign could not have been successful. We are thrilled at the response we are getting from the community. To see the people here pulling together to help one who has given so much to the community renews one's faith in human nature," she said.

As the campaign continues this week, WSHB plans to broadcast live from the Bank of Raeford Friday between 3 p.m. and 6 p.m. Contributions will be accepted downtown and an effort is underway to have baked goods for sale.

A disco is also planned for Friday night at the National Guard Armory from 7 until midnight. Larry Long of WSHB said admission will be by donation of any amount, with the proceeds to be added to the fund.

"We will go all out and use all our time to assist in the campaign and the fund drive for Doug Baker," Bob Morrice, station manager said.

"I appreciate what every one of you has done," Elwood Baker, Doug's father, said. "I don't know what I have done to cause people to do this for us," he continued.

Baker said his philosophy is to always be in a position where people will be glad to see you coming instead of hating to meet you on the street.

The drive had raised over $500 by Sunday night with donations totaling over $100 taken in Monday. The Rev. Billy Beaver of the First Baptist Church said a special collection of $115 was taken Sunday, and a donation of $100 was reported by the Methodist Church bringing the total to more than $800.

Persons wishing to make a donation may mail their contribution to The Bank of Raeford, Raeford, N.C., 28376.

To contribute baked goods, to have a donation picked up, or for information about the drive, contact Ronda Pickler at 875-4979 or Cassie Wasko at 875-3241. Donations may also be turned in to any Raeford Jaycees.
