George Maxwell at nuclear power plant construction site.

Native Of Raeford

Maxwell Top Inspector At Nuclear Plant Site

George Maxwell, a native of Raeford, is now senior resident inspector for the U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission at the Shearon Harris Nuclear power plant under construction at New Hill for Carolina Power and Light Co.

He is the son of Mrs. O.B. Maxwell, Sr., of Raeford, and is a 1962 graduate of Hoke County High School.

Maxwell moved to Fuquay-Varina near the plant site in late summer from Bloomingdale, Ill., with his wife Beverly and their three children, daughters Kelly 14, Hollee 10, and Marcie 8.

Maxwell's duty is to watch the materials, including thousands of valves and miles of pipe, that go into the construction of the plant to help insure safety in the work.

In serving 10 years in the Navy he worked under Admiral Hyman G. Rickover, who was in charge of the Navy's program for nuclear-powered submarines. He left the Navy, though he liked the work, because he was away from his family months at a time. Maxwell got into the NRC work after being honorably discharged, and served at about 50 nuclear plant sites before coming to his present assignment.

Maxwell said that, so far, he has found the construction crew responsive in resolving problems he discovers in his inspections.

Saying safety comes first for him, he added that, personally, he doesn't care if the plant never opens if it's not safe.

His job is to see whether workers from electricians to welders are following procedures properly in every stage of construction.

Maxwell is one of 20 inspectors in Region II of the Atlanta Reactor Construction Branch of NRC.

Continuing Education Classes

Registration for the winter quarter classes will be held January 8, from 4 to 8 p.m., in the Hoke County Library. Classes will start the following week. Watch for the printed schedule which will appear in this paper soon.

New Classes

A class in photography will be given by Graham Niven, in Room 7, at the Old County Office Building 7-10 p.m. starting January 13th and ending April 7. Techniques in how to use your camera will be stressed.

Clarence Willis will teach a class in small-engine repair at the Hoke High Shop, 7-10 p.m. on Wednesday nights, January 14 to April 1. This will concentrate on lawn mowers.

Ray Graichen, a retired CPA in Pinehurst, will give a 14-hour course in Estate planning on Wednesday mornings, 10-noon, starting January 28 and ending March 11, in the Hoke County Library. See special announcement appearing later. This class is sponsored by the Retired Teachers Association. However, the public is invited to attend as long as spaces are available.

Mrs. Graham will offer a class in flower arranging at the Open Arms Rest Home on Tuesdays 10-noon. A few spaces are available to the public if you would like to attend. The class will start January 6 and end April 14.

A class in the history and organization of the Bible is planned for Mt. Pisgah Church. Details are not available at this time.

Returning Classes

The Great Decisions discussion class, given each February for renewal credit for Hoke County teachers, is scheduled for February 3 to March 28 from 3-5:30 p.m., in the Board of Education Building. Mr. Langdon will again be the discussion leader.

Elizabeth Jones will again offer an advanced income-tax class, after the beginning class is finished, March 9 to April 13. Both of the classes are on Monday nights in Hoke County Library.

The News-Journal makes every effort to publish only reliable ads. We urge our readers to carefully consider their investment and if you have doubt regarding the offer, to investigate carefully.
