Westall In Hoke Schools Since 1963

Woodrow Westall is going to work July 1 as principal of South Hoke School after serving since June 16, 1969, as West Hoke School's principal. Westall has been serving in the Hoke County school system since 1963, and before going to the West Hoke position had been an assistant principal at Hoke High (the W.T. Gibson section) and Up-church Junior High School.

Before coming to Hoke County he taught at Columbia, Bailey, Cornelius and Huntersville, all in North Carolina. Westall was born and reared in Black Mountain and graduated from Black Mountain High School

In August 1941, he recalled in a conversation last Friday, he and some of his friends decided to enlist in the Army, because the draft was going to "get" them sooner or later anyway. He said they also thought they could stay together all through their tour of duty. It didn't work that way, Westall said with a laugh. Westall wound up in England with a bomber group of B-17 Flying Fortresses in the Eighth Army Air Force.

Before he came home, he became a veteran of 36 bombing missions over Germany and France, on a B-17 as flight engineer. He got shot down once, he said, "but it wasn't as serious as it sounds." The bomber got hit on a mission too badly to make it all the way home. But one of the crew saw a bombed out airfield while the crippled craft was flying over France, so the pilot put the plane down in a belly landing between two runways, and noboby got hurt.

Did he get a Purple Heart (for wounds suffered in action against the enemy)? he was asked.

"The only medals I got," he replied, were the Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air medal with six clusters."

after getting his honorable dis-charge in May 1945 (the same month Germany surrendered), he decided to go to college, so he enrolled at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. He graduated in 1950 with a degree of Bachelor of Science in physical education and social studies. Later he earned a Master of Education degree, also from UNC at Chapel Hill.

His first job in teaching was at Columbia's "union" school in Tyrrell County. "Union" mean all 12 grades, except kindergarten. There he taught social studies and physical education. He also coached the football, the boys' and girls' basketball and the boxshell. girls' basketball and the baseball

Vets Ask

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following are representative questions answered daily by VA counselors. Full information is available at any VA office.

Q -- What is the maximum amount I can borrow on a Veterans Administration guaranteed home

- There is no legal maximum. The VA will guarantee 60 percent of the loan or $27,500, whichever is less. The total amount of the loan is determined by the policy of your lending institution and by your ability to repay the loan.

- My husband died in 1975. At the time of his death I did not want the headstone or marker provided by the Veterans Admini-stration, but I heard recently that the VA pays an amount toward the purchase of a headstone. Am I entitled to this benefit?

A -- No. The law providing for this benefit was not passed until late 1978. The deceased must have been buried after the law took effect in order for the survivor to be eligible for reimbursement.

Q -- Can a veteran get an extension of his 10-year delimiting date for education benefits from the Veterans Administration?

A -- If a veteran was physically or mentally disabled during the period of his eligibility, he may apply for an extension by submitting medical evidence for consideration.

Q -- When are dividends paid on participating National Service Life Insurance policies? A -- Dividends are normally paid on the anniversary date of the insurance policy
