

WIC Is Food Program

Are you a pregnant or breast-feeding woman? Do you have a child under 5 years old?

If so you may qualify for the WIC Program.

WIC is a Special Supplemental Food Program for Women Infants and Children under 5. It is funded and administered by the Department of Agriculture through the local health department.

WIC supplements a person's regular diet with iron and protein rich foods such as milk, eggs, cheese, cereal, fruit juice and infant formula.

The WIC Program also provides individual counseling on good health care and eating habits during pregnancy and childhood.

You may qualify for WIC if:
You are a resident of Hoke County.

You are a pregnant or breast-feeding woman, infant or child under age 5.

You meet present WIC income standards. This is based on the total gross income in the household and the number of persons living in the house.

You are a nutritional risk.

A person is a nutritional risk if he/she has an inadequate growth pattern (under/overweight) or a medical history of nutrition related problems in the family such as anemia or "low blood," miscarriages, or premature births. A health professional (doctor, nurse, physician assistant or nutritionist) must determine if an individual has a medical problem which could cause this person to be at nutritional risk and qualify for WIC.

If you feel you, or a member of your family is eligible for the WIC Program visit the Hoke County Health Department or call at 875-3717.

of the baseball association, asked the commissioners to help. At the December meeting, the association had asked the commissioners for $650, half of what was needed to meet the association's fund-raising goal. Action was postponed to give County Attorney Duncan McFadyen time to study the legal questions involved in the use of county funds for this purpose.

During the discussion that preceded the action, Mrs. Riley said $650 was a lot of money, considering that the county had other problems for which money was needed, like overcrowding in the county jail.

She said that people she talked to favored forming the team but objected to spending of county money for it.

Conoly replied that the team would relieve the overcrowding of the jail, meaning by providing wholesome recreation for young people.

After the motion was adopted, Mrs. Riley said to Conoly that, "to show there's no hard feelings," she'd give from her own pocket, adding after her next Social Security check arrives. Addressing Conoly, John Balfour, chairman of the Board of County Commissioners, said he'll match Mrs. Riley's donation.
