

West Hoke School Celebrates Spring Holiday

Friday, May 14, was no ordinary day for the principal, faculty, staff and students of West Hoke School. The long, awaited day of excitement and anticipation had arrived. Everyone was at school the usual time; but there was something different about the movement of the students, the facial expressions; even the tone of voices.

Teachers were moving quickly here and there, parents and patrons were going in and out of the building, staff members were busy completing non-routine tasks. As the minutes passed, the activity became more and more widespread.

Cafeteria workers were preparing bag lunches, teacher assistants were directing students toward the front lawn as they (the students) carried chairs; the members of the Upchurch Junior High School Band unloaded the bus; and the beautifully decorated royal platform (with flowers of all sizes, shapes and colors) awaited the royal party. It was time for MAY DAY EXTRAVAGANZA!

Suddenly, it seemed as if time stood still. It was the ninth hour. As the Upchurch Junior High School Band began to play (under the direction of Jimmy James) stately King Lewis and vivacious Queen Holly, followed by the handsome Prince Rodney and lovely Princess Amy, led the Royalty to the throne as approximately 250 spectators of parents, patrons and friends watched.

Milton Williams, principal, extended the welcome and crowned the king, queen, prince and princess. The king and prince also received a scepter; while the queen and princess received a bouquet of flowers.

Mrs. Barbara Lupo, assistant principal, recognized the attendants of the Royal Court. The boys of the Court were given a blue and white boutonniere, while the girls were given a blue and white corsage.

As the event progressed, the students became more anxious to entertain the Royal Court.

Mrs. Horne's kindergarten class (assistant Mrs. Furr) wanted to present Your Highnesses with the prize animal of the day, so they went on a Buffalo Hunt.

Mrs. McCall's Kindergarten class (assistant Mrs. Posey) displayed their desire to stay physically fit as they participated in Mousercise.

Friendliness and harmony were the order of the morning as Mrs. M.K. Thomas's kindergarten class (assistant Mrs. Gillis) displayed their willingness to keep peace with our southern neighbor as they presented the Mexican Hat Dance.

To illustrate their interpretation of the British word "lolly" which is short for lollipop, Mrs. Horsley's first grade class (assistant Mrs. Hendrix) performed to the title of Lolliwinks.

Mrs. E. Locklear's first grade class (assistant Mrs. Myers) proved that they are knowledgeable of the dances that were popular in colonial America as they gracefully danced the Minuet.

Although it is believed by some that disco-dancing is no longer popular, Mrs. Wilkerson's first grade class (assistant Mrs. Clippard) showed that the discotheque is alive and doing well as they presented their Discocise.

Miss Wood's first grade class (assistant Mrs. Jones) informed Your Highnesses that Hawaii is a land of beauty as they presented Hawaii Rhythm Instrument.

Mrs. Beatty's second grade class (assistant Mrs. McMillan) was delighted to show that creativity is what makes us individuals as they delighted the audience with Creative Movements.

A magician would have faced difficulty watching the hands of Mrs. Bernhardt's second grade students (assistant Mrs. Purcell) as they presented Hand Jive. In addition, what a beautiful oration on the importance of saving our trees as David Johnson expressed it in the voice of one who is bound to be a great public speaker; accompanied by his classmates.

Rhythm is part of a people's culture as Mrs. Edwards' second grade class (assistant Mrs. E. Thomas) demonstrated in their Rhythm Band presentation.

The students of Mrs. Baker's third grade class (assistant Mrs. Bease) showed their belief in the state motto, "To be; rather than to seem" as they demonstrated their feelings about the Old North State in their presentation of Carolina Fever-Free Expression Style.

Mrs. R. Locklear's third graders (assistant Miss Little) displayed their love for square dancing as they presented the Magic Trumpet.

What could have been a better way to express one's feelings than through folk songs as Mrs. Rockwell's third grade class (assistant Mrs. Morrison) did their presentation of some folklore songs.

To bring the eventful occasion to an end, the fourth graders, under the instruction of Mrs. Barnwell, Mrs. Lupo, and Mr. Tyler (assistant Mrs. Upchurch) beautifully wrapped the Maypole.

As the Royalty descended the platform for the recessional, and as the subjects of the land watched our Majesties, it was obvious from the resounding applause that this, West Hoke's first May Day festivities -- was indeed a Success with a capital S, and was truly an EXTRAVAGANZA!

Fourth Grade students wrap the May Pole during the May Day festivities at West Hoke.

Upper level, King Lewis [Baldwin] and Queen Holly [Schuchard], and [lower level] Prince Rodney [Johnson] and Princess Amy [Cummings] watching the May Day program.

Principal Milton Williams places the crown on Rodney Johnson during May Day activities at West Hoke School.

This year,

Give the gift of love.
