Some people argue that today, as secularism becomes the fiercest opponent of Christianity, we are justified in using its very own tools -- impressive buildings, high-pressure sales techniques, bureaucratic organization -- to combat that secularism. But it could be that in doing so we are merely making a show of our religion.

The advice in Matthew 6:1 has become increasingly meaningful to me, for I have found the assurance of God's mercy not in the brash displays of "religiousness" but in quiet times of prayer and meditation. Often "the still small voice" of God is drowned by the screaming commercialism of contemporary Christianity.

Perhaps in the roar of the 1980s we cannot offer the faith we have as just another loud and assertive aspect of modern society. We must offer our faith as the source of God-given strength which lends us calm assurance and grants us a mission to worship God and serve those around us.

PRAYER: Lord, help us seek a closer relationship with You through study and prayer. May the church become a fellowship of those who have found Your peace. In our daily lives may we be of service to those who formerly have seen only a Christianity of much noise and competition but little love. Amen.

MARKETING CHOICES FOR WHEAT

Harvest season is here, and farmers are having to make the decision of how to sell their crop. Last year, Hoke County produced approximately 250,000 bushels of wheat on 8,000 acres. This year's crop looks to be around the same volume. Farmers have four alternatives for marketing their crop:

- (1) Selling cash wheat at harvest.
- (2) Storing under non-recourse loan, if eligible.
- (3) Storing under 3-year reserve, if eligible.
- (4) Storing for the chance of higher prices later in the year (either hedged or unhedged).

Because the harvest price is expected to average below the loan rates, many farmers are asking whether or not they should store their 1982 crop. Currently March 1983 futures is around $4.00 at Chicago. Adjusting for basis, this would translate into about $3.50 in Central North Carolina markets. With the cost of storing $3.00 wheat from July-March at around $.54, it appears that storage may not even be a breakeven situation unless prices rise sharply during the marketing years.

The regular (non-recourse) loan rate for North Carolina wheat is $3.48/bu. and the 3-year reserve loan rate is $3.93/bu. However, to participate in either program, the producer must have signed an intention form before April 16, 1982. If he failed to do this the wheat must be sold on the open market or stored without price support benefits, which we proved earlier was not economical at this time. So unless you have signed up for one of the two loan programs, you are at the mercy of the market. North Carolina's wheat crop in 1982 will be up 14% from last year, but the U.S. production is estimated at 2% less than last year's record crop. Wheat prices are expected to drop sharply over the next few weeks as winter wheat harvest begins.

NEW TOBACCO LABEL

I was recently informed by N.C.D.A. that a label which permits the use of Ridomil 2E as a layby application treatment has been registered for use in North Carolina. Thus, growers now have the option to use this material at layby time. The label states this material to be used at the rate of one quart/acre, applied to the soil at the last cultivation on fields which have not received more than two quarts/acre of Ridomil as a preplant treatment.

HOW YOU CAN STOP YOUR COOLING DOLLARS FROM GOING THROUGH THE ROOF.

Up to 23% of the cooling you pay for could be going through the roof, because of a poorly insulated attic.

So, if you're looking for a way to save energy, your attic is a good place to start. And, if you need to borrow some money for insulation, CP&L is a good place to go.

We'll loan you up to $600 at just 6% interest for attic or floor insulation, for storm windows and doors, or for other energy improvements.

Improvements that can help make any home more energy efficient from top to bottom.

For details about a 6% Home Improvement Loan, just contact Carolina Power & Light.

We can help you put a lid on wasted energy.

CP&L 6% HOME IMPROVEMENT LOANS.

To qualify, you must be a CP&L residential customer with electric heat or whole-house cooling.
