RAEFORD. The council also voted to raise the city vehicle registration fee to $3 from the present $1. Mayor McNeill pointed out that the council could have raised it to $5, under authority of state law.

A motion to reimburse the Baptist Church the building-permit fee ($400) it has paid the city was tabled till the July 12 meeting after McLeod said he wanted time to study it. Gentry, introducing the motion, indicated he was responding to a request made by a church member on grounds that so many of the members are city taxpayers. The motion was seconded by Councilman Vardell Hedgpeth, Jr.

Councilman Graham Clark said that if the church is reimbursed, then other churches should be reimbursed also, in all fairness.

The council decided on the July 12 date for its July meeting because the regular meeting date, July 5, falls in the Fourth of July holiday weekend.
