

4-H'er Writes About Horse Camp

Candace Cameron, a member of the Bit-N-Bridle 4-H horse club of Hoke County spent June 13-19 at 4-H Horsemanship Camp held at Millstone 4-H Camp near Ellerbe.

The camp is sponsored by the N.C. Agricultural Extension Service and organized by the Extension Horse Specialist at N.C.S.U. Youth spend a week learning with their own horse.

Miss Cameron's account of the camp follows. The title is: "My Experience at 4-H Horse Camp."

by Candace Cameron

Hello. On the first week of summer vacation I went to Millstone 4-H Horse Camp. I would like to tell you about my trip. It was very educational if you want to learn about horses. We had to take our horse or pony. I have a Palomino pony, Babe.

Sunday, we were to arrive with our horse. My horse did not come because she needed the Coggins Test. Dr. Tate went to our farm and took some blood from my pony so she could arrive on Monday.

I learned a lot of things such as (1) grooming, (2) health, (3) breeding, (4) showing, (5) training, (6) riding, etc.

Also there were swimming, canoeing and wildlife studies. At night we would go to the mess hall and have vespers 11:30-12. Thursday we took our horses riding on a six-mile trail ride. It was so much fun. Babe and I really got to know each other better.

I would like to thank Sandy Ramey and Dr. Russell Tate at the Raeford Animal Clinic, and Alice Lancaster, our local 4-H Club agent, for all their help in getting me into camp.

I want to go again next summer, and I'll be sure to get the Coggins Test early enough.
