The moon was full when this picture was taken at 12:30 a.m. It was shot at a camera speed of 1/500th of a second and a lens opening of f8.

Earth's shadow is moving across the moon in this photo made early in the eclipse.

The moon was completely covered by the earth's shadow when this picture was taken but Skinner's camera 'pierced' the shadow to get this picture by taking a time exposure. His film was exposed for 2 minutes with the lens set at f3.5, wide open.

The moon is coming out of the eclipse in this picture, taken at 1/30th of a second with an f5.6 lens opening.

Skinner took this picture with a telescopic lens on his camera as the moon was coming out of eclipse and setting. The picture was taken at 1/30th of a second.
