4-H's Help With Fire Prevention

Hoke County 4-H program and the fire departments in Hoke County and Raeford are having a county-wide 4-H Fire Safety Program. The program is aimed at reaching all 5th and 6th graders in Hoke County, but all age youth are invited to attend.

Recruitment was done in the 5th and 6th grade during Fire Prevention Week and National 4-H Week by the 4-H program and firemen from Raeford, North Raeford, and Pinehill.

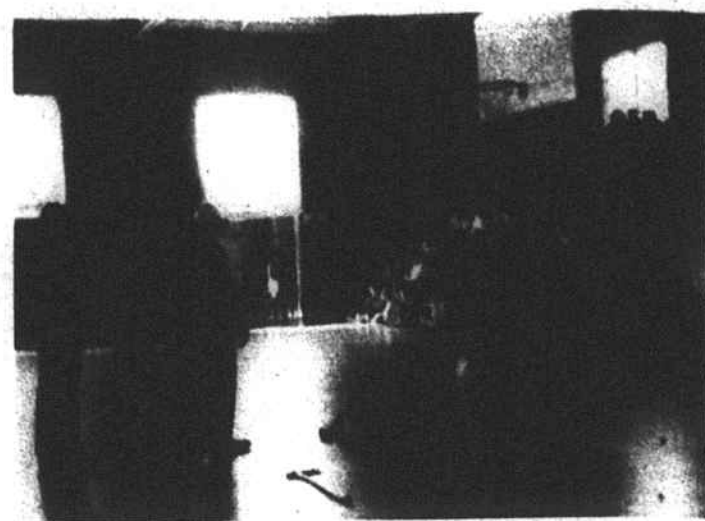

The classes began this week, but youth are encouraged to join the classes next week if they wish. Firemen in the local community fire stations have volunteered to teach the sessions at their fire departments. The classes will be held once a week for four or five consecutive weeks. Each class is held from 7:30 p.m. to 9:00 p.m.

Topics for the sessions include: 1) The chemistry of a fire 2) Fire extinguishers 3) Fire hazards, and 4) Home fire escape plan and Fire detectors. Certificates will be awarded for those attending three or more sessions in the program.

Youth interested in participating should report to their fire department on the night scheduled. The nights that classes are held are: Mondays -- West Hoke, Stonewall, Puppy Creek; Tuesdays -- North Raeford, Rockfish; Wednesdays -- Antioch, Tylertown; Thursdays -- Raeford, Hillcrest; and Saturdays -- Pinehill.

For further information, call the 4-H office at 875-2162.

FIRE PREVENTION -- J.W. Turlington School students and teachers listen Thursday morning to an explanation by Raeford Fire Chief Robert Jackson of the fire-fighting outfit Fireman Dennis Purcell is wearing during a program held in the school connection with Fire Prevention Week. Later, the students and teachers got acquainted with a fire truck and its equipment.

Bike-A-Thon Riders, Rider Sponsors Sought

Do you think that the Vardell Hedgpeths, Locky McDonalds, Jodi Willises, or some of the special students at Turlington and Upchurch schools can outride you on a bicycle?

Come out on Saturday and see! If you can't come and ride, then why not sponsor a rider? It's all for a good cause.

The Leukemia Society of North Carolina with the help of the Health Occupations students of Hoke High School and The Medicine Shoppe are sponsoring a Bike-A-Thon on Saturday.

Sign-in time is 9 a.m. with starting time of 9:30.

The five-mile route will begin and end at the Hoke High School Gibson Parking lot. Riders are asked to pick up sponsor forms from students, at the schools, or at

The Medicine Shoppe.

Volunteers are asked to sign up today to ride or sponsor a rider. They are advised to telephone 875-5146 or stop at The Medicine Shoppe to sign up.

The money raised will be used on research into leukemia and treatment of leukemia.

Prizes will be awarded for youngest boy; youngest boy; oldest male; oldest female; most sponsors; most money turned in; rider coming the greatest distance to participate; and other categories.

Including T-Shirts, a bike speedometer, and other sports equipment, these prizes were donated by local merchants.

Special thanks is given to Western Auto, Hoke Drug, Howard Clothiers, Michael's Mens Shop, Howell Drug, Valu Mart, The Shoe Chest, Raeford Clothing Outlet, and The Medicine Shoppe for these donations.

Refreshments will be served to riders, courtesy of Home Food Market and House of Raeford.

The Hoke County Ambulance Service will be on duty.

Sunday School Class Sponsors Bake Sale

The Adult I Co-ed Sunday School class of First Baptist Church will hold a bake and craft sale at the Flea Mkt at the old Army on October 16.

Fresh sausage and ham biscuits will be sold, so come early.

NAACP To Meet

The Hoke County NAACP will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at East Freedom Masonic Lodge.

Sandhill Libraries Have Served For 20 Years

The traditional gift for a 20th anniversary is platinum. This metal, more valuable than gold, seems very appropriate as a symbol for what the now 20-year-old Sandhill Regional Library System accomplishes.

Automotive engineers employ platinum as a catalyst in catalytic converters.

The Sandhill Regional Library System acts as the catalytic agent which has enabled its member libraries including Hoke County to change from small, rural libraries into modern resource centers.

When founded in 1962, the Sandhill Regional Library System comprised just three counties -- Richmond, Montgomery, and Moore. Anson County joined in 1968, Hoke in 1975, and the towns of Hamlet and Ellerbe in 1978.

Participation in a regional system enables member libraries to pool resources for better service. For example, the regional offices in Rockingham centralize the ordering and purchasing of materials and provide consultative staff for member libraries.

The professional staff includes the regional director and assistant director, a children's librarian, two public service librarians, and two technical services librarians.

In addition, the regional library system provides its members with quick access to all books and materials within the region. Any book not owned by a regional library can still be obtained through the interlibrary loan service provided by the North Carolina State Library.

A library card issued at one regional library is honored at all the others. The results of all these advantages are available free of charge to library patrons.

Since its beginning in 1962, the Sandhill Regional Library System has increased its budget in real dollars by only four percent, but it has nearly tripled the number of books available to its public, which now exceeds 164,000.

New library facilities have been constructed in Anson, Montgomery, Moore, Hoke, and Ellerbe.

In most cases, the libraries previously were found in old storefronts or houses and were crowded with books and materials. Recent construction, accomplished with Federal aid in most cases, provided spacious new quarters.

Throughout the coming year, the Sandhill Regional Library System will celebrate its twentieth anniversary with special exhibits and programs.

Plan to visit and support the Hoke County regional library.

Discover, if you have not already, the vital role of the library in your community.

Just as platinum resists corrosion and tarnish, so does the service rendered by the region continue to shine.

2ND NATIONAL FREE COLON-RECTAL CANCER SCREENING

OCTOBER 21-22-23

Dear Mrs.,
Because of your test, I too, saw the blood in my stool. I saw a doctor, was diagnosed to have a malignant tumor, had surgery at the Cleveland Clinic Hospital in Cleveland, Ohio, and am now at my home in Tampa recovering.

My surgeon has proclaimed me cured and placed me on a high fiber diet.

Many thanks to Medicine
Shoppes and the team working on this problem of alerting
the public.

Sincerely,
Lara Tighe

We treat customers like their lives
depend on us...

In only three days last Fall, over 64,000 people took part in Medicine Shoppe's free
national "Colon-Rectal Cancer Screenings."

Lives were saved. Friends were made. And nearly ten million customers relied on Medicine Shoppe pharmacists last year.

If you want to discover why
Mrs. Tighe trusts us, and learn more about our free healthcare tests, stop in -- ask for your
