Hoke Highlights

by Teresa Taylor & Pam Currie

The Miss Teenage Hoke County Pageant was held Saturday night at J.W. Turlington School.

The pageant is sponsored annually by the Hoke County Youth Council.

The contestants in the pageant are judged in the areas of beauty, poise, and appearance as shown in their choice of leisure and formal attire.

Tina Martino, Miss Teenage Hoke County of 1982, was present to take her final walk before crowning Miss Teenage Hoke County of 1983, Teresa Beasley.

Christy Nichols was the First Runner-up, and Tonya Holt was the Second Runner-up.

Miss Nichols also received the Most Financially Supported award, which was given to the contestant who collected the most sponsor money. Miss Nichols also received the Miss Congeniality award, which is voted on by the contestants.

The contestants base their votes on the person who gave them the most support throughout the pageant, who was the most energetic, and who was the most fun to be around. Congratulations to Miss Nichols.

Miss Beasley and Miss Holt should be congratulated also.

These three girls and also the other contestants each did a great job.

This pageant would not have been possible had it not been for the Hoke County Youth Council, Miss Carol Ronaltar, Mrs. Martha Anne Brown, the High School Chorus and Chorale, and the ushers along with many others who helped support the pageant.

Thanks to all of you for doing a great job.

Mrs. Elga Langdon and Mrs. Barbara Buie, of the Hoke Reading Literacy Council met with the members of HOSTS (Senior Volunteer Tutors) on Wednesday of last week at Hoke County High School.

The tutor of the month, Mavis Lide, was recognized and presented a certificate by Mrs. Langdon. Mrs. Langdon made a suggestion as encouraging advice to give students who need to be tutored: "Don't worry about where you are, but where you are going."

The Barber Shop singers, and also the Beauty Shop singers of the Hoke High School Chorus and Chorale sang in Southern Pines on Saturday of last week.

They sang at a telethon which was broadcasted on Channel 3 in Southern Pines.

The purpose of the telethon was to raise money for Cystic Fibrosis. This was the first performance of the Beauty Shop Singers.

Wow! What a beginning!

They also sang at the Miss Teenage Hoke County Pageant Saturday night.

Turlington, McLauchlin Students Get Safety Lesson Entertainment

J.W. Turlington and McLauchlin School children this week were entertained and instructed in safety, during assembly programs which were provided through the courtesy of Raeford Police Department.

This informative program was developed by the National Child Safety Council and features "Mr. McFeely", a talented performer who uses magic and comedy to entertain and instruct his young audiences.

The program is tailored to the various age groups, and includes effective warnings against unsafe activity that could lead to accidental injury or death.

"Mr. McFeely" is really Harold McFeely, a former elementary school principal from South Carolina, with a background of valuable experience in working with children during their formative years. His program contains a highly creative way of presenting safety knowledge through the use of magic and humor.

The 40 minute assembly, teaches children the important lessons of safe living at home and at school. "Mr. McFeely" does this in a manner that youngsters can understand and enjoy.

The National Child Safety Council's safety instructional assembly program conducted by "Mr. McFeely", is but one part of a year-long continuing plan for helping children to meet the challenge of living safely today and tomorrow.

Other NCSC materials are manuals, booklets, posters, study cards, folders, brochures, films, and various other audiovisual materials that are geared to specific age levels. The program is financially supported by local business leaders.

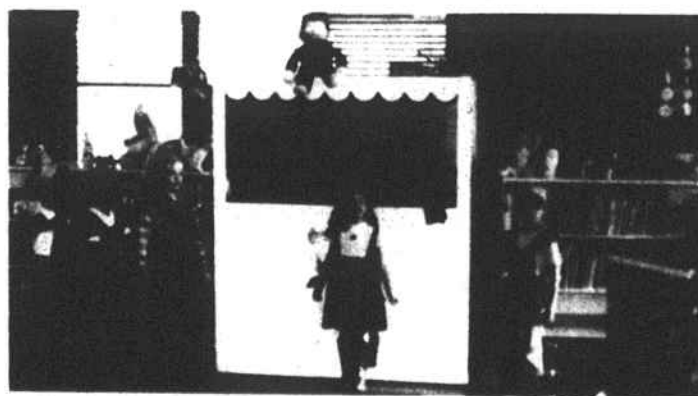

National Child Safety Council is a non-profit, non-commercial, tax-exempt and charitable organization with national headquarters in Jackson, Michigan. The Council has been serving local child safety educational needs since it was founded in 1956. It works closely with local law enforcement departments, to assist their child safety endeavors, throughout the year.

W. Hoke Students Perform RIF Play

West Hoke second graders were invited to a play for R.I.F. by Mrs. Bernhardt's class. R.I.F. is designed to encourage more awareness and appreciation for reading.

The play introduced some elves who "accidentally" found Santa's workshop, where the elves discovered dolls, toy soldiers, a jack-in-the-box and many other toys.

The play was well received by parents and guests who attended.
