

Fugitives Sought For NJ Slaying

On December 21, 1981 New Jersey State Trooper Phillip Lamomaco, the father of three small children, was shot to death on Interstate no. 80 Warren County, New Jersey.

Lamomaco was one of New Jersey's most highly decorated troopers.

As a result of the investigation into the shooting, felony murder warrants have been issued for the arrests of: Thomas William Manning W-M 36, 5'10", 150 lbs., brown hair, hazel eyes, place of birth Boston, Ma., and Richard Charles Williams, W-M, 34, 6'0", 200 lbs., brown hair, blue eyes, place of birth Beverly, Ma.

Also wanted for questioning is Raymond Luc Levasseur, W-M, 35, 6'0", 200 lbs., DOB: 10-10-46, brown hair, green eyes, place of birth Portland, Maine.

Subjects are members of a revolutionary terrorist group called the Sam Melville-Jonathan Jackson Unit (SM-JJU) that evolved from a prison reform group.

Their specialty allegedly is armored car, and bank robberies.

Investigation has indicated that SM-JJU has some affiliation with such better known terrorist groups as the Weather Underground, and the Black Liberation Army.

On February 7, 1982, near Boston, two Massachusetts State Troopers became involved in a shoot-out when they checked a vehicle occupied by two known associates of the Manning, Williams, Levasseur group.

The fugitive's life style can be considered communal. They prefer renting in rural areas such as farm houses. However they will easily adapt to urban living if the need arises. They generally keep to themselves, not socializing with neighbors.

Manning and his wife Carol have three children; Jeremy W-M 8 yrs. DOB: 11-16-73 & 4-2-74, Tamara W-F 3 yrs., DOB: 6-30-79, and Jonathan W-M DOB: 12-14-81.

Manning and Levasseur are on the FBI's 10 most wanted list; Manning and Williams on the New Jersey State Police 12-most-wanted list.

$25,000 REWARD OFFERED - These persons are being sought in connection with the 1981 slaying of a New Jersey State Trooper. They are believed to live in a communal style in a rural area.
