The ACC basketball tournament is now history, but not before N.C. State had knocked off three good teams. I had picked Virginia in this column last week, but it seems that the State players wanted it a little too much. They wouldn't say die. Congratulations to all N.C. State Alumni.

Now it is on to the NCAA tournament and the ACC has four teams in this event. It is possible for these teams to meet again before the tournament is over. Anyway I don't believe anyone could ask for any better basketball than was played in Atlanta last weekend.
