Animals Galore

The Franzen Bros. Circus which will be here on April 1 will feature more animals than any other circus its size in America. The proceeds from the two performances will go to help the Hoke County Children's Center.

Clowns Perform Here Sunday, As Circus Festivities Begin

Clown performances by Franzen Brothers Circus members will brighten the afternoon here Sunday.

Clowns will perform in the Edenborough Shopping Center at 2 p.m. and at the Raeford Hoke-Village center at 4 p.m. free of charge in an effort to promote the big top events coming here on April 1.

The circus, which features more animals than any other traveling troupe, is being sponsored by the Raeford Kiwanis Club for the benefit of the Hoke County Children's Center.

Clowns and other circus personnel will also perform preview shows in the county schools on Monday and Tuesday, Kiwanis coordinator John Howard said.

P.T. Barnum is reported to have said that clowns and elephants are the "pegs upon which the circus is hung."

The Franzen Brothers Circus does not carry herds of performing pachyderms but one single elephant star that will capture your heart.

Okha, the largest performer with the Franzen Brothers Circus, is unlike many other circus elephants. You will be amused as she kicks a field goal across the circus tent; astounded as she waltzes, dances and cavorts with lively steps and amazed as she attempts to roll a ball across the circus ring on all four feet.

After watching this lovable circus star, you will agree with countless others that Okha is really "Miss Personality" of the Franzen Brothers Circus, America's Favorite Show, Howard said.

Although Franzen Brothers Circus carries more wild and domestic performing animals than any other circus its size in America, it also carries a full contingent of talented circus stars.

This year's edition will present aerialists working at the apex of the big top who will keep you on the edge of your seat.

The Aerial Astros, a young husband and wife team, have astounded audiences everywhere as they tempt fate at each performance of the Franzen Brothers Circus. In their act, termed an aerial cradle routine, Amy must depend solely on her husband's grasp as she performs her mid-air maneuvers. You won't want to miss this thrilling premier American aerial act!

Acrobats, jugglers, wire walkers, and clowns add to the list of talented circus performers with the Franzen Brothers Circus on Friday, April 1 for two big performances at 6 p.m. and 8 p.m.

The Franzen Brothers Circus will set up its canvas arena at Armory Park - Old Nat'l. Guard Armory, site of this year's show grounds and as a bonus everyone is invited to come to the show grounds on the morning of circus day to watch the unloading of the circus animals and the setting up of the big top.

Come out around lunch time if you like.

Advance circus tickets are being made available at the following locations by the Raeford Kiwanis Club, sponsors of this year's show: Western Auto, Grocery Mart, Theresa's Dress Shop, Howard Clothiers and The News-Journal.

Only 1,200 tickets are available for each show. Children under two years are free and under 13 are $2. Adults are $3.

The price is a bargain for these thrilled packed performances and the proceeds go for a worthy cause.

Camp Easter-In-The-Pines Readies For Coming Sessions

Summer is for everyone at Camp Easter-In-The-Pines.

Physically handicapped people ages six and up can enjoy a vacation especially adapted for them in North Carolina Sandhills this summer.

Camp Easter-in-the Pines is a program facility of the North Carolina Easter Seal Society.

Camp Easter is fully accessible and offers campers an opportunity to participate in activities, not usually available to the handicapped.

Campers and staff are housed in ten rustic looking, modern, air conditioned cabins. All living units, activity areas and lodge are connected by paved paths. The swimming pool, horseback area and boatdock are all ramped and allow participation by anyone.

The activities offered are Arts & Crafts, Swimming, Fishing and Boating, Outpost Camping, Horseback Riding, and Sports and Games.

There is an activity planned for each evening and special events such as olympics, musical, guest entertainment and "out of season holidays" occur each session.

The Camp Staff includes registered nurses, who provide 24 hour health care supervision. Counselors are college aged, concerned individuals, who are trained in the personal care of handicapped people.

The goal of Camp Easter is to allow each camper to become as independent and successful as possible.

Being more successful and independent helps people to build a more positive self concept. No one is denied the opportunity to attend because of color, race, religion, sex, place of birth or ability to pay the fee.

Camp Easter-in-the-Pines serves the physically and multiply handicapped of North Carolina.

The Camp sessions by age group are: Session 1, June 5 - June 10 - 21-40, Session 2, June 12 - June 24, - 9-14, Session 3, June 26 - July 22, - 41-Up, Session 4, July 10 - July 22 - 15-20, Session 5, July 24 - July 29 - 6-10, Session 6, July 31 - August 5, - Overflow.
