Autry, Langdon Named As Draft Board Backups

Former Hoke County School Superintendent G. Ratz Autry and school Audio-Visual Director Glenn Langdon have been appointed by the Director of Selective Service to serve as members of North Carolina standby Selective Service Boards.

Autry has been appointed to serve as a member of the standby Selective Service Appeal Board of the Middle District of North Carolina.

Langdon has been appointed to serve as a member of North Carolina standby Selective Service Local Board No. 26.

Autry who served as superintendent until April, is the Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Raeford Methodist Church and a member of the Lions Club of Raeford and the Raeford Medical Clinic.

Langdon is a member of the North Carolina and the National School Public Relations Association.

Although there is no present authority to classify or induct men into the military, the selection and training of standby Local and Appeal Board members gives the Selective Service system increased capability to meet mobilization requirements in the event of a national emergency.

Another important part of the revitalization of the Selective Service System is the federal law which requires young men (born on or after January 1960) to register at any U.S. Post Office. Registration is the law.

Natural Tick Cure Available For Pets

Ticks are a chronic summer problem for dogs and cats. The usual treatment involves dipping the animal in a chemical insecticide each week.

However, if you prefer a more natural approach, try this organic preventative.

The preventative is simply a mixture of brewer's yeast and garlic which is mixed into your pet's food each day.

Use two tablespoons of the mix for medium to large dogs, and less for smaller dogs and cats.

Patrick Miller Wins Archery Demonstration

Patrick Miller, of the Rockfish 4-H Club, was named state winner in the junior archery demonstration at North Carolina 4-H Congress last week. The competition was held at the McKimmon Center in Raleigh on July 19.

As district winner, Patrick received a bow and a scholarship to attend North Carolina 4-H Congress.

In state competition, Patrick was required to shoot 60 arrows at five distances, and competed against five other district winners from across the state.

Weekend Outages High For LREMC

Lumbee River EMC personnel worked the entire weekend, according to Lane Hudson, Lumbee River EMC spokesperson.

Line crews and dispatch office personnel worked to maintain power over the four county area that the rural cooperative serves. Hardest hit were Robeson and Scotland Counties.

The outside crews worked from late afternoon to about midnight Friday, Saturday, and Sunday nights reinstating power to members. The outages were attributed to the high winds and heavy rain, particularly around the Red Springs area on Sunday.

"It was, so far, the worst weekend we've had this summer," said Hudson. "We certainly appreciate the patience that our members have shown as our outside crews worked to give them power. As a rural cooperative, sometimes our lines stretch miles across tobacco and corn fields, and problem areas are difficult to find and repair."

Lumbee river EMC is one of 28 rural cooperatives in North Carolina. The local cooperative buys its power from CP&L and resells it to approximately 20,000 members in Robeson, Hoke, Scotland, and Cumberland Counties.
