Ah, the life

Some horses are bred for racing and some for showmanship, but this animal is someone's pet and friend. Wandering about a pasture all day eating grass is not a bad existence and this fine looking specimen is living proof of that. One of two horses in a Hoke County field that day, this one seemed to keep looking around for someone to come ride him. When no one came, he resumed his eating only to glance up occasionally when an unfamiliar noise passed.
