

Pregnant Shannon woman to be jailed

A Shannon woman will enter jail after the birth of the baby she is presently carrying.

District Court Judge Lacy Hair ordered Gail Locklear to 12 months in jail beginning July 1, according to Hoke County District Court records.

Locklear, 27, who was arrested on her third driving while impaired offense on December 26 of last year, was also charged with consuming alcohol in the passenger area of the car, records say.

Credit was given the woman for four days in jail, according to records.

In other court action, John Fairley, of Raeford, has appealed a jail sentence given him after he was convicted of injury to personal property, trespassing and injury to real property, records say.

Warrants issued on the 18-year-old Fairley say he tore up a heater belonging to Maggie Smith.

The man also broke two doors on her house, warrants say.

Fairley was sentenced to no less than eight months and no more than 12 months in prison, records say.

Another Raeford resident, John McIntosh, was jailed for three days after being convicted of assault and assaulting an officer, records say.

According to warrants taken out on the man, he beat up Norman McIntosh and hit Sheriff's Deputy Clarence Patterson with a wine bottle.

McIntosh was to be released from jail at 6 p.m. last Sunday night, records say.

James Pate, another Raeford resident, was also jailed until Sunday evening after being convicted of assault with a deadly weapon and communicating threats.

Warrants were taken out on the man on February 26.

According to those warrants, Pate held a knife on Virgil Lanier and threatened to kill him.

On both charges, Pate entered pleas of not guilty but was found to be in the wrong by the court, records say.

A number of area residents were given short terms in jail after being convicted of DWI.

Martin Woods, of Lumber Bridge, was locked up for 72 hours and fined $150 after his six month sentence was suspended, records say.

Woods, 34, was arrested on December 29 of last year.

His jail term is to begin on March 8, records say.

James Archie Saunders, a Raeford resident, also received a 72 hour jail sentence and a $100 fine after being convicted of DWI.

Saunders, who is 35, was arrested last Christmas, records say.

Rita Alford, who was jailed last week after being charged with contempt of court, made a court appearance facing consequential charges of assaulting an officer.

The 23-year-old woman was alleged to have kicked Deputy Sheriff Ronnie Odom in the stomach, records say.

Alford was sentenced to six months in jail suspended for 12 months on unsupervised probation with the condition that she not set foot on the grounds of the Hoke County court house during her probation.

If she does, her sentence will be activated, records say.

James E. Malloy, a Laurinburg resident, was convicted of possessing stolen goods, records say.

According to records, Malloy tried to pass a money order from a Sanford convenience store to Raeford's Sky City.

Malloy was sentenced to 12 months suspended for two years supervised probation and $175 restitution, records say.

Jump Rope for Heart kicks off on Saturday

Hoke County Schools are gearing up for another Jump Rope for Heart campaign, which will start Saturday.

This year marks many years of Jump Rope for Heart, a national special event sponsored by the American Alliance for Health, Physical Education, Recreation and Dance.

Jump Rope for Heart is an activity that teaches children the importance of caring for their heart.

It also is a way of collecting funds in the form of pledges or donations for the American Heart Association.

This year's Jump Rope for Heart will be held Saturday, March 9.

Schools participating are asked to report to the following sites: McLauchlin and Scurlock - Upchurch Gym; South Hoke - South Hoke Gym; J.W. Turlington - J.W. Turlington Gym; and West Hoke - Gibson Gym.

Registration will begin promptly at 8:30 a.m.

"Hats off" to nutritionists

A hearty salute to all food planners and preparers, be they active at home, in school lunchrooms, or in institutions. As recipients of your culinary skills, a gracious "thank you" goes out during "National Nutrition Month."

Of interest, you might want to know that grocers can now stock a new "super carrot" which contains 60% more carotene (vitamin A). So, be patient and request this superior carrot and eat healthier.

Just as you expect the best foods at the grocery mart, expect the best advice from your pharmacy. You are important to us!
