Beatty wins Hendricks scholarship

Santes Beatty of Raeford, a senior majoring in sociology anthropology at Guilford College, is the first recipient of the college's Charles C. Hendricks Scholarship. Beatty is the son of Larry and Sarah Beatty of Raeford.

The Charles C. Hendricks Scholarship will be presented annually to a rising senior on the basis of academic achievement, exemplary personal character and service to the college community. Preference is given to students from North Carolina. Recipients will be invited to attend the Guilford College Alumni Association Board of Directors spring meeting and will be recognized at the annual Student Awards Convocation held in April.

A Presidential Scholar and Corella and Bertram F. Bonner Scholar, Beatty has made many contributions to both Guilford and greater Greensboro communities. For the past two summers, Beatty has organized a leadership camp for at-risk children. During the school year, he has worked at Claire House (a battered women's shelter) and the Adult Center, both in Greensboro, to get young people involved in community service. Beatty is the program coordinator of Guilford's Conflict Resolution Resource Center and he is currently working with Greensboro city and school officials to bring conflict resolution training programs to area teachers and students. He also serves as the site director for the GuilfordCollege YMCA After School

He has served as a resident adviser for two years and is a hall director in English Hall this year. Earlier this fall, Beatty organized a Halloween party for disadvantaged youth in the community. he also was a new student orientation leader at Guilford, and is currently working on a campus project to simulate the activities of the Underground Railroad.

Beatty was an all-conference quarterback for the Quakers in 1994, and received the 1995 Quaker Club Ideal Student-Athlete Award. He was selected as a member of the National Association of Student Personnel Administrators Undergraduate Fellowship Program and was accepted to its Summer Leadership Institute. Beatty also was named to Who's Who

The Charles C. Hendricks Scholarship Fund was established in 1992 by family, friends and Guilford alumni to honor a man known affectionately as "Mr. Guilford College." Hendricks has been a part of the Guilford community since he enrolled as a five-year student in 1936. he has held several administrative positions at the college, including director of admission and assistant to the president. Though he "officially" retired in 1983, Hendricks continues to support Guilford as an admission and alumni relations associate. In 1971. Hendricks received Guilford's Distinguished Alumni Award, and in 1995, he was honored by the Carolinas Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers when they established the Charlie Hendricks Award to acknowledge those members who support the or-
