School news guidelines

The News-Journal is happy to publish press releases and photos relating to school events and accomplishments. We are particularly interested in those news items which relate to student endeavors.

Our limited staff prevents our covering many of the events we are invited to attend, but we welcome write-ups brought into our office, e-mailed or faxed to us by parents, teachers and other school staff members.

Articles written by students, with their teachers' approval of the finished copy, are especially welcome. It is our goal to encourage students' journalistic endeavors.

Photos are used according to their quality. Some tips on photo taking include getting closer to subjects, particularly if a Polaroid camera is used. Also, try to eliminate background clutter and have subjects face the camera. Identify each person by both first and last names, and this includes teachers and principals; we will not use material that does not include both names.

We strive to use all school releases as soon as typing time and space allow. However, don't hesitate to call the editor (875-2121) if your release is not used in one to three weeks. Also, call if you have other questions.

Thank you for your interest in our children.
— Pat Allen Wilson, Editor
