LARGEST CITY CIRCULATION.

RALEIGH, APRIL 2, 1894.

It was a Dochester woman who fed her chickens different colored dyes so they could lay many hued Easter eggs and then wondered why they died.

Rev Henry Preserved Smith, the Cincinnati minister who has had his heresy trial, is engaged in the sale of fire proof safes. He thinks, no doubt that every man who had anything to do with his prosecution needs one.

A woman who brought suit against a railroad company in Kentucky was awarded a few days ago $150 for the killing of her horse and one cent for her husband, who had received fatal injuries in the same accident. The connection of the awards gives them an invidious aspect.

That is a bad state of affairs over in South Carolina. One man power and bossism was never intended for this country. Czar Tillman should take in his head before somebody knocks it off.

NORTH CAROLINA NEWS.

Statesville Landmark: Maj W M Robbins will enter upon his work as a member of the Gettysburg battlefield commission next Wednesday.

Salisbury Herald: The night trains on the Richmond & Danville are crowded with northerners making the return trip home after wintering in the far south. The R & D is sending down deadhead cars daily to bring the travel back.

Swarms of strange looking bugs have made their appearance in Pitt county. A gentleman discovered a maple knotted with what he at first thought was a swarm of bees. Upon investigation he found them to be brown bugs, slightly larger than potato bugs. They were feeding on the leaves of the tree. The next morning all the leaves had been eaten from the tree and the bugs had disappeared.

The son of a prominent physician of Winston got his mother in a room, Saturday afternoon, and, locking her in, proceeded to beat her unmercifully. An officer went out to arrest him but a mother's tender love for a wayward boy was shown in that she could not testify against him. To have him arrested and sent to the lockup, she thought, would make him a hardened criminal. The boy's father was out of town.

Specimen Cases.

S H Clifford, New Cassel, Wis, was troubled with neuralgia and rheumatism, his stomach was disordered, his liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him.

Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill, had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Speaker, Catawba, O, had five large fever sores on his leg; doctors said he was incurable. One bottle Electric Bitters and one box Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold by John Y MacRae.

A fellow in El Reno, Neb, hugged his girl so hard that he broke one of her ribs. Then, in his first call after her return from the hospital, he forgot to hug her at all, and so broke her heart.

TILLMAN WAS WARNED.

Charleston, S C., March 31.—The day of the bloodshed the News and Courier warned Tillman in these words:

The issue, as we have said, has been squarely made by the citizens of Darlington. They are determined, it is reported, to defend their homes against invasion by the spies, at any cost, of bloodshed—and they have the sympathy of every good citizen in the state. There is no use in evading frank consideration of the question, or in mincing words about it. The people of the state have submitted to the enforcement of the dispensary law, though they had no voice in making it a law so far as it relates to the sale of liquors and to the storage of liquors for purposes of sale. They will not submit, we believe, to the raiding of their homes at the pleasure of the spies or constables, and Governor Tillman will do well not to try to compel their submission to such an outrageous violation of their supreme rights. There are other laws in this country more sacred than the dispensary law, and the written and unwritten law that makes a man's home a sanctuary for himself, his wife and his children is one of these laws. If the dispensary law goes too far and clashes with it, the dispensary law must yield. We do not believe that the people of any community in the state will submit to it in this particular. We do not believe that they ought to submit to it

He Rose in the Coffin.

A ghastly joke was perpetrated the other day in the old potters field, Portsmouth, Va, that came near unbalancing the brains of several city employes and resulting otherwise seriously. An unknown young white man placed a box in an open grave, blacked his face and hands, entered the box and was covered with dirt by friends, a place being left for air. When the cemetery hands came to remove the bodies not already taken up, the dirt was removed and the box containing the joker opened. He then raised up, although nearly suffocated. With a yell the men fled in every direction, several becoming unconscious from fright. During the excitement the joker and his friends escaped.

The man who thinks a newspaper should be made up exclusively of reading matter suited to his particular whims and prejudices is pretty hard to please. He regrets that there are others interested in subjects which he deems obnoxious. All kinds of people read newspapers and there must be variety in the kind of news published.—Franklin New York News.

Charles B Wisdom, a negro, is in the St Louis jail, sentenced to be hanged on April 13. He has sent a letter to Governor Stone, inclosing a rabbit's foot, to which was attached a bag of "hoodoo" powder. He gave the Governor specific instructions how to use the foot, and said if he failed to carry out his instructions the Governor would be "hoodooed" forever.
