Capital News Notes.

Governor Carr is invited by Gov. Northern of Georgia, to visit the southern immigration convention at Augusta, May 30. He is also asked to invite the commissioner of agriculture and to appoint three delegates from the state at large and one from each of the nine districts.

There was received for the Vance monument fund $35 from the tobacco board of trade of Roxboro, and $39 from Hon. W H H Cowles, of Wilkes county.

The governor has an invitation to attend the unveiling of the Confederate soldiers' and sailors' monument at Richmond, May 30.

Requisition is made for a negro at Tallahassee, Fla., charged with the murder of policeman Moran at Charlotte.

Weather.

An area of high pressure over the eastern lake region causes northerly winds to prevail in the northern and middle Atlantic states. The pressure is comparatively high everywhere east of the Mississippi, and the weather is fair. A storm is central over the Dakotas, which is causing cloudy weather and some rain in the west. No decided changes in temperature have occurred.

For North Carolina: Fair. Local forecast: On Thursday, fair. Local data for 24 hours ending 8 a m today: Maximum temperature, 93; Minimum temperature, 64; rainfall, 0.00.

CITY IN BRIEF.

Items Picked Up and Boiled Down.

Wild strawberries are ripe.

The corner stone of the monument has arrived.

The board of aldermen is to meet Friday evening.

The banks will close tomorrow, it being a legal holiday.

A convict from Watauga arrived at the penitentiary today.

The "senior speaking" at the state university was held yesterday.

Cotton is improving rapidly, as a trip through the fields will show.

The boys' circus was well patronized last evening. The performance begins at 8 o'clock this evening.

The next term of the superior court of Wake is a criminal term and begins the fourth Monday in September.

Woolcott & Son will June 1 begin work in their trousers factory and will employ fifty people in that specialty.

There will be a meeting of the Epworth league of Edenton street M E church immediately after the prayer meeting services this evening.

Idlewild promises to be quite an attractive suburb by and bye. Some cottages are going up there. Mr Sears has nearly completed one.

The bridge over the railways between the A & M college grounds and Pullen park needs repairs. The floor is full of holes, and is really dangerous.

The musicale at the home of Mr J A Higgs on North Bloount street last evening was a very attractive affair and the attendance was large. The programme was well arranged and varied.

Rev Dr Columbus Durham, Mr and Mrs N B Broughton, C P Spruill, George Stronach and Wilson Whitaker have gone to Dallas, Texas, to attend the southern Baptist convention.

Two convicts from Rowan were brought to the penitentiary today. One of them is Isaac H Foust, who was for years a bank cashier at Salisbury and who is to serve seven years.

The telegraph poles which formerly stood outside of the sidewalk on West Martin street were today moved inside the sidewalk. Several new poles will be put in. All are of very large size.

All persons who have carriages which they are willing to place at the disposal of the ladies' memorial association tomorrow afternoon are specially requested to notify the president of the association at once.

The Cleveland Guards have decided to attend the ceremonies at Richmond, at the unveiling of the Confederate soldiers and sailors monument on the 30th inst. A Charlotte company may also attend. Gov Carr has been specially invited.

Yesterday an item was written in reference to the need of a society for the prevention of cruelty to animals. The compositor could not see it in just that way and so made it read "for the promotion of cruelty to animals." He is still alive.

The board of aldermen was called to meet last evening, but there was no quorum. Some of the members "shirked." It is a bad plan to do this. It causes talk not at all complimentary to the board. Another meeting is called for Friday evening.

It will be gratifying to the friends of Mr Clarence A Johnson to know that he is making good progress at "Eastman," having finished his first set in "Theory" in six days (usual time two weeks). Clarence, it will be remembered, is a student from Raleigh male academy and "Morson and Denison's" boys always show the effect of careful training.

J O Blalock, the white man who was brought here from Louisburg and who was charged with attempt to outrage Linnie Somerville, a 18 year old colored girl, was given a hearing before Justice Marcom. He was held in $50 to appear at court. The evidence as to the attempted outrage does not appear to amount to much.

Col Julian S Carr passed here today on his way to Wilmington, where he will tomorrow deliver the memorial address. He will dedicate his remarks to the rank and file of the Confederate army, particularly to Henry F Wyatt, the first North Carolinian killed in the civil war. Col Carr has prepared an attractive souvenir in memory of the day, including a haver sack and "hard tack."

GRAND LODGE I. O. O. F.

In Annual Session at Goldsboro—A Big Barbecue.

The state grand lodge of Odd Fellows convened in annual session at Goldsboro yesterday afternoon, with 150 delegates in attendance from all sections of the state, and a special in today's Richmond Dispatch says that a finer looking body of men is seldom seen. There are quite a number of prominent Odd Fellows in attendance, among them Charles M Busbee, past grand sire of the world. Under the auspices of Neuse lodge, No 6, of Goldsboro, the grand lodge assembled at 8:30 in Neuse lodge hall and proceeded thence in a body to the Messenger opera house, where a large concourse of citizens awaited them, and where they were eloquently welcomed to the city by Dr W J Jones in behalf of the mayor, and by Mr Chas B Aycok in behalf of Neuse lodge. In response to these gentlemen, and in behalf of the grand lodge, Mr W D Gaster, of Fayetteville, grand master, had many kind and complimentary things to say of Goldsboro, and expressed warm appreciation of the cordial welcome extended the grand lodge. At the conclusion of his remarks the grand lodge formed in procession and, led by past grand sire Busbee, proceeded to Neuse lodge hall, where the first session of the annual deliberations was opened. At 11 o'clock today the grand lodge visited the orphan's home of their noble order, near Goldsboro, where they were regaled by an old fashioned barbecue.

Preparations for Memorial Day.

It is specially asked that all members of the memorial association, the auxiliary, and all ladies who are interested in memorial day meet at Metropolitan hall by 9:30 a m, May 10th and any who have flowers or evergreens will please send them to the hall early. It is again asked that the flowers for that one day be devoted to the noble dead, and not used on private graves. The schools have been asked to give half holiday, and it is hoped they will comply. The merchants are asked to close their stores during the exercises, and thus show their respect for the noble deeds of those who laid down their lives in the cause of southern rights. Mrs. F. A. Olds, secretary L. M. A.

Attention! Veterans.

The annual meeting of Junius Daniel camp Confederate veterans, will be held Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock sharp, in the mayor's office, at which time every member of the camp is earnestly requested to be present. Election of officers, report of delegate to the Birmingham reunion, participation in memorial exercises, and other important business will claim the attention of the camp. Every veteran in the city invited to attend this meeting.

P. E. Hines, president.

Railway News.

Today's Norfolk Virginian says: "It is learned from reliable authority that on the 19th instant there will be a general suspension of work at the Seaboard Air Line shops at Portsmouth. On that date all except those who are absolutely necessary to keep the engines and cars in running order will be suspended until business picks up. Mr O W Walker, master machinist, will be removed and the entire department will be placed under the control of Mr D W Ralentine, master car builder. This is indeed sad news, as it comes so unexpectedly."

The congregation of the First Presbyterian church most earnestly desires to see a spacious and modern church take the place of the old fashioned and small edifice now in use. There is much improvement elsewhere in church architecture and it is the hope that some work may begin here in the autumn.

Mr W C Douglas was here this afternoon on his way home from Goldsboro, where he was attending the grand lodge of Odd Fellows. He was today elected grand master. The rules were suspended and he was immediately installed. One of his children is very sick and he received a telegram calling him home. For this reason he was so quickly installed.

The Christian convention of North Carolina and Virginia, which is in session at Norfolk, selected Burlington, N C, as the next place of meeting. Rev W G Clements has been elected publishing agent of the convention. A committee of five was appointed to report a definite plan for the celebration of the centennial of the Christian church in August. A resolution that the church use only unfermented wines for communion was adopted.

The Washington correspondent of the Charlotte Observer says today: Senator Ransom and representative Crawford were nicely received by the new public printer, Mr Benedict. Senator Ransom said afterwards that the whole house of representatives was there. He also stated that over 100 North Carolinians in 2,500 altogether wanted places in the government printing office.
