The New Route to Norfolk.

This excursion train will leave Durham Wednesday morning July 25th via Raleigh, Selma, Rocky Mount and return on Friday 27th giving you time to visit Washington, Baltimore and any other points of interest and the lowest excursions rates possible will be secured for those who will go on this train. Plenty of ice water and good service and kindest attention to all. Fare for round trip $2.50. Come and go with us to see the city by the sea.

To the People of Raleigh.

Last week an appeal for help was made through the papers for the benefit of the many sick near our community. Only a few have so far contributed and the amount given is far short of the amount required to help those in distress. We are in a position to know the needs of those for whom aid is asked. If any people need help they surely do. Unless there is a more favorable response to this appeal we recommend that a committee be appointed at once to visit our citizens and request aid. Contributions can be handed in to Mr. Jno. T. Pullen at the savings bank.

EPWORTH CHAPEL.

Opening of a New House of Worship.

Epworth chapel, a new Methodist church near Peace institute, was opened yesterday morning for public services. At 9:30 o'clock Mr. C. Williams, the superintendent, opened the Sunday school, and arranged his classes, and his teachers and proceeded to the service. Attendance fifty-five and scholars. At 11 o'clock the new church being full filled, the pastor Rev. R. H. Whitaker, preached from Galatians, 6:5. "For every man must bear his own burdens." The preacher in a practical way exhorted the members and friends of the new church to remember that, as at the judgment every man must bear in his own burden, so if they would make the new church a blessing to themselves and to the world each individual must bear his part of the burden of work and of sacrifice. The sermon was appropriate and the audience seemed to be pleased with it. The singing was led by the Brooklyn choir, which is equal to saying that it was fine. The new church is very neatly arranged and seats 250 persons. It is a credit to the liberality and Christian spirit of the Methodists of Raleigh. Its location is the best that could have been selected, as it will offer church privileges to a very large class of citizens who live remote from the other churches. Services will be held every Sabbath. Sunday school at 9:30 and preaching at 11 a. m. Rev. R. H. Whitaker, the pastor, has done most zealous work to secure this new house of worship.

A Fine Crop Report.

Today's state crop weather report says the reports of correspondents indicate that the past week has been about the most favorable of the season. The temperatures have been very high, culminating on the 29th with maximum temperatures over 100 degrees; the nights also have been very warm. The drought has been completely broken by the generous rains of June 29, 30, and July 1 and 2. Some damage was done by local heavy rain storms, with wind and hail near Osborne, Richmond county, and Brown Summit, Guilford county. The damage by drought (except to gardens) will probably be entirely overcome by the present favorable conditions and the outlook is now very encouraging indeed.

Died.

CORRELL.—Mrs. H. A. Correll died today at the home of her son, Mr. Joe Correll, on South Bloodworth street, after a lingering illness, aged 65. She was an estimable woman. A husband, two sons and two daughters survive her.

GLENN.—At Caraleigh mills yesterday Mr. Henry Glenn died.

THOMAS.—Today at Caraleigh mills Miss Lila Thomas died.

OLIVE.—This morning Mrs. Thaddeus Olive awoke and found her husband, who was apparently well at 3 a. m., dead in bed. He was a clothes cleaner and lived on South Salisbury street. The cause of death was heart disease. He was 35 years old.

Mr. John C. Drewry today received a telegram from Drewryville, Southampton county, Va., announcing the death there last night of his brother, Dr. James Drewry, of consumption, at the age of 31. Mr. Drewry left at noon today for Drewryville.

A Lucky North Carolina Editor.

Col. Tomlinson Bravo Mangum, the accomplished editor of the King's Mountain Progress, is a rare specimen. Few men have luck and honor showered upon them so lavishly as Mr. Mangum has. He went to King's Mountain a few months ago, and had in this world a lone 25 cents, and that was borrowed money. But now he has a paper with a circulation. It is bright and newsy, and has been such a paying institution that the editor was enabled to get married. That was not all, either. He became prominent there and has been elected secretary and treasurer of the Baptist church. It is now said that this young business editor is contemplating a scheme even more daring than any of his former exploits have been.—Charlotte News.

TROOPS ON DUTY.

THE GOVERNOR'S GUARD ORDERED OUT BY THE GOVERNOR

Wake Jail and Various Roads Guarded—Mills Now at Goldsboro.

Late Saturday night a telegram was received by deputy sheriff Walters and Brooks saying, "Look out for a mob tonight." They knew at once that this meant that there was a plan to lynch George Mills, the murderer of Miss Ina Wimberly. The following application was at once made to Gov. Carr, signed by Mr. Walters as chief deputy, for sheriff Page.

"I am reliably informed and have reason to believe that there is a great probability of a riot this night by an assemblage of people, armed etc. from White Oak township and vicinity for the unlawful purpose of taking George Mills, a prisoner in jail here for murder, and doing violence to his person. It is impossible for me to provide deputies in time to prevent said riot and I apply to you to order out a sufficient number of the State guard to assist me in the prevention of said riot."

The governor thereupon at 11 o'clock p. m. issued, as commander-in-chief, the following order to Capt. Alfred Williams, commanding the Governor's Guard:

"Sir: Application has just been made to me for a detail from the state guard to aid the sheriff of Wake county in the prevention of a riot in the city tonight. You are therefore ordered to assemble your company immediately and report for duty, armed, to deputy sheriff R. H. Brooks at the jail in the city for the purpose of assisting him and other deputy sheriffs in preventing said riot."

Various rumors during the afternoon had prepared the officials for the news of the assemblage of a mob and tended to confirm it. The Governor's Guard assembled at the jail at midnight under the command of Capt. Williams and lieutenants James Jordan and Fred. Woolcott, with 41 present for duty. Most of the company was kept in the jail, but the roads leading into the city from the west were picketed. There was no alarm during the night, nor did any mob appear. The troops went off duty at 5 o'clock Sunday morning. Just after they arrived at the jail Mills, the prisoner, was taken about a mile east of the city by several deputy sheriffs and was there kept. The day police force was warned and did night duty in the vicinity of the jail.

Yesterday Miss Wimberly was buried. A man who came down on the noon train from Apex said a great crowd had gathered and that he had never seen people so excited. He added that he had heard many declare they wanted to have Mills at all hazards. He declared he did not know of any mob forming Saturday night but that there was constant talk of lynching Mills.

It was deemed best to again put the troops on guard, last night. It was rainy and dark; in fact, the very night for an attempt of the kind. At 10 o'clock the Governor's Guard, 46 strong, went on duty, and was held in reserve at the armory until 5 o'clock this morning. Mills was again taken out of the city by deputies.

The Governor's Guard was prompt in appearing for duty and Capt. Williams says he is greatly pleased both with their promptness and the behavior of the men. Nothing was heard of the lynchers last night. Mills will have a preliminary hearing before a magistrate here tomorrow, on the charge of murdering Miss Wimberly.

Upon petition setting forth the rumors of lynching Mills and the crowded condition of the jail, judge Spier Whitaker this morning ordered the removal of Mills to another county for safe keeping. When the excitement which now prevails abates, he will be brought back upon the charge of murder under which he is now held without benefit of bail. Mills is now in Wayne jail.

During June there were six burials in the city cemetery, two of these being of persons who died elsewhere.

A SUDDEN DEATH.

Mr. William Dallas Haywood Passes Away.

Yesterday morning about 9 o'clock Mr. William Dallas Haywood died at his home at the corner of East Edenton and North Person streets. Death came to him quickly. He appeared in the early hours of the day to feel quite well, but a quarter of an hour before his death became sick, and in a few moments was in agony. A physician hurried to him, but in a few minutes after his arrival the venerable gentleman died quietly.

Mr. Haywood was born here July 5, 1810 and was almost 84 years of age. He was the son of Stephen and Delia Hawkins Haywood and his family is one of the best known in the state. He was for years one of Raleigh's wealthiest citizens and at his home a most gracious hospitality charmed all visitors and they were many. He was a graduate of the state university. He followed no profession, devoting himself to farming and the care of his estate. He was a fine specimen of the gentlemen of the old school, and his life was always kindly and unselfish. He was for many years mayor of Raleigh, both before and after the war. He was for many years both an Odd Fellow and a Mason. He married Miss Mary Cannon, daughter of Dr. Robt. Cannon, and his beloved wife preceded him to the grave only five months. He leaves five daughters, whose devotion to their parents was truly beautiful. All day Sunday and today there were a number of visitors to the house. These represented all classes in the city.

The board of aldermen met today at 12:45 p. m. to take action regarding the death of Mr. Haywood, who was for twenty-five years mayor of Raleigh. Mayor Badger stated the object of the meeting. Alderman Frank Stronach moved that a committee of five be appointed, with the mayor as chairman ex officio, to prepare resolutions of respect and offer them at the next meeting of the board; also that a copy be sent to the daily papers and to the family. The motion was adopted by a rising vote. It was moved and seconded that the board attend the funeral of the deceased this afternoon in a body; and that the clerk be instructed to prepare badges of mourning for the board. After arranging to meet this afternoon at 5:15 for the purpose of attending the funeral, the board adjourned.

The funeral was held at 6 o'clock this afternoon from Christ church, Rev. Dr. M. M. Marshall officiating. The choir sang the following hymns: "Lead, Kindly Light," "Just as I am," and "Jesus, Lover of my Soul." The burial was in the city cemetery. The honorary pall-bearers were Gov. Carr, Messrs. T. D. Hogg, C. B. Root, R. S. Tucker, A. B. Andrews, J. B. Hill, F. S. Biggs, Charles H. Belvin, J. D. Boushall and J. T. Pullen. The body-bearers were all colored men who were reared by the Haywood family, Chas. N. Hunter, Osborne Hunter, Sr., W. H. Haywood, Charles Cardwell, Sirree Atkins and John C. Daves.

The Weather Report.

For North Carolina: Showers followed by fair in western portion Tuesday. Warmer in western portion Tuesday. Local forecast for Raleigh and vicinity: Tuesday, occasional showers; slightly warmer. Local data for 24 hours ending 8 a. m. today: Maximum temperature 88; Minimum temperature 70; rainfall 0.96. An area of high pressure is central over New York and Pennsylvania, while an area of low pressure is found over the eastern lake region and another low over the lower Mississippi valley. West of the Mississippi the weather is dominated by an area of high pressure apparently central over North Dakota, which is causing fair weather throughout the west. High temperature continues except in the extreme northwest where it is somewhat cooler. Heavy local rain occurred at Hatteras; 4.96 inches reported for past 24 hours.

Deputy sheriff Walters left today for Goldsboro with the two crazy twins who will be placed in the colored insane asylum.
