HINTS TO BUSINESS MEN!

Good advertising consists in the selection of a few strong, quick sell specialties, to stand as the representatives of your stock in price, pattern and quality. No tradesman need lack for a specialty. Let specialties sell staples always and try to take rank among your competitors as one who is the quickest to recognize a good thing and the first to sell it.

Invite patrons to come and see you.
The great advertisers of the country never cease reminding the people of their names, location and nature of business. Advertising is an investment and newspaper advertising columns are a boon to man. They help him out of his troubles and into the smiles of prosperity. The Pennsylvania railroad advertises exclusively in the newspapers. There is not a great business that has been built in the past twenty years without the aid of newspapers.

This is too bustling and competition is too great for the merchant to allow himself any longer the luxury of waiting supinely behind his counter for trade. He must show in advance of the purchase just what he has to sell and how he intends to sell it, and a persistent publication of his wares is the means by which such showing can be made.

Frank Siddall, the Philadelphia soap man, says: "I have confined my advertising entirely to newspapers.
The man who does not read a newspaper does not use soap."

One of the most extensive conflagration that ever visited Paris occurred there yesterday. The fire originated in a workshop and spread rapidly until a vast area was afire. The loss will amount to several million dollars.

Ex-mayor Hewitt of New York says that when in office he knew the police were corrupt, but his effort to get evidence failed when he placed one of the captains on trial. He asserts that the annual amount of blackmail collected in New York city exceeds the gross sum raised by taxation. Tammany's term for the blackmail is "protective duties," a phrase which passes between themselves and their partners in crime.

An invitation, signed by over 100 representative Americans, has been sent to Mr. Gladstone, the "Grand Old Man," asking him to visit this country. The invitation says: "We confidently assure you that your presence in America would not fail to be regarded by your 'kin beyond sea' as an honor to themselves and to that country whose destinies your pen has gloriously and memorably depicted.
Preliminary arrangements have been made of such character as to justify the fullest assurance of your utmost comfort in all respects, with entire freedom from intrusion of every kind upon your privacy. You would be our guest from the moment of leaving your home until your return, which would be, we trust, with a new lease of life and increased power for its enjoyment."

The general public is not half as much interested in the railroad companies or their striking employes as it is in itself. For a few days the public may view with comparative unconcern and philosophic impartiality the tactics of fiercely antagonizing organizations, but when great inconvenience ensues, when mails are delayed, passengers stranded and business the whole country over paralyzed, then the public is apt to give expression to its opinions in a vigorous and unmistakably earnest fashion, and if the conditions of which it complains are not speedily amended there follows an explosion in which somebody—and that somebody is rarely undeserving—gets hurt. It is most unreasonable that because the Pullman company and a few of its employes have disagreed as to wages that a whole nation of seventy millions of people should be called upon to suffer serious discomfort. The few should have more sense than to do their utmost to make enemies of the many.

This is the day of horrible crimes.
At Butler, South Dakota, K. B. Quann, a Norwegian farmer, became so worried over crop prospects that he cut the throats of his two children, aged six and eight, and threw them in a well, cut his own throat and jumped in after them.

Yesterday there was a big gathering of representatives of railroad and steamship companies engaged in the Atlantic coastwise trade, at the rooms of the interstate commerce commission, at Washington, when that body conducted an inquiry into certain alleged discriminations in rates. In the order summoning the appearance of the railroad people the commission says: "It appears from an inspection of the joint tariffs of rates upon interstate traffic to points in other southern territory east of the Mississippi river and south of the Ohio and Potomac rivers that carriers in many cases make a greater charge for the transportation of such traffic for a shorter than a longer distance, and that by reason of recent changes in these tariff rates the number of these departures from the rule of the statute has been greatly increased, and the disparity between the rates for the longer and shorter distances has in many cases been greatly enlarged; and also that there is reason to believe that notice of changes in rates has not been given to the commission, nor to the public, as required by law."

The "A. P. A." is the "American Protective Association," and it is bitterly opposed to Catholics. It is increasing in membership and here and there excites intense feeling and riots.
At Butte, Montana, July 4, two saloon keepers displayed on their places bunting forming the letters "A. P. A." During the night some ones, presumably Catholics, set off a stock of dynamite under one of the windows. This attracted a large crowd of people to the scene, which blocked the street all day. After the parade the police could not disperse the crowd. The crowd started to tear down the buildings occupied by the saloon men who had the
"A. P. A." sign out. Judge McHatton of the district court appeared in a window and addressed the crowd, appealing to them to commit no overt act of violence, and gave assurance that the trouble would soon end. A riot broke out, and the fire department rushed into the crowd, turning water upon it. The sheriff and posse then came upon the scene. They were roughly handled and barely escaped with their lives. The mayor then called upon the governor for militia, and several local companies were ordered out. The excitement ran high all the evening in other parts of the town, and there was a lively interchange of shots. A special policeman was shot through the heart and instantly killed.

To the Ladies.

There are thousands of ladies throughout the country whose systems are poisoned, and whose blood is in an impure condition from the absorption of impure matter, due to menstrual irregularities. This class is peculiarly benefitted by the wonderful tonic and blood-cleansing properties of Prickly Ash, Poke Root and Potassium (P. P. P.) Boses and bonding health take the place of the sickly look, the lost color and the general wreck of the system by the use of Prickly Ash, Poke Root and Potassium, as hosts of females will testify, and many certificates are in possession of the company, which they have promised not to publish, and all prove P. P. P. a blessing to womankind.

CAPT. J. D. JOHNSON,

To all whom it may concern—I take great pleasure in testifying to the efficient qualities of the popular remedy for eruptions of the skin known as P.
P. P. (Prickly Ash, Poke Root and Potassium). I suffered several years with an unsightly and disagreeable eruption on my face, and tried numerous remedies to remove it, none of which accomplished the object. In this valuable preparation was to. After taking three bottles, in accordance with directions, I am now entirely cured. J. D. JOHNSON,
