DOTS AND DASHES

MADE ABOUT TODAY'S HAPPENINGS.

Interesting Items Gathered in and Around the City.

Patronize the street cars.

Revenue officers yesterday captured an illicit distillery in Orange county.

About twenty-five persons left here on the Asheville excursion at 5:45 this morning.

The railway commission today heard exceptions to its assessment of railway and steamship lines.

The route agents on the S. A. L. now make a long run between Portsmouth and Charlotte.

A young lady from Elkin, Surry county, today sent Gov. Carr $13 for the Vance monument fund.

The third regiment has 307 officers and men and the fourth regiment 252 at camp Vance; total 559.

Mike Stapleton, 30 years old, committed suicide at Lenoir yesterday by drinking seventeen bottles of Jamaica ginger.

Mr. H. R. Huggins has raised in his garden, on Halifax street, the finest tomato seen here this season. It weighs 24 ounces and is a "pounder."

Just one week from next Tuesday is the big excursion to Asheville, and the cheapest—four dollars. See posters for full particulars.

The Independent cornet band enjoyed a ride to Pullen park last night on the street cars and made music both going and coming.

It will be finest of the season and the cheapest only four dollars to Asheville and return, on July 24th. Don't get the date mixed.

It is probable that there will be a movement here for the establishment of a local Montreal fire insurance company. Such a company would pay well.

What is said to have been the heaviest rain of the season fell late yesterday afternoon near Neuse, north of this city. It is said to have damaged cotton on low lands.

For months people have expressed a great desire to see the street cars again running. The wish is realized. Now patronize the cars. That is a practical way of showing interest.

At a meeting of the board of managers of the "Sons of the Revolution" held yesterday afternoon in the supreme court building Messrs. Richard Battle of Denver, Col., and DeBerniere Whitaker of Raleigh were admitted to membership.

A letter from Mr. Muldoon, the contractor for the Confederate monument, informs the ladies' monument association that the work on the monument is progressing rapidly at the Mt. Airy quarry, and will be completed by the time specified in the contract.

Mr. Henszey, of the Egypt coal mines, says some work is now being done there, the output being 100 tons a day. It is the expectation that in thirty days the machinery will be at work at its full capacity. The machinery is now almost completed. The plant is a fine one.

About noon today Robert Jackson, colored, grabbed a watch at the ice house of L. D. Taylor, on South Wilmington street, and made a dash. He went across lots, with police officer Jones in hot pursuit, and was caught near Yancey & Martin's shop, on East Morgan street. Jackson has a restaurant on East Hargett street and is also a locomotive fireman.

A special from Graham to the Durham Globe says that Bob Madkins, the negro who outraged Miss Phillips, near Big Falls, May 20, was tried here yesterday morning for the terrible crime. The jury was out but a few minutes before they returned and rendered a verdict of guilty. Judge Hoke passed the death sentence on Madkins, naming Friday, August 10, as the day for the hanging. This was done at a special term of the court called by Gov. Carr especially for this trial. The Durham Sun says the trial lasted only two hours and fifteen minutes. This is a vindication of law and order in North Carolina. Justice was allowed to take its course and the fiend got his just deserts.

THE VERY LATEST.

The Head of the K. of L. Orders His Men Not to Strike.

CHICAGO, July 11, 3 p. m.—Special—Grand master workmen Sovereign, of the Knights of Labor, has ordered his men not to strike. The situation has greatly improved. A great many cars of freight were moved today, under thorough military protection.

THE AUGUST RACES.

Programme of the Fourth Annual Meeting.

The dates fixed for the August races at the state fair grounds are Wednesday, August 22, and Thursday, August 23. An Improvement.

Correspondence: The work of repairing the road-bed of the electric street railway, now being done on the Hillsboro street line, is a great improvement over the old method. In the overhead trolley system as used here and elsewhere the electric current is carried from its source at the dynamo along the heavy feed-wire beside the street and from this feed-wire it is conducted to the trolley wire over the track at frequent intervals. The moving car takes the current by contact of the spring pole, and leads it by concealed wires to the motors underneath where its energy is utilized in driving the car along. After passing through the motor the current is led through the wheels to the rails and thence along the rails back to its source at the dynamo. In this way the electric current makes a complete circuit, without which it could do no work. It is just here that a great waste of energy may take place and may prove an important factor in the success or failure of the plant.

As commonly built the ends of the rails are connected by "fish-plates" which serve to hold them together in a rigid line. In addition to the fish-plates there are "bond-wires," usually of heavy galvanized iron, which connect the ends of the rails and are intended to convey the current from rail to rail on its return circuit and to its source. Such bond-wires frequently break or rust off and the fish-plates must be loose enough to allow for expansion and contraction and in this way the return current is greatly hindered, to say nothing of the thick accumulation of rust at each joint. Any such interference in the free passage of electricity puts into the line more or less of "resistance" and resistance means, practically, that more power must be used to overcome it, without an increased output of useful work. Such a condition makes it necessary to have more coal and increases other expenses in proportion and hence a loss to the system.

The improvement mentioned consists in "bonding" the ends of the rails with heavy copper wires and in burying a heavy wire of the same material alongside each rail. At every joint of the rails, the buried wire is securely soldered to the bond wires and thus makes the most perfect connection possible. In this way a heavy loss of initial energy is prevented and must result in a great saving to the company. Of course such an arrangement is costly in material and labor but it is the best way. T. C. H.

CHICAGO QUIET.

The Movement of Freights at last Begun.

CHICAGO, July 10.—Swift & Co., ran out a train of 33 cars of dressed beef today. The beef will be hurried through to Liverpool. Quite a crowd of hangers-on gathered as the big passenger engine of the Michigan Central coupled on to the train, but no demonstration was attempted. On top of each car a militiaman stood with loaded rifle ready to fire at the first sign of violence. The Chicago Hussars, in fatigue uniforms and mounted on coal black horses, cleared the tracks of small crowds that loitered about and then escorted the train to the Michigan Central main line.

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 10.—The employees of the Pittsburg & Western railroad received an order today from president Debs to go out on strike at noon today but after holding a meeting this afternoon it was decided not to comply with the order and the employees have telegraphed president Debs to that effect.

CINCINNATI, O., July 10.—The Big Four firemen on the Cincinnati end struck today.

SPRING VALLEY, Ill., July 10.—A company of regulars fired into a mob of strikers here today, killing two and wounding others. The mob was composed of Poles and Hungarians, who ran upon the firing of the first gun.

The Weather Report.

For North Carolina: Fair, warmer Thursday in northwest portion. Local forecast: Thursday, fair, slightly warmer. Much warmer within the next few days. Local data for 24 hours ending 8 a. m. today: Maximum temperature 80; minimum temperature 58; rainfall trace.

The storm yesterday central over Florida has disappeared, producing very little rain in North Carolina. A high area with clear cool weather occupies the entire south of the lake region from the Atlantic coast to Texas. The storm in the northwest is increasing in intensity and causing much warmer weather in the upper Mississippi valley. The storm will probably bring another warm wave over the country within the next few days.

Oberlin Graded School.

The citizens of Oberlin called a mass meeting yesterday evening and endorsed the appointment of Prof. J. H. Branch, of Oberlin graded school. The following named persons were elected a committee, whose duty it shall be to lay all grievances concerning school matters before the committee of Raleigh township graded schools: J. B. Hutchings, chairman; W. F. Williams, secretary; W. M. Graves, John Sears, M. N. Dunston.
