THE PRELIMINARY TRIAL

OF GEORGE MILLS FOR THE MURDER OF HIS NEICE.

He is Bound Over to Court—A Pitiful Scene in the Court Room.

George Mills, charged with the murder of his niece, Miss Iana Wimberly, near Apex, was given a preliminary hearing before justice Roberts this morning at 11 o'clock and bound over to court without the privilege of bail.

Mr. and Mrs. Wimberly, the parents of the murdered girl, and her two brothers and her sister were all present in the court room.

When the case was called and Mills was brought into court, Mrs. Wimberly, as soon as she caught sight of him, became wildly hysterical and it was found necessary to remove her from the room. As she was carried out her frantic cries and lamentations filled the court room.

Herbert Norris, Esq., of Apex, and Col. T. M. Argo represented Mills and put in the plea "not guilty" for him.

The first witness was Jack Wimberly, the father of the victim. His testimony embraced the departure of his daughter from home with George Mills, on the afternoon of the day the murder took place and Mills' arrival at his home between 1 and 2 o'clock in the morning bringing the news of the assault on Miss Wimberly. He told the account which George Mills gave of the murder, just as it has previously been stated in the Visitor, and of the organization of a party to go in search of her body. He also testified that Mills' tracks were in the old house in which the murder was committed, stating that he knew they were his tracks by the peculiar manner in which the tacks in the heel of the shoe were arranged. This statement was strengthened by Wimberly testifying that he himself had put in the tacks.

On cross examination Col. Argo took the witness in hand and by close questioning made him admit that his daughter, at the time of the assault upon her, was in an extremely delicate condition, and that he had seen a doctor about the case, but on his refusal to act had stated that he would rather follow his daughter to her grave than have her bring disgrace upon his family.

On cross examination Wimberly said that the reason he waited so long before going to his daughter's assistance was because he was afraid to go before getting together a party.

The second witness was J. E. Council, who lives near Apex and went with the party to the old Vaughn house, where Miss Wimberly was found.

The most important part of his testimony was an account of a conversation with Mills about the murder in which Mills tried to explain the blood on his clothes and said that he feared that people would accuse him of the murder.

On cross examination by Col. Argo the witness testified that in one part of the old house there was what seemed to be a pillow or head rest made of grass and vines which had evidently been used as a sleeping place by some one. This gives some color to the story of Mills. This witness also identified the dogwood cadgel which is supposed to have been the weapon with which Miss Wimberly was killed.

Several more witnesses were examined, and called by the state, the most important of whom was Dr. Cotten, of Morrisville, who attended the murdered girl and made the post mortem examination. His testimony was of the greatest importance.

The trousers which Mills had on the day of the murder were exhibited in court and identified by witnesses.

At the close of the testimony justice Roberts bound Mills over to the September term of court, without the privilege of bail. The witnesses were all bound over in the sum of $50, each. The trial on the whole, was highly sensational in its character and it is said that other parties are soon to be arrested, charged with complicity in the crime.

A Painful Accident.

Yesterday while Mr. W. H. Lancaster was assisting in moving a safe one of his fingers was caught and badly injured. The injured member was so badly crushed that amputation was necessary.

Died.

Mrs. M. Grausman, the widow of the late M. Grausman, of this city, who had been critically ill for several days, died this morning at 12:20 at the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. M. Rosenthal, on Fayetteville street.

The funeral will be held tomorrow afternoon at 5:30 o'clock from the residence of Mr. M. Rosenthal.

Leaves $10,000 to the University

Mrs. Mary Mason, widow of the late Rev. J. B. Mason, bequeathed the university $10,000. She left it in the memory of her two daughters, Varina and Martha, who died a few years ago in the bloom of womanhood. Mrs. Mason was the last of the family. She and her husband were devoted friends of the university and all higher education. He was a Baptist minister.

Didn't Go.

The grocers' union of Charlotte, which contemplated an excursion to New York, accompanied by a number of other wholesale grocers from other states, have abandoned the plan, because they were not successful in obtaining satisfactory railroad rates. The Southern railway and Seaboard Air Line officials, at a meeting held at Richmond, declined to accede to the request of the union, and the members have decided to go to Wilmington, N. C., instead of New York.

The Weather Report.

Cape Fear and Yadkin Valley Receivership.

Much interest is centered in the motion now being heard at Greensboro before judge Simonton, circuit judge of the United States, for the removal of John Gill, of Baltimore, who was appointed receiver of the C. F. & Y. V. in February last. Unfitness, incompetency and extravagance of management are alleged and especially that while president of the trustees of the second mortgage of the company, and therefore owing a duty to the holders of the second mortgage bonds, he accepted the receivership at the instance and in the interest of the first mortgage bondholders and is seeking to promote their interest to the detriment of the second mortgage bondholders.

The hearing was begun yesterday and was continued today. At the conclusion of argument judge Simonton reserved his decision for a few days.

J. K. Cowen and E. J. D. Cross, of Baltimore, and judge Hudson, of Bennettsville, represented Gen. Gill; Herbert B. Turner the Farmers' loan and trust company of New York.

On the other side were Chas. Price and Theo. F. Klutz, of Salisbury, representing John W. Fries, trustee of the North State improvement company; Fab. H. Busbee, of Raleigh, representing the People's national bank of Lynchburg; Maj. Roundtree, of Wilmington, representing Murchison & Co., of New York; Buxton & Watson, Winston, the United Brethren of Salem, and Col. Williams, Richmond; for the bank of Richmond.

The game of ball yesterday at Littleton between the Orioles, of this city, and Wake Forest was won by the later. It was a very fine game with the exception of two innings, when there were several errors on both sides. The score was 5 to 7.

Wait until August 16th, when the Masons of Raleigh and their friends will go on a pleasure trip to Wilmington, Wrightsville and Southport. They have made every arrangement to give their friends a most delightful and pleasant time. Go with them. They will not disappoint you.

Be sure to attend the entertainment at the residence of Mr. D. J. Mood, 321 West Jones street. Refreshments served from 6 to 11 p. m. All the flowers will be present and decide as to who shall be their queen. The quarrel ends in a peaceable manner, as all agree that one of the number may truly be crowned "Queen of the Flowers." Come see which one it will be. Everybody invited. Exercises begin promptly at 8.15.

Yesterday at Littleton. He stood beneath the bending shade Of maple boughs so green. And talked with one he loved the best And squeezed her hand unseen; What a thrilling, queer sensation as Her lips he'd slyly smack, As he felt a caterpillar Crawling down his back.

The Reason Why Cooke Should Not be Nominated.
Correspondence: In our excellent morning journal the above title heads an article that is particularly evasive, but has much relish just the same, although he who "writ it" is only Bear Creek.

Chatham the county of populismistical theories (D. V.) has a perfect right to advocate Cooke for somebody to beat as she (the county) has a right to take all she can get in shape of office and make no returns; but as people who do sometimes sulk prefer to take ourn straight. Play pig and pup is played out. We hardly want a man for congress who has stood like a stonewall these many years with incidental integrity of the sterling kind attached. Seeking an office, even though he be the Dennis Kearney of the legal profession, the third portion may well feel pleased at the prospect of a composite fan tan candidate for congress, but we want something straight on some subject and so say all the settlement of Beaver Dam.

Mad Switchmen.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 18.—The switchmen of Memphis, members of the American railway union, who went out on the strike, today adopted resolutions condemning the local officers of the American railway union for not trying to get their old places back for them. They declare that off so far as the switchmen are concerned and the strikers will try for any position they can get.

Strikers Sentenced to Eight Months' Imprisonment.

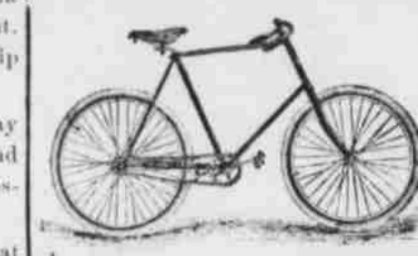

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 18.—John Howarts and Martin Dolly, on trial for contempt before judge Ross for violating an injunction on the Atlantic & Pacific railroad, were sentenced this morning to eight months each in the county jail. Judge Ross read a very lengthy opinion in support of his action. These are the first strikers to be sentenced by judge Ross.
