MADE ABOUT TODAY'S HAPPENINGS.

Interesting Items Gathered in and Around the City.

Deputy sheriff Hughes, of Columbus county, brought four convicts to the penitentiary yesterday afternoon.

Justice Barbee today joined in the bonds of matrimony Charles Small, the Yarboro house porter, and Nellie Hunter.

The rifle range in the armory of the Governor's Guard is of 50 yards. Reduced charges of powder, only ten grains, are used, and small round bullets. The practice is quite good.

The Epworth league will give another of its delightful entertainments tomorrow evening at 8:30 at the Sunday school rooms of Edenton st. Methodist church. The entertainment will consist of music, recitations, etc. The public is cordially invited.

Postmaster Busbee is making an earnest effort to obtain an increase of clerical force in the Raleigh office. It is said to be much harder to get an increase here than at either Charlotte or Wilmington. Yet the volume of mail handled here is far larger than at those places.

The amount of capital stock necessary to ensure the establishment of the roller flouring mill has nearly been obtained by subscription and a meeting of the subscribers will be held at the office of R. T. Gray, Esq., next Tuesday, for the purpose of organization.

Five cars filled with colored excursionists left here at 9 o'clock this morning for Newbern. They were to have left at 7, but the managers put in a couple of hours more time raising money with which to pay for the train. Further down the road a great many people joined this excursion.

In rear of the jail workmen are putting up a close and high fence within which will be a gallows on which Orange Page, the murderer, will be hanged. Page can from his cell, which is but a few yards distant, hear the noise of the hammers, but cannot see the preparations.

The railroad commission will this week assess the North Carolina railroad for taxation. It has been waiting for action by the federal court in the injunction matter. It appears to be the duty of the commission to make the assessment, no matter what the decision of the court may be.

Mr. McMackin, road supervisor, attended the good roads convention at Chapel Hill yesterday. He says seven counties were represented, from Greensboro to Goldsboro, and that there was much interest and enthusiasm. Day after tomorrow the delegates will come here and see the processes of road building. Later there is to be a road convention in this city.

There was a curious occurrence at Moncure a few days ago. The postmaster, a "regular" Democrat, was boycotted by a "reformer," who used to get on the trains and ask passengers to mail letters for him so they would not go through the Moncure office. The "reformer" got on once too often and when the train was moving quite rapidly he jumped. His fall was a very hard one and disabled him. The postmaster is a physician and was at once summoned to attend his enemy. A truce is now declared.

CONGRESSMAN BUNN

Will Not be a Candidate for Renomination.

The Visitor is able to announce on the best authority that Hon. B. H. Bunn will not be a candidate for renomination for congress. He is not in the race this time. It is probable that a letter from him will appear in a few days. His retirement makes the race one between Smith and Cooke, with the odds very largely in the latter's favor.

A MURDER IN JOHNSTON

By a Distiller and a Captain in the Salvation Army.

Sheriff Ellington, of Johnston county, made application for a reward for the capture of Herring Cheek, charged with murder. Last Saturday night Cheek waylaid N. T. Cole, a prominent citizen of Johnston county, at Four Oaks, and struck him on the head with a pole, after which he escaped and has not yet been heard of. Mr. Cole died Monday. Every effort was made by the sheriff to capture the murderer, but without success. In the application for reward the sheriff gives a description of the murderer, in which he says Cheek has been a whiskey distiller and a captain in the "Salvation Army." Governor Carr has offered a reward of $200.

Notes of the Wheels.

One dealer in this city has sold 50 bicycles this year. It would be interesting to know how many "bikes" there are in Raleigh. There ought to be several clubs. A dozen or more members of the one club have received uniforms. It is said ten riders will make the trip to Goldsboro. Mr. Neill Spence has ridden from Raleigh to Goldsboro and return in a day. Mr. Cecil Stone has received a 20-pound racing wheel on which his brother will ride at the races here in August and also at the races at the state fair.

A Murderer Surrenders Himself.

The murderer, John B. McCormac, who shot and instantly killed Mr. Thomas Smith, at the residence of his brother, Mr. Murdock Smith, near Rowland, Robeson county, on the night of July 5th, surrendered himself at Lumberton. No one saw the shooting, the Charlotte Observer says, and of course the plea will be self-defense.

AT THE BLIND INSTITUTION

Extensive Improvements are in Progress.

Extensive improvements are now being made of the building of the institution for the white blind. They embrace the renovation, painting, plastering, &c., of the first floor and the reconstruction and renovation of the second floor of both wings. The second story is to be entirely changed as to its plan of construction. New rooms and halls will be arranged and the whole plan entirely changed. The equipment of the building, plumbing, lighting, &c., will be thoroughly modern in every respect and will do a great deal towards increasing the comfort of the pupils. The plans for the improvements were prepared by Mr. Bauer, Raleigh's well known architect, and the North Carolina car company has the contract for the work. Considerable work is yet to be done, but it is the intention of the builders to have all finished by September 1, when the school's term begins.

A Promising Fire.

Box 221 rang out at 3:15 this afternoon, the cause being a fire in the roof the big old wooden building at the northeast corner of South Salisbury and West Hargett streets. This house was for years the residence of the late Mrs. Mary Smith Morehead. Later Wetmore occupied it as a shoe factory. Then it became the farmers' alliance headquarters. Not long ago Mrs. Ayer bought it, and the aldermen gave permission for its repair. This morning several colored men were in the building, cleaning out the rubbish. The fire broke out at the west gable. Much paper was stored in the old-fashioned garret, also some of the machinery Wetmore formerly used. It was a bad place for a fire and the firemen had lively work for half an hour. An unusually large crowd assembled to see the firemen whip out the flames. This was effectually done, with four streams. Mr. Hal. Ayer was in the house a few minutes before the fire broke out, directing the men who were doing the cleaning. He left the house only a moment before the alarm was turned in. It is thought the fire was caused by some one smoking. The damage is small.

A Complaint.

A resident of the southern part of the city today made a complaint about the bad sanitary condition of a pump at the corner of Fayetteville and McKee streets, just inside the city limits. He says the pump, to his knowledge, has not been cleaned in eight years. Lately the water has become unfit for use. He thinks that a great deal of the sickness so prevalent in that part of the city is due to the use of this water. Several hundred people got their water from it. Complaints have been made to the chief of police and to the board of health but no action has been taken.

Christian Education.

Dr. J. B. Shearer, president of Davidson college, will lecture at Metropolitan hall tomorrow evening at 8:15 o'clock, on "Christian Education." This is a free lecture under the auspices of the local branch of the Wake Forest college alumni. A large attendance of citizens, including the ladies, is respectfully requested.
