HINTS TO BUSINESS MEN!

Good advertising consists in the selection of a few strong, quick sell specialties, to stand as the representatives of your stock in price, pattern and quality. No tradesman need lack for a specialty. Let specialties sell staples always and try to take rank among your competitors as one who is the quickest to recognize a good thing and the first to sell it.

Invite patrons to come and see you. The great advertisers of the country never cease reminding the people of their names, location and nature of business. Advertising is an investment and newspaper advertising colnuns are a boon to man. They help him out of his troubles and into the smiles of prosperity. The Pennsylvania railroad advertises exclusively in the newspapers. There is not a great business that has been built in the past twenty years without the aid of newspapers. This age is too bustling and competition is too great for the merchant to allow himself any longer the luxury of waiting supinely behind his coun ter for trade. He must show in advance of the purchase just what he has to sell and how he intends to sell it, and a persistent publication of his wares is the means by which such showing can be made.

Frank Siddall, the Philadelphia seap man, says: "I have confined my advertising entirely to newspapers. The man who does not read a newspaper does not use soap."

The congressional Library now has 695,880 volumes and 223,000 pamphlets. It has grown from Thomas Jefferson's Monticello library of 7,000 books, pusehased after the Washington fire of 1814.

The civil service commission has recommended that C. H. J. Taylor, the colored recorder of deeds for the district of Columbia, be removed. It is proved that he ordered employes to pay campaign subscriptions.

The opinion expressed by Thomas Jefferson in his letter to the merchants of New Haven, that few office-holders die and none resign, cannot be said to apply to the fifty-third congress. Since the assembling of that body in August, 1893, there have been eleven deaths and thirteen resignations of congressmen.

A great tunnel, five miles long, that will drain the flooded mines of Ebervale and Harleigh, Pa., will be completed next month. It has required three years and a half to drill it. The flooding of these mines, it is estimated, has entailed a loss on that part of the Lehigh valley of at least $25,000,000 during the eight years since it occurred.

Grandmaster Sargent, of the brotherhood of locomotive firemen, thus points the moral of the recent American railway union strike in his biennial report: "The lesson of the strike is that the employe must respect public sentiment and the law. When you have a quarrel with one man you cannot make all others suffer." The trades unions, it is alleged, are now seriously considering the advisability of the future prohibition of strikes and boycotts as measures intended to advance the interests of labor.

Notwithstanding the admittedly wonderful accuracy and rapidity of fire of the dynamite guns at the Sandy Hook trial last week, there is a difference of opinion as to their true value as part of the defenses of our seaboard cities. While the navy claims the credit of making the first experiments with these guns, the army has perfected the invention until there is no longer doubt of their efficiency, and that the Sandy Hook tests have demonstrated that they will be most valuable adjuncts in the fortifications of a harbor. They fire a shell with 500 pounds of dynamite a distance of 3 1-2

A NEW COTTON COVERING.

Interest in the Substitution of Sugar Bagging for Jute.

The New York cotton exchange has officially decided that the use of sugar bag cloth in covering cotton is not contrary to its rules. The matter came up before the board of managers, through the action of the various jute manufacturing companies, which saw the threat of a damaging competition in any encroachment of other kinds of bagging, consequently they had induced the cotton manufacturers to unite in a protest against the use of sugar bag cloth, and address it to the

Mr. Richard Siedenberg, president protest had been received from a number of eastern cotton spinners protesting against the use of sugar bag cloth. But he knew nothing of the motives that prompted this move, and presumed they were entirely disinter-

"On the other band," he added, "th board received a number of communications from farmers and cotton growers asking whether it discriminated against the use of sugar bagging and intimating a preference for the latter. It was in answer to these applications pro and con that we passed our resolution of the 20th and issued it in the form of a letter to all our patrons. We desire to make no diserimination whatever, but to leave them to their own election in the matter. Only when there is a serious defeet in any particular sort of bagging would the board care to interfere. For example, last May it was constrained to give notice that pine straw bagging was objectionable, inasmuch as it stained and, therefore, deteriorated the cotton covered by it in the event of its becoming damp or wet. This was in answer to numerous bitter protests that came to us, especially from European customers, which made immediate action imperative."

"How does the farmers' alliance stand in this matter?" was asked.

"We have no official notice as to how they stand as a body. The only communication of this sort was received from the secretary of the farmers' alliance in Charleston, S. C., in which he put the same question that had been put by other correspondents from the agricultural districts and intimated the same preference for sugar bagging. He thought that it be forced to use jute."

"To what do you attribute this preference for sugar bagging?"

"Well, it is cheaper, in the first place; and in the second place, being more tightly woven, it is said to protect the cot'on better than the jute."

Mr. Walter T. Miller, secretary of the exchange, is in substantial accord with the president. "Sugar bagging," he explained, "can be obtained by the cotton dealers either at first or second hands. In either event it is cheaper. as it saves about 18 cents a bale. You see that is a consideration. Bagging that has been actually used to ship sugar in is passed through a steam process of cleaning and may readily be utilized for covering bales of cotton "

"Have any new crop bales been covered with the sugar bagging!" "No, it is too early for that. But now that the board has declared itself there is no doubt that the sugar bagging will come into extensive use, Naturally, all purchases of cotton made through the New York exchange are subject to the rules of the exchange and no customer can object to the bagging which the exchange ap-

A pioneer trader in cotton who has been in the business for 25 years assured a reporter of the Journal of Commerce that the more tightly woven material was preferred by the planters of the south, not only because it protected the cotton from the dirt and ashes but also to a moderate degree from the cinders which occasionall fall upon bales of cotton in cars or when piled up at the station and set fire to them. And in any case, he added, they did not care to be dictated to by any combination of manufacturers, but wanted full liberty to use any material they preferred.

The first steps have been taken towards forming a union of all the states in Central America, with the exception of Costa Rica, which refuses to join the movement. The new republic will have a population of about 3,500,000, and an area nearly equal to that of Califronia. Such a union is much to be desired, but, unfortunately, little confidence can be felt in its stability. The only encouraging fact is that the Central Americans have learned by experience that the multiplication of very small republies is costly and unsatisfactory.

According to the official report for the year ended June 30, 1894, the exports from southern ports amounted to $296, 156,694, as against $271,715,of the cotton exchange, said letters of 024 for the previous year. This inerease of over $24,000,000 is directly attributable to the growth of industries and the general extension of business in the south, and this section has reason to be much pleased with such an admirable and significant showing.
