A BURGLAR IN PETTICOATS.

18-Year Old Kate Reardon Confesses a Robbery.

By her own confession 18-year-old Kate Reardon, of Philadelphia, is a burglar and a successful one, too. She is serving a term in the house of correction for other misdeeds and she admitted yesterday that she was the burglar who broke into the Shipley residence. She broke open the shutters of a window with a poker, climbed in, bundled up a lot of clothing and some jewelry and managed to carry it out without arousing attention. The articles of jewelry were valued very highly. Suspicion of the burglary rested upon Benjamin Hall, brother-in-law of the girl, and he was arraigned for a hearing, the girl being called as a witness. She told such conflicting stories that the magistrate at length suspected her of at least complicity in the crime. He taxed her with it and she finally broke down and made a clean breast of the whole story. She unflinchingly told how she used the poker to force open the shutters and how she climbed in at the window. She will be prosecuted for burglary.

She Wasn't Badly Scared.

A little girl sat gazing at the new bonnet of one of her mother's visitors until the latter smilingly asked: "Do you like it, my dear?"

The child innocently replied: "Yes, I do. Mamma and Aunt Milly said it was a perfect fright, but it doesn't frighten me a bit."—Tit Bits.

"W-w-where are you g-g-going?" asked one.

"G-g-going t-t-to the stut-stut-stuttering institute," said the other.

"G-g-g-good pup-pup-pup-please," said the first. "They kick-kick-kick-cure me."
