The boiting democratic Louisiana sugar planters would seem to be the only unvictorious republicans.

In Tennessee thus far the democrat have a certainty of only two congressional districts-the first and fifthout of thirteen.

The heaviest moonshiner in the world is Mrs. Mullins, of Hancock county, Tennessee. She weighs 600 pounds, and though the revenue officers have a clear case against her they find it impossible to get her out of her cabin.

The Southern railway company will control the whole sto k of the reorganized Georgia central company, but the latter will remain a separatcorporation. Railway holds over $4. 000,000 Georgia Central stock and will parchase the minority interest.

The surname of the present emperor of Germany is Hohenzollern, which is traced back to the time when his ancestors kept a toll-gate and collected copper coin from the drivers of urdened donkeys. The divine right of the family appeared at a later period.

At Chee Foo hundreds of Chinese are arriving there from Manchuria. whence they are fleeing frightened at the approach of the Japanese. The Chinese troops and such vessels of the Chinese fleet as are cooped up at Port Arthur have been ordered to attack the Japanese whenever they meet them. It is reported that Port Arthur is still invested by the Japanese and that two of the forts there have been captured by them. The Chinese soldiers are deserting from New Chwang fearing an attack by the Japanese.

The 12,000 striking cloakmakers in New York are desperate and are making numerous assaults on non-union hands going to and from work. The police make arrests, but this seems to have no effect on the angry strikers who take advantage of every opportunity to attack. The latter live in constant terror. They dare not venture out without police or other escort. So serious has the situation become that several of the large manufactur ers are boarding their employees in hotels. They are escorted to and from work and to their meals by the police. This is very expensive, but the manufacturers find it is the only way in which they can keep their hands at work. In some of the factories meals are furnished to the hands from restaurants, and the working cloakmakers are living better than they ever lived before. Police and deputy sheriffs guard every factory entrance, and no one is allowed to pass into any of the workshops without stating his or her business. The most determined and aggressive of the the strikers are girl cloakmakers and

In the Swiss colony near St. Floren Ala., is a beautiful young girl whesled around in a perambulator, the lover portion of which is covered. She has never been seen outside of this buggy except by her own parents, although our carriers we would be glad if any the sixteen years of her life. She is unusually bright and intelligent, and from her carriage thoroughly enjoys the society of young people of her age.

> The reason that the girl is doomed to spend her days in the confines of mermaid. Before her birth her mother was badly frightened by a shark while crossing the Atlanti ocean and the lower part of the child's body is that of a fish. Her father is a highly successful grape grower, and has become well off, but no surgical treatment has yet been found that can devise a means for correcting the deformity of his daughter. She has none of the characteristics of a fish, and has no more fondness for water than is usually possessed by girls of

Mr. and Mrs. Krantz retired at 10 o'clock, and left their little girl to sleep as usual near their bed. Before doing so, they drove Buster, as they supposed, out of the room. Yesterday morning Mrs. Kraniz awoke from a dream, in which she saw her child being torn her with hands that were stained with blood. With a cry she leaped to the side of her darling, but there lay little Sadie, sleeping peacefully, as she believed.

To her great surprise, the mother, who had felt a thrill of unspeakable happiness when she realized that she had only dreamed after all, saw Buster snuggled closely upon her baby's throat, with its head resting on her chin. She gently lifted the kitten away from the baby, and then kissed the child. At that the light, through dim, enabled her to see that Sadie's face was perfectly black. With a scream sile summoned her husband. Five minutes later, when the doctor arrived, he pronounced the child dead, although its body was still warm. the cat's weight on the baby's ne k had choked her to death.
