DOTS AND DASHES

MADE ABOUT TODAY'S HAPPENINGS.

Items Gathered in and Around the City.

The cold snap has called in most of the chrysanthemums.

There was an exceedingly heavy frost this morning and considerable ice.

Robins are unusually numerous now. It is by no means usual to see them here at this season.

It is said that next Sunday there will be some changes in the schedule of the Southern railway.

South of this city, near Tucker's mill, are some of the whitest cotton fields ever seen in this section.

The Baptists will hold their first meeting this evening in the neat mission they have recently erected at the Caraleigh mills.

Lovers of music will be glad to learn that celebrated Swedish quartette will appear at the academy of music December 4th.

An important meeting of the Isabella circle of King's Daughters will be held at Mrs. C. S. Allen's tomorrow at 4 o'clock. Members are requested to be present.

Tomorrow morning the Carolina cotillion club will give a german at the Yarbore in compliment to Miss Lida Carr of Durham and several young ladies who are visiting her.

Rolesville, a strong populist precinct, was treated to a big election celebration on Friday evening. Anvils were used instead of cannon and awoke the echoes throughout ten miles of country. The rural celebrators did not hear the result until Friday afternoon.

Saturday evening at Salisbury some damage was done to the residence of Mrs. Manly, widow of the late Maj. Basil C. Manly of this city. The fire began under the dining room floor and its origin is unaccountable. Considerable damage was done to the furniture.

The Ladies Aid Concert.

Tomorrow evening at Peace institute a splendid programme will be presented by the faculty and students of Peace institute and other home talent. Secure tickets at King's drug store. The concert will begin at 8:30 o'clock. The programme is as follows:

Chorus—"The Belfry Tower," Hatton; Mr. G. W. Bryant, conductor.

Violin Solo—"Elegie," Ernest; Miss Frances Herbage.

Vocal Solo—"Soldier's Dream," Rodney, Mr. T. Vernon Darnall.

Piano Solo—"Rhapsodie, No. 12," Listz; Miss Bertha Knox.

Ladies Chorus—"Rest Thee on This Mossy Pillow," Smart; Mr. Bryant, conductor.

Piano Solo—"First Movement of sonata in C," Beethoven; Mr. T. Vernon Darnall.

Vocal Solo—"Speak," Ardit; Mrs. G. W. Bryant.

Recitation—"The Welsh Classics," Miss Frances Herbage.

Vocal Duett—"Echoes," Moir; Mr. Bryant and Mr. Darnall.

Railway News.

Maj. Wilson, chairman of the railway commission, has received a letter from traffic manager Culp, saying that the "100 pound rate" on freight had been rescinded and that the charge on a package from any point on the Southern railway will be only 25 cents. Heretofore all packages, no matter how small, have been charged as of 100 pounds weight. The commission has made earnest and now successful efforts to secure the change, shippers having made a great many complaints of the high rate. It being an inter-state matter, the commission could not reach it by their own rules. This will necessitate a change on the part of all the associated railways.

Mr. William Woolcott has returned from New York, and bought a fine stock of toys for the Christmas trade. He bought out the entire stock of a large firm and of course there will be rare bargains.

POLITICAL POINTS.

Some Chat About North Carolina's Senators.

There is yet a great deal of talk about politics. In fact it will be many a day before the great landslide of Tuesday last ceases to be mentioned. It is said by state chairman Pott that 30,000 democrats did not vote.

Here is what the Washington Evening Star, non-partisan, says of senatorial matters in North Carolina:

"There is a lot of gossip about the successors to senators Ransom and Jarvis. This result is the most astounding of all the changes wrought by the landslide. It is known that up to the very last moment the North Carolina democrats were confident of victory. Senator Ransom wired to a friend at Washington Monday that he was sure of re-election. The consensus of opinion is that the victorious republicans and populists, who effected a fusion and so carried the state, will divide the senatorial spoils between them, the populists taking the lion's share in the long term now held by Mr. Ransom. The likely candidate for this place is Marion Butler of Goldsboro. He is a populist, chairman of the state committee, edits a weekly newspaper and is heartily hated by the regular democrats of North Carolina. For the short term, to expire in 1897, now held on appointment by Jarvis, there are several candidates, all from the western part of North Carolina. The first of these is J. J. Mott. Next comes H. G. Ewart of Hendersonville, ex-member of congress. He is perhaps less of a republican than Mott, being an out-and-out fusion man, with populist leanings. Then comes J. C. Pritchard, a republican without any adulteration, a lawyer and a strong man in his part of the state. A. E. Holton, republican state chairman, and James E. Boyd are mentioned. The last of the list, and probably with the least chance for the seat, is Oliver H. Dogkery, who was sent to Brazil as minister by president Harrison. It is understood that the most likely ticket is Butler and Ewart. They will have absolutely no democratic inclinations and it will be a great surprise to the republicans now if that party were not joined almost formally by two far-heel senators."

Yesterday's Charlotte Observer contained the following news from its Greensboro correspondent: "Butler and Holton, the populist and republican chairmen, met here today. Butler walked in with the smile of a long term United States Senator. He was met by Holton and congressman Settle. All that can be learned is Butler demanded the lion's share, and contended that the Republicans must be content with the crumbs. He is willing that one shall drop into Dr. Mott's mouth in the shape of the short senatorial term. "The long term he will take himself. Populists must have the speakership of the house, railroad commissioner and chairmen of the important committees in both houses. If Butler's vote in the U. S. senate is necessary to organize it for the republicans he will go with them on condition that Otho Wilson gets Gen. Cox's place as secretary of the senate. "Republicans are crowding in to see what is to be done. Representative of Oliver Dogkery and Daniel Russell have been to Raleigh and here in their interest. They are combining against Mott, and it looks very much as though James E. Boyd might run away with the bone. A. E. Holton is now an open candidate and will have Settle's support. W. P. Bynum is said to have the senatorial bee."

Mr. W. F. Stroud, who is to be the next congressman from this district, says that several leading men are making a plan to form a new political party in this state. He mentioned names of some democrats.

Executive Department Notes.

Governor Carr today offered a reward of $100 for the apprehension of Quinnie Dunn, a colored man, who is wanted in Greene county on a charge of murder. The governor has honored a requisition from the governor of Tennessee for Lee Richards, wanted for murder in Sullivan county, Tenn, who is now in jail at Marion, N. C.

PERSONAL POINTS.

ABOUT PROMINENT NORTH CAROLINA PEOPLE.

Here And Elsewhere in the State.

Mr. H. N. Snow, of Durham, is in the city.

R. T. Gray, Esq., left today on a business trip to New York.

Mrs. Josephus Daniels returned to Washington, D. C., today.

Dr. J. B. Wharton, a distinguished Baptist divine of Norfolk, will lecture here about the first of December.

Mr. John S. Ernest, general manager of the large stock concern of Cuthbert & Co., of New York, is here. Deputy collector W. C. Troy reports to collector Simmons the seizure of J. M. Sloan's registered distillery at Jonesboro.

Mr. H. B. Wilbur, representative of Boyd's modern minstrels which makes its appearance at Metropolitan hall on Saturday evening, is here.

Mr. A. B. Andrews Jr., who has been travelling through the state registering the big "Southern" mortgage, of $120,000,000, returned today. He has yet a deal of work to do.

Rev. Mr. M. N. Adams of Reidsville arrived here today and will preach at the Baptist tabernacle this evening. Mr. Adams is an able preacher and all are cordially invited to attend the meeting this week.

Mr. Longee's Funeral.

The funeral of Mr. Louis O. Longee was held at the Baptist tabernacle yesterday afternoon. So great was the attendance that the Sunday school room was thrown open and the entire building was thronged. The sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. Simms, who paid an eloquent tribute to Mr. Longee's character and christian life. The funeral ceremonies were in charge of the Odd Fellows and Masons. The attendance of both these orders was large. The pall-bearers were deacons of the church. The burial was at Oakwood. A committee of Raleigh Typographical Union was in the procession, as were also the county officers. The funeral was notable for its size.

Athletic Notes.

Saturday there were several football games. At Trenton the university of Pennsylvania beat Princeton 12 to 0. At Greensboro the university of North Carolina defeated Richmond college 28 to 0. The university of Virginia beat Richmond college by the same score. This makes the thanksgiving day game between the university of N. C. and university of Va. at Richmond of special interest. The third game played Saturday was at Durham, where Trinity beat the A. and M. college 6 to 0. Trinity's team will play no more this season.

At Central M. E. Church.

Rev. Mr. Ramsey preached two stirring sermons at Central M. E. church yesterday. The morning sermon was on "Sanctification: What it is and what it is not." The sermon was a clear-cut, scriptural definition of that doctrine, and was helpful to all who heard it. Many prejudices formed on a wrong idea of the doctrine were removed. There was a decided increase in the interest of the meeting last evening. Go and hear Mr. Ramsey; you will not regret it.

A Crowd of Election Birds.

The election is over and Saturday and today the "returns" in the shape of exuberant offenders against the majesty of the law began to roll into the county "boarding house." Five were received there in two days. They are John Lee and Jim Royster, colored, who were arrested by constable Upchurch for forcible trespass; Osborn Price, for carrying concealed weapon; Mack Nowell, concealed weapons and a glorious drunk, and Charles Watkin, who was lodged in jail for false pretense.

This is for You.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

The Noss Jollity Company and the Minstrels.

This evening had excellent company. The "Noss Jollities" will appear at the academy of music.

Tonight their new comedy, "The Kodak," has scored a decided success, and as it is presented by a company of picked players of special talent a splendid entertainment is assured. It is a potpourri of musical comedy, introducing a number of new specialties, brightened up by witty dialogue. The company still includes the same clever "Noss Family" who have worked together for the past twelve seasons, and if "practice makes perfect" their pinnacle is reached. Their supporting company is one of model excellence.

Twenty-four years is a long time for a company to be on the road under the same management that created it. That is the record of Richards & Pringle's famous Georgia minstrels, who will appear at the academy Wednesday, O. E. Richards, the manager, has grown gray in the business, and today is comfortably fixed with this world's goods, but has no desire to quit the road, as he claims he would not know what to do with himself. Billy Kersands has been with him for nine years and has refused big offers from other managers, but knows where and when he is well off.

There is a colored man named George Jones, near Wake Forest, who is 23 years old and has six children. He has been married only three years, his wife each year having presented him with boy twins.
