DOTS AND DASHES

MADE ABOUT TODAY'S HAPPENINGS.

Items Gathered in and Around the City.

The Fayetteville fair began today. Talk about the great "landslide" is getting less and less.

A mad dog was shot yesterday on Hillsboro street near McDowell street. A Raleigh cotton exporter has shipped over 20,000 bales of cotton this season.

Birds are very plentiful and sportsmen are making uniformly good "bags."

And another delay in opening the market. Well, the people must learn patience.

The roads leading from the city are in better condition than was ever before the case.

The scarlet fever sign is up on a house at the corner of South West and West Hargett streets.

At the colored state fair tomorrow Messrs John C. Scarborough and E. P. Moses will make addresses on education.

The colored fair is said to be the best in the history of the association. The great state fair set a good example.

At 7 o'clock p. m. next Sunday Rev. J. L. Foster will preach a sermon before the junior order of United American Mechanics.

The state colored conference of the colored Christian church meets today and tomorrow at Cary. Many delegates passed through today en route.

There are now 90 veterans on the roll of the soldiers' home. Superintendent Stronach says applications for admission are becoming more numerous. Ten are now on file.

A runaway occurred today about 11:30 o'clock on North Wilmington street. A wagon was smashed and a colored boy in it was thrown out. The boy and horses were injured.

Politicians of all parties are now interested in the senatorial question. Mari n Butler, it is said, will undoubtedly be elected to the long term, but the short term senator is still an open question.

The concert of the ladies aid society at Peace institute this evening will be a particularly pleasant affair. Tickets are on sale at King & Co.'s and J. I. Johnson's drug stores, and can also be had at the door of the concert hall.

Two marriages of well known and greatly esteemed Raleigh people are to take place in December. Mr. R. B. Raney and Miss Olivia Cowper are to be married December 5, and Mr. Jno. Sprague and Miss Kate Hale December 11.

Orestes, the Durham bull which took the first premium at the world's fair, which was exhibited at the last state fair and took the first premium, and which was bought by and sent to Col. J. S. Carr, of Oconeechee farm, after having been exhibited at the Maxton fair, has died of splenic fever.

The gallows on which Orange Page was hung still stands gloomy and forbidding behind the jail. Inside, not twenty feet away, are two murderers, one convicted and the other yet to be tried, who some days may be called upon to give up their lives for the crimes with which they are charged.

The University glee club will this season make a southern tour in addition to their annual trip through the state. They will appear in Atlanta and other southern points. The club this year will be accompanied by a banjo and guitar club which will add greatly to the excellence of their performances.

The last foot-ball game of the season except one has been played in the state. On Thanksgiving day the university team plays Virginia at Richmond and the A. & M. college meets the Wilmington Y. M. C. A. team there. The "Tar Heels" will put up a strong losing game and the college boys will win. Next season the A. & M. college will rank next to the university.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.

The Market Committee Refuses to Accept the Work

The board of aldermen met at special call last evening in the mayor's office to receive the report of the market committee in regard to the improvements and additions to the market house.

The committee reported that it had refused to accept the work on account of defects in the cement floor. The trouble was that the top work did not amalgamate with the under work. After a good deal of discussion Mr. Bivens, the contractor, submitted a proposition to the board. The proposition, in substance, is that both Mr. Bivens and the market committee are to select an expert to whom shall be submitted the question as to how much additional work, if any, shall be done to the floor to make it conform to the contract plans and specifications; that their decision shall be binding on both Mr. Bivens and the committee, but that if they are unable to agree they shall call in another expert who shall act as referee and whose decision shall be binding. Mr. Bivens agreed to abide by the experts decision.

Mr. Charles Johnson moved to accept the proposition, which was done. The board then adjourned. The dispute should be quickly settled and the market house thrown open to the public. If additional work is to be done let it be done immediately. It will be remembered that the market house was to have been opened by fair week. It is now November 13. The people are impatient. Let something be done.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph L. Aldrich arrived today from Flint, Michigan, where they were married last week, and are at the Park hotel. Miss Sue Cunningham, of Cunningham, N. C., has been appointed an assistant lady manager to represent North Carolina at the cotton states and international exposition to be held at Atlanta next autumn.

THE COLORED FAIR

Opened Today Under Very Auspicious Circumstances.

Today was the opening one of the fair. They are determined to keep the pace set by the energetic management of the last "great fair." The fair is a success and it is well worth any one's time and money to attend it. The management is to be congratulated.

The procession formed at 10 o'clock this morning, headed by the marshals and Haywood's band. At the capitol it was joined by Gov. Carr and other prominent men. At the grounds, after a prayer by Rev. J. J. Worlds, Gov. Carr formally opened the fair by a well timed and excellent talk. He was followed by R. H. Battle, Esq., whose speech was a splendid effort. John Williamson, of Franklin, then addressed the crowd and made a good speech. The exhibits, although not yet complete, are already better than those seen at a former colored fair. The main building is comfortably filled.

Revival at the Central M. E. Church.

The services at this church last evening and this morning were very interesting. Mr. Ramsey is a striking preacher and holds the rapt attention of his audience while he probes the audience with gospel truths. He has the Bible at tongue's end and quotes with surprising accuracy from memory. He also has a ready fund of illustrations and incidents which he uses with telling effect. Penitents are seeking sanctification, restoration and pardon. There is no abatement of interest. Services 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.

A Pretty Morning Marriage.

This morning at the home of the bride's father, Capt. J. M. Fleming, Mr. G. S. McRae, of Maxton, and Miss Maud Fleming were joined in the bonds of matrimony. Rev. Dr. Eugene Daniel performed the ceremony. Mr. J. W. McRae, brother of the groom, was best man. The bridesmaids were Miss Nannie Fleming, Miss McKoy and Miss Nell Fleming. There were also present Messrs. G. B. Patterson and A. McNair, of Maxton. The bride and groom left on the 1 o'clock train for an extended northern bridal tour. Miss Fleming is a popular Raleigh young lady and Mr. McRae is a rising young man in his native town. Their many friends wish them a happy journey through life.

Trinity's football team has elected Joseph Maytabby, a full-blooded Cherokee Indian, its captain for 1895.

PERSONAL POINTS.

ABOUT PROMINENT NORTH CAROLINA PEOPLE.

Here And Elsewhere in the State.

Mr. R. R. Gatling, of the university, is here.

Dr. W. J. Royster left this morning for Wake Forest.

Mr. George Little arrived today from Washington, D. C.

Marshall H. Pinix, Esq., of Lexington is at the Yarboro.

Mrs. G. D. Rand and son, Mr. Ed Rand, of Richmond, Va., are here on a visit.

Rev. John C. Kilgo preached before the state university Y. M. C. A. at Chapel Hill Sunday.

Major S. F. Telfair and wife returned today after an exceedingly happy bridal tour.

Col. John A. McCaul veteran, manager of operative companies, died at Greensboro yesterday.

Mr. Thomas K. Bruner has a letter stating that his brother, Mr. Charles Bruner, is very sick at China Grove.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph L. Aldrich arrived today from Flint, Michigan, where they were married last week, and are at the Park hotel.

Miss Sue Cunningham, of Cunningham, N. C., has been appointed an assistant lady manager to represent North Carolina at the cotton states and international exposition to be held at Atlanta next autumn.

Quite a party came down from Durham today to attend the dance to be given at the Yarboro in honor of Miss Lida Carr and several young ladies who are visiting her. Among the party are Col. J. S. Carr, Miss Lida Carr, Miss Sneeringer, Miss Doyle, Miss Alice Grace Doyle and Mr. W. Willard. Several university students also arrived but their names, for obvious reasons, are withheld.

OBSERVATIONS.

Cotton and tobacco receipts have fallen off the last few days. Cold weather and election are responsible for it.

There are signs of the approaching festival of thanksgiving, the chief being the turkeys, which are becoming quite numerous.

Mr. George Z. French, of New Hanover and Mr. Virgil S. Lusk, of Asheville, are the most prominent republican candidates for the speakership of the next house.

At Philadelphia last evening Miss Connie Jones, of Charlotte, well known in society circles, made her debut with the Louise Beaudet opera bonnie company. She has a delicious voice.

Many workmen are employed in putting up immense poles on Fayetteville street, on which the Western Union wires will be carried into the new office in the Pullen building.

The steps leading to the state museum rooms have been nicely carpeted. The museum is still a great attraction to visitors, numbers calling every day to view the exhibits.

Claude M. Bernard, Esq., fusion candidate for solicitor in the first district, is said to be defeated by John E. Woodard, Esq., having been voted for under three different names.

The heating arrangements at the academy of music were very poor last evening. People sat during the performance with heavy wrapson. It is said the boiler was out of order. When the New York Celebrities played there was no heat at all.

Why do not the street cars run on a better schedule? There are cars in plenty and it seems that, apart from the convenience to the public, the company would only be consulting its own interests to have the cars run on as regular and quick time as possible.

The Rev. Dr. Eugene Daniel will at his regular lecture service tomorrow evening at 7:30 explain the doctrine held by his church on the subject of "Sanctification." This is done in no spirit of controversy, but as there is much interest felt here at this time on this subject he will give the teaching of his church as to it.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

The Famous Georgia Minstrels Will be Here Tomorrow.

The music with Richards and Pringle's famous Georgia minstrels is said to be very fine. Jas. G. Gilliam is the leader of the band, which plays a higher grade of music than traveling companies usually attempt. At 7:15 p. m. tomorrow before the performance, the band will give a complete concert which takes place in front of the academy of music. The "Crescent City Quartette," which made such a hit with the original Alabama company in New York, is also with the company which will appear at the academy Wednesday evening.

The Noss Jollity company at the academy of music last evening presented in a delightful way the new play, "The Kodak." The audience was small but kindly appreciative. One of the greatest fun-makers ever seen here is Mr. Harry B. Roche. He literally bubbles over with fun and kept the audience in a constant state of mirth. The music was sparkling and there were many novel effects.

Many Poisoned at Wake Forest.

Miss Eva Belle Simmons of Eufaula, Alabama, arrived at Wake Forest today. She was called there by the critical sickness of her sister, Miss Willie Simmons. The latter is one of 45 persons who were poisoned a week ago at Wake Forest by ice cream which they ate at the golden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Brewer. There were "poisoned" in the cream, a letter from Wake Forest says. Among the sick were five of the professors. Most of the sick are now well.

The remains of Mrs. Drake, wife of Mr. J. F. Drake of the Southern railway, who died at Littleton yesterday, arrived here this afternoon for burial.

Fresh oysters every day at Dughis. Refers to the Southern express company.
