MADE ABOUT TODAY'S HAPPENINGS.

Items Gathered in and Around the City.

The state board of education was in session yesterday.

The cotton oil mills are keeping up with the heavy run of seed.

The Swedish quartette concert company will be here December 4.

At Metropolitan hall this evening, "Boyd's Modern Minstrels."

Complaints about the delay of the opening of the market increase day by day.

Quite a number of visitors to the colored fair took their departure today.

Last night an old fashioned circus, traveling along the country roads, passed here.

Already there is talk about the next city election. It is intimated that it will be a lively one.

Messrs. W. H. King & Co. are preparing space which will contain a handsome new wall soda fountain.

The Visitor today has fifteen columns of live advertisements. The people know a good thing when they see it.

The rapid manner in which the police sized up the gang of thieves who operated so largely Thursday night speaks volumes for the efficiency of Raleigh's force.

It is a pleasure to see the way in which the News and Observer is improving in general excellence. Its local department, in charge of Mr. Christian, was this morning very bright.

An insane colored woman, well dressed, was lodged in the station house today. Last night she became violently and suddenly insane at her home in the southern part of the city. She had been married only a month.

The new legislature is almost an entirely unknown quantity. Next to the senatorial question the question as to what will be done in regard to state aid to the university is probably attracting most attention.

Republican state chairman Holton claims that there are 35 fusion members of the senate and 70 in the house. He now puts the majority on the state ticket at 30,000, chairman Butler's figures.

Mr. James I. Johnson will speak to men in the Y. M. C. A. parlor tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock. The Raleigh quartette will sing some gospel songs. All men of every age, whether a member of the church or not, are cordially invited.

There was unusual interest in the revival services at Central M. E. church last evening. Tomorrow Rev. Mr. Ramsey will preach two sermons on "Sanctification," with special reference to instructing all persons interested on the subject.

Governor Carr offers $100 reward for the arrest of Charles Walton, colored, who on the evening of Nov. 3 murdered James Davis, colored, in Carroll & Harris' saloon. The statement has been made to the governor that Walton has fled the state.

The three men who are now under arrest on suspicion of having committed the robberies in east Raleigh night before last will not be tried until Monday. They pawned several articles and this fact led to their arrest. It has not yet been definitely shown whether or not they were stolen. Hence the delay.

The Langdon-Henszey coal mining company was incorporated in Chatham county yesterday, with $1,000,000 capital stock. It will operate coal, iron and slate mines, etc., in Moore, Randolph and Chatham. The company is composed of S. P. Langdon, S. A. Henszey and K. H. Waite, all Pennsylvanians.

On Tuesday, Nov. 27, a chapter of orphans from the Oxford asylum will appear at Metropolitan hall under the management of the Macons in this city. Miss Finlator will be in charge and there will be two boys and ten girls in the party. There will be no charge for admission to the hall and it is hoped that a large audience will greet the orphans.

Florida oranges 15, 20 and 25 cents per dozen at Dugh's.

Still nothing has been done about the market house squabble.

Look for the large new advertisement of J. Hal Boblitt in today's paper.

The date of the marriage of Mr. Miles Goodwin of Durham to Miss Leta McAllister of this city is the 28th instant.

The next term of Wake's criminal court will be one of the most sensational of any term ever held in the county.

Many 'possums are daily seen for sale on the streets. "Possum, 'taters, &c.," is by no means a dish to be despised.

The Philadelphia Record states that Raleigh is to have a new cotton mill next year and that two of the present mills are to be enlarged.

The college boy thinks, eats and sleeps football these days. Thanksgiving day, the football carnival, is rapidly approaching.

The Charlotte News learns that the next legislature will give North Carolina the South Carolina dispensary law. It gets this news from Raleigh.

The King's Daughters work is a great and good effort. The recent meeting of the city circles was a most interesting and encouraging occasion.

The republicans will contest the election of congressmen in the second and third districts and the fusionists will contest in the sixth. Notices are served.

Wake Forest college has two good men for her spring ball team in the persons of pitcher Hodges, of Virginia league, and first base-man Stafford, who played on the strong Petersburg team last season.

The game between the university and Washington and Lee football eleven, which was to have been played at Chapel Hill today, has been declared off.

Yesterday at Chapel Hill a match game of football was played between the freshmen and junior class teams. At the end of the second half the score read: Freshmen 4, juniors 4.

The three negroes who are charged with breaking into and robbing the several stores in east Raleigh were caught last evening. They are Cicero Burston of Norfolk, Jack Carlisle of Weldon, and Will. Garner of Roanoke, Va.

There was an absurd rumor this evening that the fast train on the S. A. L. had been held up by train robbers. It all grew out of a four hours delay of a train between Rutherfordton and Monroe, due to the breaking down of an engine.

Under the new schedule of the Southern railway which goes into effect tomorrow all the freight trains will be run by night. There will probably be no change in the schedule of the regular mail trains now running.

Over two weeks ago a university student was dismissed from college for hazing. Upon a pledge, however, of the entire sophomore and freshman classes to abstain from hazing during the remainder of their college course the young man was reinstated. This action will put a quietus on hazing there for at least two years.

Oregon Tenney's barn was burned last night at Chapel Hill with a lot of feed and a bale or so of cotton. A feature of the burning was the sight which was presented by a swell university student, attired for the dance in a dress suit, heroically dragging a one-eyed mule from the burning barn.

Mr. W. H. Wilson at 3 o'clock this afternoon went in the cellar of the store of the Brewster hardware company to draw some gasoline. His iron-heeled shoes struck a spark from the cement floor and this set fire to a can and a bottle of gasoline. He quickly threw both out and they struck a trash box at the curb. The box blazed away. The fire department was called on but was not needed.

New Electric Lights.

At a meeting today the Raleigh electric company decided to install at the earliest moment possible, perhaps by January 1, a complete incandescent lighting plant and to rent a store on Fayetteville street in which electrical apparatus and fixtures will be shown.

Lynhaven boy oysters, fried 25 cts. at Dugh's.

PERSONAL POINTS.

ABOUT PROMINENT NORTH CAROLINA PEOPLE.

Here And Elsewhere in the State.

Judge Fuller went to Oxford today.

Mr. O. H. Dockery, Jr., was here today.

Rev. Wm. Black of Monroe was in town today.

Mr. J. S. Pigott of Atlanta, Ga., is in the city.

Messrs. J. M. Cagle and G. M. Royal of this city will have a candy factory at Durham.

Mr. L. A. Coulter was in the city today on his way to Winston-Salem where he will deliver an address at the anniversary of the Y. M. C. A. at that place. He will also remain over next week and conduct the week of prayer services in that association.

In Compliment to Miss Carr.

Last evening the university german club gave an exceedingly pleasant german in the gymnasium hall at Chapel Hill complimentary to Miss Lida Carr, of Durham, and Misses Templer, Sueringer, Doyle and Alice Grace Doyle, who are visiting her. Fourteen couples participated in the beautiful german which was led by Mr. W. A. Graham, of Hillsboro. Among the young ladies dancing besides Miss Carr and friends were Misses Hoke, of Raleigh, Graham, of Hillsboro, Myers, of Washington, N. C., Jones, of Lenoir, Miss Cotton, of Falkland, Miss Henderson, of Salisbury, and Miss Lathrop, of Baltimore. The chaperones were Mrs. Ludlow Skinner, of Raleigh, and Mrs. Pierre Cox, of Tarboro.

About the Market House.

It is learned in reference to the dispute in regard to the floor of the market house that contractor Bivens has named Mr. Jeff. Ellington as his referee and the city has chosen Mr. W. J. Hicks. It is also said that the referees have chosen Mr. W. J. Weir. These are to meet next Monday, it is stated. When the people moved out of the market August 20 it was with the understanding that the improvements would be completed by October 20, at the furthest. The aldermen some time ago ordered that the old renters should have the privilege of taking stalls until January 1 next. Whenever the market is thrown open the aldermen ought to extend the time until January 1, 1895.

A Very Crazy Woman.

A colored woman named Killian last night became suddenly insane. Early this morning she went to the house of a prominent lawyer on Fayetteville street and demanded possession of the house, saying that it was her property. The gentleman saw that she was insane and succeeded in getting her to leave. Later in the morning she returned and said that she had given fair notice and must have immediate possession of the house. Upon admission being refused she became violently insane, bursting in the front door and trying to demolish everything she could lay her hands on. She was so violent that the lawyer was compelled to strike her to protect himself. She was arrested but was later released.

Boyd's Modern Minstrels.

Manager James A. Renn of Oxford, telegraphs as follows in regard to Boyd's modern minstrels, who appear here this evening: "Boyd's minstrels gave entire satisfaction. Best minstrels we ever had."

Beginning today I will serve full orders of large Norfolk oysters at the following prices: Raw 25c, stew 25c, fry 25c. Also by measure as cheap as others for same stock. Send your order to A. E. Jordan, proprietor Jordan's dining hall.

There was an elegant wedding reception at Laurel, Franklin county, Wednesday evening. Of course Dugh's furnished the refreshments and he showed fine taste in the matter. There were the newest and handsomest designs in fancy creams, such as clasp hands over hearts, and a pretty fancy were the rose ices, the bride's name being Rose.

Dugh's gets fresh oysters daily. If anyone doubts the above he refers to the southern express company. What is an oyster unless it is fresh? It isn't anything.

THE PENITENTIARY

Suffers a Heavy Loss by the Drop in Cotton.

The big decline in the price of cotton is a hard blow at the penitentiary, which now depends upon its farms for support of its convicts and the play of employes, guards, etc. Superintendent Leazar says this decline means a loss of $30,000; a hard blow to face. The crops on the big farms on the Roanoke are as good as he could have hoped for. There are 2,500 acres in cotton, and the crop will be at least 1,800 bales, perhaps 2,000. Of this 1,300 bales are already picked. Mr. Leazar says the corn crop will be 100,000 bushels. This crop will not be put on the market until spring. Speaking of the cotton crop Mr. Leazar used these words: "The difference in the value of the present crop at present prices as compared with last year's prices is $30,000 short." There are now 1,000 convicts on these farms. Nine hundred acres in wheat is being sown. There are 350 acres in oats and Mr. Leazar declares he never saw a finer crop. So luxuriant is the growth that the 125 head of cattle and 100 sheep have been turned upon it. There are on the farms 235 mules and 25 horses. Mr. Leazar has certainly applied himself most earnestly to his work as superintendent. He has had a great problem to solve and numberless difficulties to face. He has been forced to draw the $12,500 annual appropriation for 1893-4. He will pay all debts with the crops, and so come out even, at least.

Attention, Mechanics.

Rev. J. L. Foster will preach a sermon to the junior order U. A. M. at the Christian church tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. The members of the order are requested to meet at their hall, in the academy of music building, at 7 o'clock for the purpose of attending in a body.
