MADE ABOUT TODAY'S HAPPEN-INGS.

Items Gathered in and Around the City.

The state geological board met this afternoon in the governor's office. There are now three large church conferences in progress in the state. The remaining delegates to the colored Zion conference left this morning and this afternoon.

The bond question continues to attract public interest. All sorts of conjecture and prophecy is rife.

A large, beautifully bronzed wild turkey hanging in front of a butcher shop attracted much attention today. The repairs on the car line have been completed and the cars are running smoothly and satisfactorily, both to manager Keeler and the public.

It is stated that the new morning daily that is contemplated will start up the first of rext week. The paper will be called the Daily Caucasion.

The weather has done the gentlemanly thing this winter. Now, it only takes 10-cent cotton to put the . hele community in smiling mood.

The criminal docket at this term of federal court is unusually heavy while the civil docket is light. Several important civil cases are soon to be tried however.

The old house, formeily occupied oy the Wetmore shoe factory, and now being remodelled by Mr. Hal Ayer, is nearly completed. It is a great improvement to the appearance of the street.

Last evening mandamus papers in the Bernard case were served to governor Carr to restrain the canvassing board from passing on the case. The papers are returnable before judge Bynum on the 14th of this month.

Two accidents occurred on the car lina yesterday, two wagons being completely smashed. It is a pleasure to state that the car officiais were not to blame as the drivers, in both instances were a good deal "under the infinence."

STRANGE BROOKLYN BRIDGE. The strangest thing about this soap ridge is that the people of Raleigh don't buy the soap any quicker. In all other towns this size a bridge of soap like this one would be sold out and gone in a week; some times in two days. This is pure white Castile

Soap and you get 10 Cakes for 25c. or 2 Cakes for 5c, the same identical soap you must pay two or three times as much for at drugstores. You certainly don't understand what this is, or else you don't use much soap. Raleigh awake from slumber and brush the mist from the eyes to become alive and abreast the times. The hogs were driven and a lot of stuff carried away triumphantly.

This morning three witnesses before the circuit court were put in jail for contempt of court for being too drunk to testify. They are Major Richards, J. D. Shaw and John Morris. Richards has been in jail himself for retailing but was acquitted yesterday. While in jail he informed on a man for the same crime with which he was charged and was attempting to testify against him today. All were retailing plause and encore after encore from the delighted audience. The solo work of Mr. Laurin was away above par and many persons expressed their belief that he is the best soloist who has ever visited Raleigh. Miss Jose Barton delivered several recitations, full of flashes of dramatic skill, and was compelled to respond to numerous encores. No mention would be complete without an especial note of the bass singing of Mr. McPherson, over whose delightful voice the musical "cranks" in the audience went wild.

On the whole the entertainment was one of the best that has ever been given here. Mr. Cooper, to whose efforts the Quartette's appearance was due, deserves the thanks and liberal patronage in future of Raleigh people generally.

It seems that in that county Seawell's tickets were made out in the name of Manager Meares has also made ard Herbert L., instead of Ferbert F. angements for Washington & Lee Seawell. The board was asked to make an amendment in regard to these returns.

Seawell was represented by Thomas H. Sutton, Esq., and Col. John Hins-dale, while McLean was unrepresented. Both of these gentlemen delivered excellent arguments.

The decision of the board was that ment, as its power was purely ministerial, not judicial. The vote on the question was 3 to 2.

Although the board decided against granting the amendment, the matter is still open. 'No canvass will be made until the mandamus proceedings in the Bernard case are heard and decided in court. In case the decision of the court is in favor of Bernard, which is extremely doubtful, the amendment will probably be granted.

IN SECRET SESSION.

The County Commissioners Considering Bonds in Secret Session

The board of county commissioners met this morning at 9 o'clock. All the morning they were engaged in examing the surieties represented in the bond of Mr.J.J.Rogers, register of deeds-elect.

During the morning several little clashes on law points occurred between ex-judge Spier Whitataker, counsel for Rogers, and Armistead Jones, Esq., county attorney. One little point was whether or not a Mr. Beavers, who has signed both Rogers' and Adams' bonds, should be allowed to remain as a bondsman. Mr. Jones claimed that the fact of his name being signed on Adams' bond should be considered a liability; judge whitaker took the ground that as Adams' bond had not yet been accepted his signature there was not a liability. It was a pretty point and was closely watched
