Correspondence: I was much mortified at the article in the last Visitor in regard to my neighbor, W. G. Forsythe; yet, I was satisfied that it was an error, and would be corrected when the facts became known—as the Visitor from its birth has been the very essence of "fair play" to every one, however humble. I have known W. G. Forsythe from his boyhood up to date, and to my knowledge he has never run a barroom, and is a clever young man, struggling for a living for himself and his beautiful young wife. I am proud to help young men, who are as worthy and deserving as young Forsythe is.

W. WHITAKER.

A Mistake.

The Visitor yesterday, in the account of the trial in which Mr. "Jim" Forsythe, was charged with "intimidating a witness," unintentionally did that gentleman an injustice by stating that he kept a bar and had been indicted for selling to minors. Mr. Forsythe says that he has never sold a drop of whiskey to any one in his life. The Visitor is annoyed that the mistake should have been made and cheerfully makes this correction.

Mr. W. C. Stronach yesterday received presents for the soldiers' home. One from Mrs. A. C. Holmes, of Wilmington, consisted of a box of fish and oysters, clothing and tobacco. The other was a case wine from J. B. Brown and company, of Baltimore.

DOTS AND DASHES

The mercury went as low as 15 degrees this morning.

Nense river is frozen over, for the first time since January, 1893.

A woman, drunk on the streets, was tried this morning and fined three dollars.

Next Thursday evening a meeting in aid of the Nebraska sufferers will be held.

The snow is said to be heavier in the eastern part of the state than in the western part.

Pastor Carter, of the First Baptist church, gives a reception this evening at the parsonage.

The Baptists today began the work of securing $100,000 more for the endowment of Wake Forest college.

The new floor of the Yarboro lobby is much complimented. It is said to be the prettiest hotel floor in the state.

This evening the Raleigh musical association will have its second rehearsal, at the institution for the blind.

The snow is gradually melting and tomorrow the hapless out-of-door citizen may wade about in a sea of slush.

President Meserve of Shaw university delivered an address at the celebration of emancipation day at Winton today.

The holiday season is drawing to a close and in a few days the trains will be crowded with returning college boys and girls.

Business was slack at the different bars today, it is said. The "slump" was due to the many annually made and broken "new year's resolutions."

Wimberly and Perry, the two men in jail charged with murder, seem rather pleased than otherwise that they are soon to be tried. The suspense in their case must be terrible.

Secretary Cooper, of the Y. M. C. A., is on his rounds soliciting subscriptions for the association for this year. He says he is meeting with good success.

The funeral services of the late Mr. Josiah King were held from his late residence on East Davis street at 10 o'clock this morning and were largely attended. The interment was in Oakwood cemetery.

Register of deeds Rogers was engaged today sending out notices to the Wake county merchants. The time is now due for the merchants to list their purchases and pay taxes on them.

Mayor Badger disposed of two drunks this morning. One drunk and disorderly was fined $5 and costs; the other, simply "d. and d.," was let off with a twelve hours' sojourn in the station house.

Hereafter the supreme court will devote the first Monday in each term to the examination of applicants for license as attorneys. The next of these examinations will be held February 4.

The street railway company deserves special praise for the excellent schedule time it has kept during the cold snap and snow. Not a trip has been missed. The fine service ought to be warmly appreciated by the public.

Mr. William Woolcott, one of Raleigh's most energetic and successful merchants, has retired from active business life. He came here twenty-three years ago and began in a small way. He has worked up a great trade and a reputation of which any one might be proud. He has been ably aided by his son, Mr. Walter L. Woolcott, who succeeds him in the business. The firm will be William Woolcott & Son.

President John B. Brewer, of the Chowan Baptist female college, is here. Mr. Brewer succeeds Judge Walter A. Montgomery as a member of the committee of Baptists who are to memorialize the next legislature on the "State Aid" question.

MAY BE SERIOUS.

Mr. Thomas F. Brockwell Seriously Stabbed.

Mr. Thomas F. Brockwell, the well known lock and gunsmith, was badly and perhaps seriously stabbed yesterday by one, which one is not known, of two brothers named David and Walter Moore. The cutting occurred in Mr. Brockwell's shop, S Salisbury street, about half past five o'clock and grew out of a quarrel which Mr. Brockwell and the Moore brothers had after a dispute over some bullet moulds which they had ordered from him.

The only witness of the fight was Mr. Will Wynne, who happened to be in the shop at the time and witnessed the affair. He said that about 5:30 o'clock the two brothers entered the shop and inquired of Mr. Brockwell about the bullet moulds he had ordered for them. Mr. Brockwell then showed them the moulds but they were not satisfied, having ordered brass instead of iron ones. Mr. Brockwell then said that, if he could, he would get them the kind they wanted. "You've got it," said one of the Moores. Some words passed and Mr. Brockwell finally struck Walter Moore in the mouth, knocking him out on the door step. David Moore then sprang at Mr. Brockwell, pushed him over a box and fell on top of him. Walter Moore picked up the barrel of a flobert rifle and struck at Brockwell but Mr. Wynne caught him and threw him from the door. In the free fight that followed both the Moores, at different times, fought with Mr. Brockwell, but at no time did both of them fight him at once, Mr. Wynne preventing this. The Moore boys finally left the shop and Mr. Brockwell discovered, what he did not realize in the heat of the fight, that he was stabbed. A carriage was called and he was taken home. Dr. Fab. Haywood was summoned and dressed the wound.

The Moore boys were later arrested at their home and placed in the station house. An effort was made to have them released on bail but, as Dr. Haywood was not ready at that time to make a statement about Mr. Brockwell's condition, this could not be done.

Dr. Haywood was seen by a Visitor reporter this morning. He said that the wound was a flesh wound but quite a serious one, having entered the body to a considerable depth. The cut is just under the heart. Dr. Haywood also said that, unless inflammation or an internal hemorrhage occurred, which was possible, Mr. Brockwell would recover.

On the strength of Dr. Haywood's statement the Moore boys, having waived an examination, were this morning bound over to court by mayor Badger. Bail was fixed at $200 each.

A Visitor reporter saw Mr. Brockwell this afternoon. He said he was resting pretty easily, but that the wound must extend into the cavity as any movement caused great pain. It is his impression that the younger of the Moore boys inflicted the wound and he said he thought a dirk was used.

THE CAPITAL CLUB RECEPTION AND GERMAN.

The old year was danced away and the new year danced in at the Capital club last evening. The german was given complimentary to Capt. and Mrs. John W. Cross. Lovely women, as Raleigh women always are, and handsome men made merry until the new year was several hours old. A reception and supper were also given. The german was well led by Mr. Henry Miller with Miss Dorch, of Goldsboro.

Funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Martha Pearson, whose death was reported yesterday, took place today at 11:30 o'clock from the residence of Mr. W. A. Putney. Rev. R. H. Tuttle conducted the services.

It seems hardly possible, but nevertheless true, that on an average every fifty-fifth person you meet wears W. L. Douglas shoes. Did you ever realize what an immense undertaking it is to supply one article of wearing apparel to over one million people.

RECEIVED today 100 pounds nice, fresh butter cheap.

NEW JUSTICES.

Four Sworn in Today by Justice Avery.

Soon after 10 o'clock this morning about twenty persons assembled at the supreme court room. The attraction was the swearing-in of the four recently elected justices of the supreme court. This ceremony was performed by associate justice A. C. Avery. The oaths were administered to chief justice William T. Faircloth, Walter Clark, David M. Furches and Walter A. Montgomery, in the order named.

Justice Faircloth was in 1875 sworn in as a member of this court, and served two years. Justice Clark took his third oath, in 1880 having been appointed, and in 1890 elected to fill an unexpired term. Justice Furches was in 1875-77 a judge of the superior court. Justice Montgomery has not heretofore held a public office.

After the justices had taken the oaths justice Avery swore in judge Wm. S. O. B. Robinson of this, the fourth, district, and justice Montgomery administered the oaths to judge E. W. Timberlake of the third district.

Judge Leander L. Green, of the 11th district, called on Gov. Carr this morning and received a duplicate commission, having failed to receive the first one sent him. He also was sworn in.

Chief justice Faircloth and judge Robinson, both of whom live at Goldsboro, went home this afternoon, and associate justice Furches also left for his home at Statesville.

SOLICITORS APPOINTED.

They are for the Third and Fourth Districts.

Gov. Carr today appointed W. C. Douglas, of Carthage, solicitor of the 7th judicial district, Herbert F. Seawell, who was elected, having declined the commission because the latter runs for only two years, while he was elected for four. Mr. Douglas was appointed in order that he may attend Union county superior court. Mr. Seawell will bring suit against him so as to secure the four years term.

The governor also appointed John E. Woodard, of Wilson, solicitor of the 3rd district, as Claude M. Bernard has declined the commission. This case is like that in the 7th district, with this difference, that Mr. Woodard was Mr. Bernard's opponent and was on a technicality awarded the certificate of election but declined to accept it. Mr. Bernard's letter declining the commission was received today.
