THE MORNING HERALD FOR 1894.

The publishers take pleasure in announcing that "The Morning Herald" has recently been enlarged from four to eight pages, and that while the price remains at one cent per copy, or $3 per year to mail subscribers each edition contains as much news and more general reading matter than is printed by the Baltimore two-cent dailies.

The telegraphic service of "The Morning Herald" is unexcelled by any other Baltimore paper.

Its News Service of the counties is thorough and reliable.

Its Market Reports are full, complete and accurate.

Its illustrated woman's page is a feature that will not be found in any other Baltimore daily.

A verbatim report of the sermon by Rev. Dr. Talmage—the celebrated Brooklyn preacher—appears in Monday morning's edition.

"The Morning Herald" will continue to be an independent newspaper—fair and impartial in its statements and fearless in the expression of its opinions.

Better Times.

Country's lookin' all alive,
Better times for Ninety-five!
Don't care what the crookers say—
Country's happy on the way!
Sun's still shinin' round about,
When its night the stars come out;
An' when they ain't shinin' right,
'Long comes the electric light!
Keep on goin'—toil and strive;
Better times in Ninety-five!

Country's lookin' all serene,
Though the woods is stripped o' green
Some where underneath the snow
There's a daisy that'll grow!
If its cold it does us good;
Exercise in chippin' wood!
An' if wood comes pretty high,
Summer'll be here by an' by!
Keep on goin'—look alive!
Better times in Ninety-five!

A TOUCHING PLEA.

The Judge Refused to Send Him Back Because a Prisoner Had Been Lynched.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 2.—In court, before Judge Buchwalter, yesterday there was a remarkable scene, many of the spectators were moved to tears. In the space fronting the judge knelt a colored man, whose long arms were clasped above his head. His face, almost white with fear, worked convulsively as he cried:

"Oh, massa judge, doan send me to Kentucky. I ain't no coward, but dey wants to lynch me. Dat's the way dey do down dah. I see seed 'em do it. I see got letters from my friends telling me they would string me up. Doan send me back, jedge, I'll have no chance."

The prisoner was A. H. Hampton, alias Jackson, who is wanted in Marion county, Ky., for shooting a farmer, J. C. Durham, who, though alive, is bereft of his lower jaw because of the negro's bullet. Beside Hampton's kneeling figure stood, with folded arms, a typical mountaineer, W. W. Pears, who, armed with the proper requisition papers, had demanded the fugitive. Judge Buchwalter heard the negro's prayer and turned sharply to Pears.

"Have you heard threats against this man?" he said.

"Yes, sir," was the reply.

Then the judge, with forefinger pointed out at the deputy sheriff, said impressively: "Four months ago I was served with extradition papers from your state, and I sent to your authorities a fugitive from justice as this man seems to be. He was lynched after he left the train. The authorities broke their word with this court, the state of Kentucky broke faith with her sister state of Ohio in the protection of human life. I will not send this man away from these courts until I have a letter from your governor, and from the presiding judge of your district that Hampton's life will not be placed in jeopardy and that he will have a fair and impartial trial."

Applause arose from the spectators. Hampton was returned to jail. Pears said he would appeal to Kentucky's governor, and that official would no doubt communicate with governor McKinley. The latter has already been notified of Buchwalter's ruling. Hampton was addressing a colored congregation last night when arrested, and the policemen were compelled to draw their revolvers to keep back the negroes, who threatened to rescue their pastor.

A FAMILY'S FEARFUL FATE.

Killed His Wife and Child and Attempted to Burn Their Bodies.

BAY CITY, Mich., Jan. 2.—In a freak of insanity Daniel J. Trombley killed his wife and eight-months-old baby in bed, and then tried to burn the bodies by saturating the bed clothing with kerosene, and then setting it on fire.

The fire department was called and put out the flames. Mrs. Trombley was found lying on her bed, with her feet partially burned. Her throat was cut from ear to ear. The baby had evidently been smothered, as no marks of violence were found on the child's body.

Trombley had disappeared, but his body was found later in a well at Essexville, a suburb of Bay City. He had committed suicide by drowning himself.

Looted a Train.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Jan. 1.—South-bound express train No. 3 on the Queen and Crescent road, which left here for New Orleans today, was robbed at Livingston, Ala. The robbers were disguised as passengers and after the train was in motion entered the express car and with revolvers covered the express messenger and baggage master, who occupied the same car. The former was forced to open the safe and hand out all of the money packages, supposed to be nearly $20,000. The robbers backed out of the car, and pulling the bell cord, stepped off and took to the woods when the train slowed up.

Henry Wilson, the postmaster at Welshton, Florida, says he cured a case of diarrhoea of long standing in six hours, with one small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. What a pleasant surprise that must have been to the sufferer. Such cures are not unusual with this remedy. In many instances only one or two doses are required to give permanent relief. It can always be depended upon. When reduced with water it is pleasant to take. For sale by J. Hal Bobbitt, druggist.

Some of the labor leaders are showing good sense in protesting against the lionizing of John Burns, the English labor leader. He has abused some of the laboring men and their plans in coarse language.

Croup is a terror to young mothers. To post them concerning the first symptoms, and treatment is the object of this item. The first indication of croup is hoarseness. In a child who is subject to croup it may be taken as a sure sign of the approach of an attack. Following this hoarseness is a peculiar, rough cough. If Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is given as soon as the child becomes hoarse or even after the rough cough has appeared it will prevent the attack. It has never been known to fail. 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by J. Hal Bobbitt, druggist.
