W. C. & A. B. STRONACH,

WHOLESALE AND RETAIL GROCERS.

On account of dissolution we must close out by January 31, 1895, our entire stock of Staple and Fancy Groceries, &c. Store, hotel, boarding house and housekeepers generally will find it to their interest to call and examine our stock and prices. Make your selections early.

AT AND BELOW COST

Canned Goods, Sauces, Pickles, Catsups, Preserves, Jellies, Mince Meats, &c.
Cigars, Cigarettes and Cheroots by the box; at manufacturers' prices by the case. The stock must be sold and we intend to sell it.

Two in One.

The thing that is of greater importance to the citizens of Wake and adjoining counties than the repeal of the state bank tax or Carlisle's great financial scheme, are the great values that it is your privilege to select from every department of Swindell's store. In concentrating my business I have added to my stock between twelve and fifteen thousand dollar's worth of goods which cost me but 60 cents on the dollar, all of which I will sell at New York cost, and in consideration of carrying many of the same lines of goods in my regular stock I will in-

A Progressive Firm.

On January 1st Mr. Wm. Woolcott, the senior member of Woolcott & Son, retired from active business life. Mr. Walter Woodcock is now in charge of the immense business. Although the change has now been effected the firm will continue to sell its large stock of winter goods at the same rate as formerly. Mr. Walter Woolcott has just returned from a northern trip, having purchased a fine stock of spring goods. He says that the new tariff will cause all dress goods this spring to be sold 25 per cent cheaper than the same goods could have been purchased last spring. The firm's large business has been built up by hard, conscientious, earnest work and the Visitor has nothing but success to wish it in future.

The House that Jack Built.

It is learned that Mr. "Dick" Burkhead, the popular clerk in Bobbit's drug store, who is an excellent checker-player, will challenge Mr. James Mardock, of Asheville, for the state championship. Mr. Mardock is the man who beat Mr. McNair, who beat Mr. Bowen, who claimed the championship. Mr. Burkhead's friends say he should win, both on the strength of his ability as a draughtsman and to keep up the faded progression. Raleigh will "root" for him, at any rate.

Real Estate Transactions.

The estate of the late William R. Poole transfers to W. C. Stronach part of the W. D. Haywood lot, on East Edenton street, for $1550. W. J. Peale, commissioner of M. A. Parker, transfers to J. E. Pogue a lot on South Blount street, for $1275. John D. Briggs transfers to Edgar C. Hillyer, of Warwicks county, Va., for $3500 a lot at the corner of South West and West Hargett streets. On this an ice factory will be built.

A Serious Apex Accident.

News was received here today of a very serious accident which happened at Apex this morning. Mr. Adolphus Mann, who works at the Apex lumber company, was caught in the machinery of the mill. His hand was so badly crushed that amputation was necessary, an Apex physician performing the operation.

DOTS AND DASHES

MADE ABOUT TODAY'S HAPPENINGS.

Items Gathered in and Around the City.

The board of aldermen meets this evening.

The social events of the holiday season are about over.

President Cleveland says there will be no extra session of congress.

Bills were posted today for the appearance of Mrs. Potter and Belle.

There is a fine orchestra of 14 performers at the institution for the blind.

The day of the partridge is past. In fact game of any sort is very scarce on the market.

The western associated press will supply the new morning paper with telegraphic news.

Vice-president Baldwin of the Southern railway desires to bring German immigrants to the south.

Sand for use in the building of the Confederate monument was today delivered at the west gate of the capitol square.

The collections of revenue from liquor in this district in December were $13,365; cigars and cigarettes $17,049; tobacco $55,427.

There is talk of some damage suits by reason of the circular issued by some of the local fusionists, and which the Visitor copied yesterday.

A fair number of thers, the farm lateness of the season and the condition of the roads considered, brought cotton to market today.

Dr. C. E. Taylor, president of Wake Forest college, arrived today. Other college presidents are soon to arrive, the legislature being the attraction.

The street cars continue to give a splendid service. Such conscientious effort to do the "square thing" by the people deserve the public's hearty patronage.

Jim Hodge, a negro man who received advances and failed to "whack up," was tried before justice Roberts yesterday. He went to the roads for a short time.

Fred Jones, a negro hack driver, used sulphurous language at the union depot yesterday. This morning he was tried for disorderly conduct before mayor Badger and fined five "plunks."

It is strange how many people will drop all of their business out of simple and idle curiosity. Probably 200 people witnessed Mr. Brigg's execution of the guinea on the market house yesterday.

There was a frozen fog this morning. On the ground it was like snow; on the trees it was like sleet. It was a beautiful phenomenon. The trees were covered with the sparkling frost to their very tops.

Much curiosity was excited yesterday by a guinea fowl which escaped from a country wagon and flew to the cupola of the market house. It was killed by a bullet from a rifle in the hands of Mr. Henry Briggs.

The biennial report of the institution for the white blind and the colored deaf-mute and blind institutions was issued yesterday. It reflects much credit on the directors, the superintendent and other officials and teachers.

It is learned that the Seaboard Air Line officials, who, as noted in the Visitor, left Portsmouth a day or so ago on an inspection tour, will arrive here in a day or so. A meeting will be held and important business transacted, it is said.

At the residence of Mr. R. L. Dixon, of the police force of Wilmington, Wednesday, his youngest child, a girl only 9 months old, was burned so horribly that she died in a few hours. She was in a room with another child, four years old, when her clothing caught from the stove. Mrs. Dixon was badly burned while endeavoring to put out the fire.

We wish you a happy and prosperous New Year.

A CITIZEN'S MEETING

To Take Steps Towards Aiding Nebraska Sufferers.

The much announced meeting of citizens to take steps to aid the Nebraska sufferers took place in the mayor's office last evening. The attendance, in spite of urgent appeals to the people to attend, was deplorably small. Mr. W. E. Ashley presided. Several letters and telegrams were read announcing the miserable condition of the Nebraska people.

On motion of John B. Kenney, a committee was appointed to wait on the citizens of Raleigh and solicit contributions of money or provisions for the suffering citizens of Nebraska. The chair named the following as the committee: John B. Kenney, Alf. A. Thompson, Jos. G. Brown, N. W. West, A. L. Baker, Fred. L. Merritt, C. G. Latta, F. A. Olds, Samuel Berwanger, Rev. Baylus Cade, W. M. Russ, Samuel T. Smith, J. S. Wynne, B. R. Laey, Wm. Boylan, Alex. Stronach. The following were named as the committee on transportation: W. S. Barnes, H. P. Chandler, W. E. Ashley.

It is certainly to be hoped that the committee will meet with good success. The people of Nebraska certainly need aid. They need it badly. And North Carolina has much to be thankful for. The state has suffered from hard times, poor crops or other causes less than any other state in the union should not withhold charity from those in distress. Raleigh is the state representative city and should give cheerful aid.

The following are the committees appointed to collect funds for the relief of the sufferers in Nebraska: On Fayetteville street, from the capitol to the centennial school, John B. Kenney, chairman; Wm. Boylan and Sam Berwanger.

To collect from the banks the cotton exchange and S. Wilmington street merchants, Alf. A. Thompson, chairman; J. G. Brown and C. G. Latta.

To collect from factories and the railway shops, B. R. Laey, chairman; N. W. West, A. L. Baker and J. S. Wynne.

To collect from the press and citizens generally, F. A. Olds, chairman; E. L. Merritt and Rev. Baylus Cade.

To collect from market, Exchange and Wilmington streets north of East Martin street, Wm. M. Russ, chairman; Alex. Stronach and Sam. Smith.

Baseball in the Air.

The advent of the new year always suggests spring, spring suggests baseball and baseball turns the cranks wild. For several years Raleigh has been behind the procession as far as the national game is concerned. Last summer a club was organized but the step came too late. After one game had been played and lost nothing more was heard of baseball. But this year the Raleigh "cranks" propose to "get a move on." A Raleigh club will certainly be organized and a movement is on foot to start a central state league. The clubs will be composed of amateur players, the players that every one knows and whom the people take an interest in. The gentlemen having the scheme in hand propose to play some good, clean ball. They deserve encouragement.

Up Jinks.

Mrs. V. C. Royster handsomely entertained a number of young people at an "Up Jinks" party and supper last evening. About 30 young people were present and enjoyed the hospitality of their hostess to the fullest extent. The party was given in honor of Miss Beulah Sanderlin, of Washington, D. C., who is visiting at Mrs. Royster's.
