DOWN TO ZERO.

THE TEMPERATURE—NOT THE NEWS MERCURY.

There is Always Fresh News—if You Seek It Here.

One drunk was before the mayor this morning. He got 12 hours.

A solitary countryman brought in a solitary bale of cotton this morning.

The offices in the handsome Pullen building are now nearly all occupied.

Elder M. T. Lawrence, a member of the legislature will preach at the Primitive church tomorrow. Services at 11 o'clock.

Raleigh council No. 551 of the Royal Arcanum, meets on next Monday evening at 1:30 o'clock in Seaton Gales' hall.

Good skating tomorrow is the prediction, and those who enjoy it will have an enjoyable little spice of wickedness with their pleasure, too.

The legislature is after a member who gets drunk. Certainly it would seem that he should be impeached. He was not sent here for that purpose.

Two car loads of fine blooded horses arrived at the Southern freight depot this morning. They are consigned to Capt. Williamson for his big sale here soon.

There was a fight at a boarding house here last night between two representatives. Besides raising a great deal of undue excitement, they accomplished no damage.

The governor will on next Tuesday evening give a public reception to St. Mary's, Peace Institute, the A. & M. college schools and the general public which is cordially invited.

Mr. Mc Mackin has closed up his convict quarters on account of the weather. If every supervisor would do likewise there would be no hue and cry against cruel "bosses."

The county commissioners have permitted the granting of license to the men who run candy tents on the open space between the post office and the court house. Many people consider the tents a nuisance.

The revenue people were engaged today in gauging a lot of government corn whiskey in the cellar of the post office. One passing out the north door could nearly imbibe enough from the air to establish a first-class "jag."

D. T. Johnson, phone No. 28, is on the list of telephone subscribers as a dealer in wood and coal. This is a mistake. A. R. D. Johnson & J. S. Johnson (Johnson & Johnson) are brokers and dealers in wood and coal whose phone No. is 150.

Whatever may be said about representative French's actions in '88, he certainly showed that he had a sense of what was just by his speech in the house today when he defended the democrats from the charge of unnecessarily obstructing legislation.

News was received here today of the death of Dr. Hodge, of Kenly. He died of consumption. He was a brother of a well known and respected farmer and magistrate of St. Matthew's township, "squire" Hodge. His remains will be brought here for burial.

The educational committee has put off any action on the fight being urged by the Baptists against state aid to higher educational institutions for two weeks. This was done at the request of Dr. C. Darbam, it said, who has not yet got his plans exactly "fixed."

At 2 o'clock this morning Mrs. W. R. Crawford passed quietly away at her home near Raleigh. For a long time she had been a sufferer from lung trouble and her death was not unexpected. Her husband and several sons and daughters survive her. She was an estimable christian lady and the Visitor joins many friends in sympathy for the bereaved ones.

Hicks' Fragrant Almonds

For chaps and fever blisters and Dr. Nagle's certain cough cure are guaranteed satisfactory or money refunded. 15c at Hicks & Rogers, successors to Snelling & Hicks, druggists.

FAMILIAR FACES.

SEEN OUT AND STNDING THE COLD TODAY.

Their Photos Framed and Decorated by "Jack Frost."

Mr. Gariand Daniel, of Greensboro, is here.

Mrs. W. J. Cooper, who has been quite ill, is better today.

Mrs. George Glover, of Newberne, is here, at the Yarbore.

Capt. E. B. Engelhard is not expected to live until morning.

Mr. Charles McHenry, of Richmond, arrived here this afternoon.

Vice president St. John, of the S. A. L., and Mrs. St. John, are in the city.

Mr. G. Z. French New Hanover's representative left for Wilmington this afternoon.

Lieutenant governor R. A. Dough-tou returned to the city from Sparta this morning.

State geologist Holmes, who has been here for some days, returned to Chapel Hill this afternoon.

Mr. Rogers, who has been laid up with grippe, is only waiting now for the weather to moderate before getting out again.

Mr. W. C. Stronach and Mr. Alex. Stronach returned from Florida this morning. They say that the reports of very cold weather there are false.

MRS. BLAKE'S LECTURE.

A Good Crowd Heard the Talk of the "Woman's Rights" Advocate.

The senate chamber was filled yesterday afternoon by members of legislature and ladies to hear Mrs. Lily Devereux Blake. She was introduced by senator Moody in neat style and spoke in support of woman's suffrage. She stated that Raleigh was her birth place, and she paid a beautiful tribute to the North Carolinians. She said that Mr. Moody's bill to give women places on school boards was a distinct mark of progress, and expressed a hope for woman's suffrage here, certainly as far as voting for school boards. She argued that North Carolina's bill of rights makes women citizens and entitled to representation. Women pay taxes and taxation without representation is tyranny. The South is the only place where women have no suffrage rights. Women love liberty as well as men, yet are not free. She declared in conclusion that the women of the South are now awakened.

She was heartily applauded and Mr. Moody thanked her in the name of the legislature. He then made a speech in support of woman's suffrage.

Senator Dowd, of Mecklenburg, was called on for a speech. He said he represented only the men of Mecklenburg and one woman, and that she did not want the ballot. Miss Blake gave Mr. Dowd a tract, bidding him take it home to his wife.

"She."

"She," A. Y. Pearson's big production, will appear on Wednesday Feb. 13, at the academy of music. The romance of Rider Haggard is well known. The book is closely followed, and, although at times it is somewhat weird, yet there is a vein of comedy interwoven throughout the whole. Salide Farley, who plays the part of "She," is an actress of fine physique. Lottie Church, does equally as well. The rest of the cast, including Chester Davande, Lawrence Grant, and Harrison Armstrong, are all strong actors.

THE ELECTION LAW.

The Chief Features of It Summarized.

The bill to amend the election law was last evening accepted by the fusion caucus. It was drawn by Spier Whitaker, Esq., who is employed as attorney by the steering committee. The bill is very long. Here are its chief features:

There are to be two ballots, one for governor and other state officers, justices, judges and congressmen; the other for all other officers. There are to be two boxes. Registration is for four consecutive Saturdays before election day. On the second Saturday before election day the registrars will hear challenges. All persons are entitled to register, giving their name, age and residence. If the registrars find a challenge is good they reject the voter.

The polls are to close at sunset. The ballots are at once to be added. The ballots are to be replaced in the boxes or in other specially prepared boxes, fastened and securely sealed. The returns are to be sent by two messengers, one going to the superior court clerk, the other to the register of deeds, and must be delivered within twenty-four hours after the polls close. These add up the returns, and at once send the result to the secretary of state, who adds up the totals. None of these officers have judicial powers. County commissioners have nothing whatever to do with elections. The clerk of court is county canvasser.

There are to be three registrars and three pollholders. These are to be of the three political parties, and are to be nominated by the chairmen of these parties and appointed by the superior court clerk.

EXECUTIVE CLEMENCY

Granted to Henry Gallimore Serving a Term for Larceny.

One man was made "lad today, anyhow, although the average mortal splashed around in the mud with a frown on his face and cursed the weather vigorously.

That man was Henry Gallimore, who in May, 1894, was sent to the penitentiary from Guilford to serve an 18 months sentence, for larceny. He was a victim of that dread disease, consumption, and ever since he has been confined has been growing steadily worse. His life was only a question of a few months, at least, confined as he was and so executive pardon was asked for and received. At this writing Henry Gallimore is free again. He may have a chance now for his life; that is for a good long lease of it. Before he had no chance at all. It is a slim one now but any chance is better than none. It was an act of mercy to pardon him and governor Carr should be commended for granting it.

THE WEATHER.

The Conditions and the Forecast.

For North Carolina: Fair, warmer. Local forecast for Raleigh and vicinity: Fair, becoming slowly warmer Sunday afternoon.

Local data for 24 hours ending at 8 a. m. today. Maximum temperature 17; minimum temperature 10; rainfall, 0.00.

Mr. T. H. Briggs will speak to men at the Y. M. C. A. at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

An escaped convict who who was in hiding and could not longer stand the cold surrendered to Mr. Job. Wyatt today.

At 11 a. m. tomorrow Rev. Dr. E. Yates, of Durham, will preach at Epworth chapel, and at 7:30 p. m. at Brooklyn M. E. church.

Slippery sidewalks have caused some accidents here as elsewhere. Messrs. David Rosenthal and David Taylor were walking down the street together. They fell and now each has a broken arm.

Messrs. S. S. Batchelor and O. A. Parrish were unlucky while skating. The former went into an air hole. The latter fell and his head struck the ice so hard he was unconscious and a physician had to be called in.

Rev. W. C. Newton, of Wake Forest preaches at the Baptist tabernacle at 11 a. m. and 7:30 tomorrow. After the morning sermon there will be a collection for the Thomasville orphanage.
