RALEIGH, N. C., FEBRUARY 14 1895

The United States bonds are to run thirty years.

The city of Mexico will next year have exposition of arts and industries with a department for foreign exhibits.

The great need of China is a military leader who knows how to negotiate a surrender on terms that will at least allow her to retain her wearing apparel.

It is to be supposed that the Cleveland-Hill reconciliation is where the people interested can put their hands on it, should an emergency cause it to be needed.

It is humiliating to know that the cities of New York and Philadelphia have both recently found a market for their bonds at a lower rate of interest than that which is to be paid on the new government law.

The fate of Hawaii rebels is that six are sentenced to death and many others to long terms of imprisonment. President Dole is expected to deal leniently, although some of the people advocate harsh measures.

Is it an inconvenient fact that when zero weather prevails in cities, and many hydrants are frozen, the greatest number of fires occur. The New York department was called out thirty-four times last Friday, but, fortunately, most of the fires caused but little damage.

Conflicting reports come from Florida concerning the effect of the second cold wave in that state, but it is certain that great additional damage has been done. The second crop of early garden truck that had been planted and was doing well has been destroyed.

In the last two weeks Beerbohm Tree the English actor now in the U. S. has been in a hotel fire, suffered from robbers, witnessed a blizzard and been snowed up on a railway journey. He pronounces America interesting, but has not yet assured the reporters that he loves it.

It appears that in China the idea of flat money is about three thousand years old. In this ancient empire any banker is permitted to issue his notes according to the per capita demand of those in the neighborhood who are willing to accept them.

At Tacoma, the blizzard of last week was nothing worse than a light rain. It is a pleasure to know that there was one part of the United States where the boreal blasts of February failed to penetrate. The state of Washington seems to be a sort of oasis in the midst of universal frigidity and discomfort.

At the first auction sale of silks for this season in New York the other day the domestic product sold better than any of the imported ones; and yet only a few years ago American silks were regarded as the poorest on the market. The improvement in processes of manufacture have brought about this gratifying change.

The Elgin watch company of Elgin, Ill., and the Waltham watch company of Waltham, Mass., will be consolidated and pass into the possession of a British syndicate. The valuation of the two properties is $16,000,000, of which amount $9,000,000 goes to the credit of the Elgin company and $7,000,000 to the Waltham concern. The Elgin and Waltham factories turn out about 85 per cent of the total product of which movements in the United States, more than half of that amount being produced by the Elgin works, which employs about 4,000 hands.

Washington is on the eve of the great convention of the Woman's Christian Temperance union of the world, and the presentation to the government of the United States of the polyglot petition against governmental sanction of the liquor traffic. The president of the union, Miss Frances K. Willard, and the vice-president at large, Lady Henry Somerset, will arrive in Washington on Thursday, February 14.

Intelligence is received of the surrender of the Chinese forts and warships at Wei-Hai-Wei. The surrender is complete, and the Japanese are in full possession. The Chinese warship Chen-Yuen was sunk by shells from the forts held by the Japanese. She sank head first. She had been badly damaged the previous day, and was unable to use her guns. All the forts on the mainland have been taken by the Japanese. The iron-clads Ting Yuen and Lai Yuen and the cruisers Ching Yuen and Wei Yuen have been sunk, and thirteen torpedo boats either destroyed or captured. One Japanese torpedo boat was lost, and two were disabled.

FOUGHT FOR LOVE.

And the Coquette Clung to the Wounded Lover.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Feb. 12.—Mike Millick and Stephen Kropstsky, young Slavs, faced each other this morning in a lonely spot three miles from here and fought a duel with pistols for the love of a young Slav girl who had been receiving attentions from both men, but showed no preference.

Some time ago, while at her home, near Mount Pleasant, they engaged in a fist fight to see which would win her, but they were so unequal in size that the girl declared such a contest would be too one-sided. She favored a mortal combat, and it came off today.

There were two seconds on each side, and the girl and her father were the only other witnesses. At the first fire Melick fell, dangerously wounded, while Kropstsky escaped untouched. The girl clung to her wounded lover and she and her father removed him. She would have nothing to do with his luckier rival.

The duel is the second one the men have engaged in, having fought in the Old Country two years ago, with swords, when Kropstsky was wounded. The affair has caused a great stir among the Slavs in the coke regions, where all the persons involved are well known.

Elopement of Pa and Ma.

NAPOLSON, Ohio, Feb. 13.—John Rollins, a year ago married the widow Dalyring, who has a daughter of 17. John eloped with the daughter yesterday, and the wife eloped with John's 23-year-old son. Both father and son are wealthy farmers, owning large tracts of land, and both occupied the same large house a life-time.

The father and his inamorata went east, possibly to Pittsburg. Her attorney has filed a petition for divorce and the old man's lawyer will doubtless soon receive instructions to file a cross petition.

Many believe that the two couples will be living amicably in the same house a year from now, the father married to his step-daughter, while his son will wed his father's wife.

Does Your Boy Need Britannica?

YOUTH

It is the formative period. It is then that the mind is freest from care, the imagination unhampered, the memory most retentive, the eye brightest, and the nature most susceptible. What a boy reads in this period becomes so indelibly impressed upon his nature that it becomes a part of his very character.

This is a time when a parent's responsibility is greatest. It is not enough to tell the boy what he ought to become. Most boys are not overly susceptible to didactic teaching. You can usually lead him a mile easier than you can drive him a rod. See that he has the proper surroundings, and a little encouragement, and it is surprising how readily he develops a taste for the best in literature. Let that taste be developed, and there is little danger as to his future. It was

Dr. Phillips Brooks

Who said: "Show me what books a boy reads, and I will read you his destiny."

How important it is, then, that your home should be provided with books of the highest character.

Fairy tales, and even, perhaps, "Buffalo Bill" stories, have their place as developers of a taste for reading, a sort of literary milk, as it were, but unless the boy soon shows a preference for the stronger meat of practical knowledge, history, travel, etc., you may be sure that he is mentally unsound, or that there has been something radically wrong in his education.

The Encyclopedia Britannica has rightly been termed "the concentrated essence of the whole world's wisdom." Let your boy read its interesting pages, and he will soon look with disdain upon "fairy" literature. We are continually underestimating a boy's capacity for large ideas. There is nothing so attractive as truth. Give him the material out of which to construct large ideas. Put Britannica in the home, where he can consult it continually, and as he attains manhood he will find no place in literary or professional life to which he may not aspire.

Seize the present opportunity to provide a proper library for your home. It requires an investment of but Ten Cents a day. If you order from THE CHARLOTTE OBSERVER while it may be had at introductory prices.
