The-Live-Man

Of today is the man who succeeds, and the individual who waits for his neighbor to set the pace generally brings up the rear. It is pretty lively with us. The LOW cash prices we are making on all winter dress goods, flannels, ladies' wraps, men's and boys' clothing, overcoats, etc., causes our worthy competitors to be seized with the mad spirit of imitation and drop in line in the rear of the leader and take their respective medicines with much murmuring. They are coming in droves and all go away happy with the greatest bargains in shoes, carpets, rugs, etc., ever seen in Raleigh.

My entire line of crockery, glassware, lamps, etc., at prime cost. Respectfully,
D. T. SWINDELL,
106 Fayetteville st., Raleigh, N. C.

MANTELL, AS MONBARS.

The Play Good But the Academy was Again Cold.

Those who saw Robert Mantell play Monbars at the academy of music last evening saw a good play, well presented. The audience present however was not near as large as the play deserved. Mr. Mantell, as Monbars, was good and portrayed that character in a highly creditable manner. He has an excellent voice, tearing and figure and these qualities, combined with good histrionic powers, place him far above the average actor who visits here.

Miss Charlotte Behring, as Adriane, chief support and wife of Monbars, did well but it took her some time to become warmed to her work. The support was generally good, as support goes, though Mr Albert Druning, as the villain, was not quite wicked enough for the part and was also a trifle stiff at times. However, the play was fully well presented.

The plot, while it furnishes several opportunities for skillful playing and has some exciting incidents, is rather marred by the introduction of the old mirror dodge, by which Mantell discovers the real would-be assassin. In spite of the newspaper promises of the local management, the house was again uncomfortably cold. It has been cold, with one notable exception, on every occasion this season and this fact, in all probability deters many people from attending who would otherwise do so.

Temperance Bill Defeated.

This morning in the senate the temperance bill again came up. After several hour's debate an amendment, introduced by senator Moody, to strike out section 1 of the bill was passed by a close vote, 22 to 21. Then a motion was made to table the amendment, this carrying the bill. The friends of the bill lost hope and the motion to table, defeating the bill, was passed by a good margin.

If you want solid measure oysters at 25 and 35c, a quart go to D. Bell & Co.'s stall in the market house.

To the Citizens of Raleigh.

I take this method of letting my friends and the public know that I have opened a stall in the market, No. 21, where I will keep a nice, fresh stock of goods usually kept by a first class huckster, and sell them cheap as can be sold. A share of your patronage solicited.

MAN ABOUT TOWN

WHAT HE SHOULD HAVE SEEN AND LEARNED TODAY.

Town News and Talk is Ever Interesting—Here it is.

The Carolina Cotillion club's german, at Briggs' hall this evening.

Mayor Badger did not even have the usual morning "drunk" to contend with this morning.

The city graded schools, that have been closed for several weeks on account of bad weather, will open again tomorrow.

The printing committee had a "star chamber" meeting today. Not even the ladders for the printing were allowed admission.

Yesterday the trolley wire on Hillsboro street broke and the cars on that line were necessarily stopped until it could be repaired.

The two bills to amend the charter of Raleigh, one introduced by Shaffer and the other by Young, will come up in the legislature next Saturday.

The bill to regulate warehouse charges on tobacco came up in the house today and passed. It is much favored by tobacco farmers.

Raleigh is to have another plumbing establishment. Mr. W. F. Dowd, of Charlotte, will be the proprietor and will start up his business within two weeks.

There will be a meeting tomorrow morning at 9 o'clock at the office of Drs. Lewis and Battle of all those who are interested in the formation of a dairy association for Wake county.

The election bill came up in the house today. An amendment was offered by representative Campbell which was that the ballots should be printed on white paper, without device.

The jail was presented with 3 "birds" today. Two of them were the moonshiners Council and Harman and a negro, named Simmons, who was sent here from the county and jailed for slander.

A Chapel Hill student, William Green, is critically ill there of pneumonia. It was on account of his ill that the german to have been given there on next Friday evening was postponed.

As was the case when the six per cent interest bill was before the house, the representatives today promptly killed every amendment to the election law bill which was under consideration today.

Before denouncing an item as a "fake" newspaper reporters should take the trouble to investigate and be sure of their grounds. The Visitor's item in Monday's paper headed, "Frozen to death," was entirely true. The Daily Press to the contrary notwithstanding.

Mr. E. M. Williams, who has been the associated press operator at the News and Observer office, left today for Richmond where he will be press operator for the Richmond Dispatch. Mr. H. L. Wilkinson will return to his old position as operator at the Observer office.

The Seaboard Air-Line has taken off the "accommodation" freight between Wake Forest and Raleigh. The train was more an aggravation than an accommodation to the people who traveled on it. It is probable that the company will soon put on the old "Shoo-Fly" mail that gave such satisfaction.

The Dewey Heywood concert company which plays here, at the academy of music, Friday, March 1st, is composed of five artists of national reputation. The entertainment which is brought here by Litchford encampment I. O. O. F. will be a musical and literary treat, and none should miss the opportunity afforded of hearing it.

All the ladies of Raleigh who are at all interested in the confederate monument are earnestly requested to meet at the state library Thursday morning at 12 o'clock, as matters of very grave importance will be considered.
Miss Maggie I. Cowper,
Secretary.

'SHINING IN A KITCHEN

Still Seized in a Kitchen and Moonshiners Captured by Deputy Jones.

Deputy collector Wiley Jones, assisted by Mr. Stephenson, of Swift Creek township, yesterday captured an illicit distillery under peculiar circumstances. Deputy Jones had received information that a moonshining establishment was in operation in a kitchen at the house of a man named Council. Council is a tenant on a farm in Swift Creek township owned by Mr. Joseph Johnson, of Raleigh.

Deputy Jones, Mr. Stephenson and others yesterday afternoon went to Council's house. The kitchen is situated in the yard about 15 paces from the dwelling. The windows were closed up tightly with boards and the door was closed. A stove pipe issued from the side of the house and from this smoke was pouring out.

The raiders went to the door of the kitchen and knocked; no response came and, after repeated knockings, they broke down the door. As it fell a man dashed into the doorway and attempted to rush by the deputies. Mr. Stephenson clapped a pistol to his breast and he was captured. In the house was Council, who was also captured. The stove in the kitchen had been removed to the dwelling and a whiskey distillery was in full operation within. The still pipe went through the space occupied by the stove pipe. The still with a complete outfit and 500 gallons of beer was captured and destroyed.

The man who attempted to escape is named Harmon. Both he and Council were tried before U. S. commissioner Royster today and bound over to court.

REMNANTS.

These Items Come Easy and Sell Cheap—They are Good, Though.

Governor Carr took a day's rest today and didn't even appoint a notary public.

Two more prisoners arrived at the penitentiary from Guilford this afternoon.

Workmen were engaged on the tops of most of the buildings yesterday shovelling down snow.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Mellary was held this afternoon at 4 o'clock. Many friends and relatives were present. She was buried in the city cemetery.

Don't forget to attend the performance of the Raleigh minstrels tomorrow evening in Metropolitan hall. There will be new and interesting features.

The committee on printing met this morning to examine the bids but arrived at no definite conclusion. Another meeting was called for this evening at 7 o'clock.

This afternoon Mrs. Carr and Mrs. William Kearney Carr entertained a number of lady friends at a tea. The tea was given in compliment to Mrs. McReary and Miss Wiggins, of Wilmington, who are visiting at the mansion.

Mr. Settle Dockery, editor of the Southern Index, is in the city. He is here to see what is to be done about the bill to create Scotland county, which comes up tomorrow, and with other citizens from his section to try and kill it.

Died, in this city yesterday afternoon at 5:30 Mrs. C. E. Lougee, an old and highly respected citizen. The funeral will take place at the tabernacle church tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock, the deacons of the church acting as pallbearers.

The man who ran a confectionery shop in a tent next to the post office was robbed the other night of nearly his entire stock of goods, including a music box which he used to attract a crowd. The remainder of his stock, which consists of a box full of popcorn and apples, is in the sheriff's office.

THE WEATHER

The Conditions and the Forecast.

For North Carolina: Fair, warmer by Thursday afternoon.

Local forecast for Raleigh and vicinity: Fair, warmer Thursday. Considerable "warm wave" by Friday.

Local data for 24 hours ending at 8 a. m. today. Maximum temperature 47; minimum temperature 29; rainfall, 0.05.

An extensive area of low pressure is found over the northern part of the country. It is accompanied by a very decided rise in the temperature in northwest. The temperature at Huron this morning is 43 degrees. This means much warmer weather over the southern states by Friday.

Representative Campbell the other evening formally announced his candidacy for governor, two years hence. A Raleigh newspaper man published his statement and yesterday he rose to a point of "personal privilege" and denied it. It happened that several heard him make the statement.

Two of Raleigh's crack wing shots the other day decided on a shooting match. They purchased 63 live partridges and went out to shoot them for a wager. Each man killed his 31 birds straight. The next day they purchased 20 live birds from a farmer and went out to shoot off the tie. The first bird liberated from the trap did not fly but ran off; the second and third followed the same tactics. Then an examination was made and it was found that the cautious country man had "cropped" the wings of the birds. The match is still undecided.
