PROMPT DELIVERY.

PASSED ITS READINGS.

Senate Says the Monument Bill Should Be a Law.

This morning the bill to give $10,000 for the purpose of completing the Confederate monument passed its final and last reading in the senate in a triumphant style. With ladies and the crowded galleries applauding enthusiastically the senators must have been inspired, for they sent the bill through with a perfect whirlwind of votes. The opposition was not in the hunt at all and was even weaker than yesterday. So the matter now rests with the house. Will they pass the bill and enable the association to complete the monument and have it unveiled, out of debt? Probably, yes. The house has much more to make amends for than the senate and in no better way could they put themselves right in the eyes of the patriotic citizens of North Carolina.

The ladies will have obtained from the legislature, if the bill passes, no more than they deserve. They have worked zealously and earnestly to make the state a "land of memories." They should get the money; and they'll get it. Count on a woman to have her way.

FOREST FIRES

Burn Railroad Ties and Greatly Delay Trains.

This morning the S. A. L. train that should have reached here at noon was greatly delayed. Telegrams were received stating that the cause of the delay was the burning of the big Pee Dee bridge, over the Pee Dee river, on the Carolina Central railroad. It was stated in the telegrams that the cause of the fire was burning woods and that "600 feet of bridge was burned." This was manifestly a mistake as the entire bridge was not over 400 feet long and both sides are built completely of iron. The portion of the bridge yet wood is situated on an island, barren of timber, in the middle of the river.

The facts about the matter are these: When the bridge was recently rebuilt the timbers that were replaced by iron were thrown near the track on each side of the bridge; there was an immense pile of this timber and it caught fire from burning woods. There was so much of it that it could not be removed. The Seaboard Air-Line train was delayed, not being able to pass the burning timber, it arrived at 2 o'clock.

MARCH DOINGS;

FOR TODAY IS IN MARCH, NOT IN FEBRUARY.

Bear This in Mind and Look for News Here.

The car wheel works had a big casting yesterday. Forty odd wheels were moulded at one time.

Not even the 12 hour drunk broke the serenity of the mayor's court. It was worse than the 2nd of January.

Don't miss the concert at the academy of music to night. It will be the first musical treat of the season.

Today was another good one for cotton merchants. The receipts were heavy, the farmers bringing in some 175 bales.

There is no doubt but that today is the first of March. If any one has any doubts think first of bills, then of the winds.

Another stone went up on the monument today. It was lifted up and set on the monument by the derrick as easily and quietly as a mother puts down her babe.

Col. T. S. Kenan last evening entertained at a supper the members of the supreme court, ex-judges McKee and Shepherd of the old court and several members of the legal profession.

The superior court dragged along again today and succeeded in accomplishing next to nothing. The case of Louisa Smith vs. Fannie Christmas went at last to a jury. That was all.

The Stewarts were awarded the printing, as was generally supposed, in the senate today. There was sharp argument however and some mighty strong language used before the resolution passed the senate.

The big derrick to be used in hoisting stone into position on the monument has been placed skiddie the monument. Now there will be much less delay in work, as getting the derrick in position was a most difficult "job."

Last evening there was a meeting held here of the state fair directors. Col. Julian S. Carr presided. Matters financial were talked over until quite a late hour. The state fair association is $4,000 in debt. Col. Carr has expended of his own means $2,500 on the fair.

This morning street car number "4" became unmanageable while descending the steep grade on Davis street. It rushed down the hill at a terrific rate and the motorman and conductor, the brakes having broken, became rattled and forgot to reverse the motor. The car struck the curve at the corner of Davis and McDowell and kept straight on, jumping the track. No passengers were on board and no one was hurt.

HICKS & ROGERS, Druggists. (Successors to Snelling & Hicks.)

Major Martin and the Birds.

Last evening major Martin ate his fifteenth bird, at Dughi's. Everybody knows that the major is trying to eat a bird a day for 30 days. Last night was the first time he has faltered. He ate his bird all right but when he got through he said the bird tasted like a parrot.

NO JOINT CAUCUSLS.

The Populist Always Get the Worst of Them—The Co-Operative Board Feature.

The populist caucus decided that the co-operative board feature must be placed in the county government bill, for it had become known that for some unknown reason it had been omitted from that bill as presented by senator Cook, after factionists had agreed on it. So the feature was restored to the bill.

Marion Butler made a spirited address to the caucus. He said that if the populists thought they owed anything to the republican party because of his election to the senate, he wanted them to say so and he would resign his seat, as his ambition was no higher than the success of his party. He said this because there were intimations that co-operation was at his best; that the populists had gotten into trouble and put the blame on him. It was this which so deeply stirred Butler, whose speech was the great event of the caucus. Other speakers urged that no more joint caucuses be held with the republicans. Quite a number of populists have for some time been holding off from these joint caucuses. The caucus also discussed the new criminal court bill and decided that there was a republican job in it. The caucus decided that nothing further was to be gained by the populists by any more joint caucuses; that whenever the latter are held they aid only the republicans.

"Humor"—The Monday Evening Club Talks It.

At the residence of Judge W. A. Montgomery last evening there was a meeting of the Monday evening club, Raleigh's literary society. There was a full attendance of members. Two excellent papers were read. Prof. Hill, the organizer of the club, leading off with an excellent paper on "the humor of Scott." Several members of the club read selections and Mrs. Charles McKimmon delighted those present with her voice, always acceptable. The club meeting ended at 10:30 o'clock. It was another success and greatly encourages the club's members.

MONUMENT STATUES.

Heroic Figures in Bronze—How They Will be Placed.

Yesterday afternoon the west side of capitol square was crowded with people who had come to get a peep at the new bronze statues for the monument that were unpacked yesterday forenoon. One can appreciate the beauty of a statue and the care that has been expended in its making much much better when close upon it than when only a general effect is received from the pedestal. The Confederate monument statues are excellent. They were made in Munich and only recently arrived in the country. Their color is a beautiful light bronze and they perfectly represent the characters they were intended to.

There are three figures, two of which are to be placed on the sides of the monument and the other which is to surmount the shaft.

The first two are of natural size while the third, which will be placed at the top, is of heroic size. The two smaller figures represent confederate soldiers just in the act of drawing his sword; the other is an artilleryman with gun swab just half raised. The big figure is that of a confederate private infantryman standing at ease and resting upon his gun.

The monument is to be built and it will be a credit to the state. Now let the legislature hustle through the bill to appropriate $10,000 for completing it and all will be well.

Death of Mr. W. Y. Piper.

Mr. W. Y. Piper, who was for many years a resident of Raleigh, died at one o'clock yesterday afternoon at the residence of his son, E. S. Piper, near Hutchinson's Store, this county, twelve miles from the city. He died of cancer, with which he had been afflicted for many years. He was a member of Manteo lodge, and a number of the order will go out to the funeral, which takes place at his son's residence at three o'clock this afternoon.

We can tell a lie. However there exists no need of fabrication in describing our stock of Dress goods. Mermaid Silk Wais, Lace, Edings and Em broideries which are decidedly the handsomest and cheapest it has ever been our pleasure to offer.

A far off dollar, one that is hitched to a promise and shows simply thirty, sixty or ninety days ahead, has no charm for us. Spot Cash, that's the power that pulls down the prices in our Gents' and Boys' clothing, furnishings, etc., and our rigid adherence to the rule. Buy for cash and sell for cash is why we can offer you such great values in all of the latest styles in Shoes, House furnishings and in fact every thing kept in a first class department store.
