MR. MASON RETIRES

As Railway Commissioner and Mr. Wilson Succeeds Him.

Today Thomas W. Mason, Esq., who since April, 1891, has served with marked ability as one of the railroad commissioners, retired. His term of office ends tomorrow. Monday Mr. S. Otho Wilson will take the oath of office and take the position made vacant by Mr. Mason's retirement. Mr. Mason is justly held in great esteem by the people of Raleigh and the state, as lawyer, business man and orator. His work on the commission has always been thorough. His address at the laying of the corner-stone of the confederate monument stamped him as an orator of the first class.
