Got them Guessing.

Never was there one who lived in Raleigh who kept the people and his competitors guessing as does D. T. Swindell, and now new guessing has begun, thusly: How can he sell yard-wide percal at 7 1/2c when other stores ask $2 for them? And he is selling Chemille table covers for 75c; others ask $1.75 for covers exactly like them. He is also selling a Turkish bath towel for 34c, large enough to make a child a suit of clothes.

My friends, stop guessing and look to your interest. Swindell will save you money on every purchase.

Split Dollar.

A BUSINESS QUESTION.

Do you read advertisements in search of beautiful literature, or to see who can make the great promises, or to discover where the greatest amount can be obtained for your dollar? If it is the latter we ask your consideration. We do not pose as "authors," nor "bluffers," nor "boasters," but strictly in the business for mutual benefits, and our offerings are bona fide bargains and money savers and that is what you are looking for. Be sure of this, our prices shall be as low here as anywhere else in town. But we do not care to sell one thing less than cost that we may make the difference up on the next purchase our customer may want.

AWAITING THE VERDICT.

U. S. SUPREME COURT DECIDESTAX CASE MONDAY.

Deputy Jones and Collectors are Resting on Their Oars.

Income tax deputy Jones is not as busy a man these days as might be expected. 'Tis not that Raleigh people will not come extensively under the ban of law and pay thousands of dollars over to the government, for every one knows that there are many here who will have to "shell out" when the law goes into effect. The reason of Mr. Jones' easy times is that everybody who is so fortunate as to be liable to income taxation by uncle Sam is waiting for the decision of the United States court on a test case from the District of Columbia as to the validity of the law. The court hands down its decision probably, on Monday. Here is what a revenue paper says of the delay, for it was expected that a decision would be rendered last Monday.

"There was quite a distinguished audience assembled, including attorney general Garland, ex-secretaries Boutwell and Bristow, and several senators and representatives. There was general disappointment when it was ascertained that no decision would be rendered. The delay in the court reaching a conclusion is not regarded in official circles as indicating action adverse to the law, and it is predicted that before the end of the week official intimation will be given that the court sustains the constitutionality of the law. It is admitted that the delay looks disconcerting, but it is urged that, in the event that the court should give full right to the argument of attorney general Olney, that a portion of the law could be set aside without militating against the remainder, the consideration of this question might consume more time than has yet been given to the case.

TRYING TO GET GEORGE OFF.

Ladies to Petition Gov. Carr to Grant Him a Commutation to Life.

About six months ago deputy Walters and others walked out in the night with George Mills, who had only been put in jail the day before for killing his niece. Out into the cemetery they went and there George sat for half the night shivering, not from cold, but from mortal fear of lynchers who were thought to be coming to attempt his life. Now some of these very neighbors and would-be lynchers of the murderer are putting their names to a petition to the governor to commute his death sentence.

As is usually the case, ladies are circulating the petition and numbers of people are signing it who only a few months ago discussed in low tones the awful disclosures of the Mills' trial and cried out that the murderer and the Wimberlys should all properly be hanged. This seems strange. But is the way things are done in this day of "societies for the prevention" of everything, almost. George has a chance, but a very slim one, for his life.

NEWS NOTES.

The Little Events of a Day in the Capital City.

The new electric lighting plant will have its line in operation within the month.

The Dallas team arrived on time today for the battle at Athletic park this afternoon.

Raleigh is going to "get there" after awhile. Contracts are soon to be made for the construction of five new stores.

Col. Muldoon and the men who did the work in putting up the confederate monument are soon to be banqueted at the Yarboro.

Chattel mortgages and liens came into the register of deed's office today in numbers that were unprecedented, since the discovery of the assignment law.

Some idea of the size of the confederate monument can be obtained when it is stated that the veil which only covers the shaft, is made of 220 yards of cloth.

Attorney General Osborn writes to Gov. Carr that he cannot, as he states' executive, bring an action in regard to the assignment law, but that he can do so in the capacity of a private citizen.

The two ball games at Chapel Hill between the University and Lafayette; ball teams, resulted in one victory for Lafayette; one for the University. Both were exciting and well played. The first, won by Lafayette, was 4 to 3; the second, 6 to 5.

Secretary Cooper, of the Y. M. C. A., has only recently subscribed for a number of the choicest daily and weekly newspapers and periodicals. These literary additions will tend to make a visit to the rooms more pleasant even than formerly.

Deputies Smith and Davis report to collector Simmons the seizure and destruction at Sumnerfield, Guilford county, of an 80-gallon illicit copper distillery and outfit, belonging to P. H. Harris and B. G. Cole. No arrests were made, and 140 gallons of beer was spilled.

Here is what the "Druggist and Chemical Gazette," of New York, says of Mr. W. H. King: "Mr. W. Henry King is one of the most energetic pharmacists in the 'Old North State' and is building up a business at Raleigh of which an older man might well be proud.

This morning the big cloth which will veil the confederate monument 'till May 20th when it will be jerked away amid the enthusiastic shouts of thousands, was put up, hiding the statue and shaft completely. Two very handsome medallions have been put in place on either side the stone capping the pedestal.

The revival meeting which has been going on at Epworth chapel for the past fourteen days, conducted by Rev. R. H. Whitaker, closed last night. Forty-three made profession of faith in Christ, and about twenty-five will join the church there. This chapel which was opened for services last July, has now a membership of one hundred.

A certain gentleman rented a house. After he moved in, he observed that the wainscoting of his parlor was scratched all around with the exception of one corner of the room. Meeting his landlord one day he asked him why it was that this portion of the wall was unpainted. "Oh," said he, "when I lived there a piano was on that corner."

The game of ball yesterday between the A. & M. college and Trinity teams was an extremely mediocre one. After nine innings of uneventful play the score stood, A. & M. 23, Trinity 17. The redeeming feature of the game was the scientific manner in which Joe Whitaker placed his hits. Trinity tried three pitchers. Both sides batted freely and errors were very much in evidence.

We have a full supply of quick-silver, furniture polish and bed bug poison which you will need for spring house-cleaning. Hicks & Rosses, Druggists. (Successors to Snelling & Hicks.)

THE NEGROES' BONANZA.

SPRINGS IN WHICH ONLY NEGROES TAKE STOCK.

A Colorful President's and a Slick Agent's Work in Raleigh.

Many colored people in Raleigh are holders of stock in the Coleman mineral springs, of Virginia. It is to be hoped that their investment will pan out well, but from the way company's colored representative has been talking, colored people had better be careful how they part with their hard earned shingles. The agent's name is W. J. Trent and he is almost white. This is why, probably, he is able to talk so glibly. According to him the colored race will soon be the money power of the country and will have attained this desirable end all on account of the Coleman Springs. The company may, for all that is known here, be safe, but Trent's glowing tales look suspicious.

This morning a VISITOR reporter went in search of some of the stockholders. They are all colored people and live in the southeastern part of the city. Here are some points, a la Trent.

First Julia Dann was visited. Julia is a stock-holder and an agent of the company. She is also, by the way, a very smart woman and not much could be gotten out of her about Trent's offers.

"You had better see Mr. Trent," she said in reply to questioning. "He is here now and is stopping at my house." She said, though, that Trent told her that last spring the company paid to its stock holders dollar for dollar, or 100 per cent dividends, and that this year expected profits would be larger. She showed the reporter her stock certificate, which is a gorgeous affair with a big gold seal in the corner. R. T. Coleman, a colored man, is president of the company.

Then Robert Murdock, a simple old negro, was seen and from him the VISITOR gets this account of the agent's promises. He did not take stock, he said, because he didn't have ten dollars. His story in substance is that Trent told him that the company was organized for the especial benefit of the negro to "raise him up;" that if he invested $10.00 he would be paid a bi-annual dividend of $20 in July and December and that Coleman, the president, had started the company for negroes. No white people could take stock.

Mrs. Miner, another colored woman, said that Trent had simply promised "satisfaction" but that the stockholders were incited to come to the springs in August, as the guests of the company. Knuckles, the Citizens bank janitor, drinks the spring water and owns stock. Trent told him that the stock last spring brought a dividend of 50 per cent and that this year it would bring more.

Now, is there any fraud abroad? If the company is all right why has such a lying agent. His tales, as can be readily seen, are impossible. The colored people of Raleigh need to keep their weather eye on Agent Trent.

NORTH CAROLINA HOPS.

Is What Messrs. Jones and Foster, of New York, Think of Raising.

At the office of the commissioner of agricultural this morning were present Messrs. Jones and Foster, extensive northern hop growers, who are here making investigation in regard to commencing the cultivation of hops in this state. They propose to make experiments in Eastern, Piedmont and Western North Carolina and to then commence the hop industry on a large scale in the section where their experiments have given the best results.

The gentlemen are engaged in the hop raising industry in the hop region of New York State where for miles on a stretch every industrial-occupation takes a back seat to the raising of the material for the drink of the German. They have been looking, as other hop raisers are doing, for another territory and have decided on North Carolina. Experiments have been conducted in Rockingham county with gratifying results. Should other trials prove satisfactory great tracts of land will be purchased by the hop growers of the north.
