

Try It.
If you don't believe advertising pays ask some of Raleigh's most successful merchants. They seem to know on which side their bread is buttered. They advertise and continue to do so. Spasmodic advertising don't pay and never will. You must keep it up. Just think of it. Wanamaker & Brown of Philadelphia pay a man $10,000 a year to write ads for them. Advertising pays them. It will pay you. Try the Visitor.

THE WEATHER.

Raleigh Keeps Right up With the Procession.
The mercury marked 100 degrees yesterday afternoon at the weather station. Many persons think that because the thermometers there are above the roof they do not fairly register the heat. But the thermometers hung in a case with double slats, and twenty feet above the roof. The air has a clear sweep, and there is perfect shade. So the figures are fair. Down on the street level, where there are reflections and where the pavements and buildings intensify the heat, the temperature will average two or three degrees higher in warm weather and three to five degrees lower in cold weather.
This morning the heat was severe, yet not so severe as that yesterday in the early hours, as there was a merciful breeze. Yet it was piping hot. Grass has curled and dried a good deal, and tree leaves in many cases look wilted. The signals which went up this morning indicating local rains and cooler weather were hailed with joy.
For nine days the weather has been almost perfectly clear over the eastern and central portions of this country, and the winds in all sections have blown from a southerly direction. The result has been to bring the warm air from the equatorial regions, which, together with the unusual amount of heat received from the sun, has been a great factor in causing the extreme heat which is now prevailing over the eastern and central portions of the country.
The weather in the extreme west yesterday became decidedly cooler, and rain was falling generally over that section. The barometer had fallen considerably last night over the southern states, and the prospect for a break in the hot weather is better now than at any time in a week. The conditions are favorable for local thunder-showers followed by slightly cooler weather.
The following are some of the highest temperatures reported yesterday: Augusta 98, Wilmington 100 Charlotte 100, Raleigh 100, Norfolk 98, Washington 98 Philadelphia 96, Indianapolis 100, Nashville 96, and Memphis 96
Again we say "Triple Link" Now won't you just think of the excursion to Norfolk, Washington or Baltimore on July 31. You can have the 4th of July in either city or take in the famous summer resort Old Point. The magnificent display of fireworks to be seen there cannot be excelled. Capital lodge ask friends to join with them on their annual excursion. This year it will be immense. An elegant reserved seat car in charge of a member of the lodge. The rate will be low.

FINED $500.

The Railway Commission and the Western Union Telegraph Company.
Some time ago the railway commission ordered the Western Union telegraph company to charge no more than the state rate of 25 cents for ten words between points on the Norfolk & Southern road in this state and other points in this state. The company claimed that it sent its messages via Norfolk and was not liable to state supervision thereof, nor to the state rate. It was asserted by the commission that the company had "flanked" by forcing senders of message to use a so-called private line, while it also had a line and really operated the private line. The company continued to charge double the state rate. Then it was hauled up for contempt. Today one case was heard. Ex judge Strong appeared as counsel for the company. The commission today imposed a fine of $500. In a few minutes a telegram came from district manager J. B. Tree of Richmond, saying that the money had been deposited to the order of the court. He also telegraphed that orders had been issued to charge the state rate of 25 cents for 10 words until the supreme court of the United States passes upon the matter. To that court the company appeals, basing its appeal on the statement that it is an interstate commerce case on which the state courts cannot act.

TWO MARRIAGES

Were Events of This Morning in This City.
This morning at Christ church there was a quiet wedding, in which Rev. Dr. Marshall united in holy wedlock Dr. C. J. Barber of Auburn, N. Y., and Miss Francis Herbage also of that state who for sometime had been a talented member of the musical faculty of Peace institute; Mr. and Mrs. Barber left this morn for New York. Quite a party accompanied them to the train, among them being Prof. Dinwiddie. Mr. Thomas B Moseley a ted as best man.
At the home of Mr. B. R. Harding, 436 North Blount street, last evening a reception was given which was largely attended. It was in compliment to Mr. Samuel Otto Bauersfeld of Portsmouth, and Miss Ida Harding, who were this morning united in marriage at the bride's home by Rev. Dr. Eugene Daniel. Mr. William Harding, the bride's brother, was best man and Miss Minnie Bauersfeld of Baltimore, the groom's sister, was maid of honor. The groom is a clerk in the offices of the Seaboard Air Line at Portsmouth and quite a party of relatives and friends came with him here. Among those were his mother, aunt and sister, and Messrs. K. W. Weather, E. A. Jones, T. B. Cowper and James W. Winslow, fellow clerks. Mr. and Mrs. Bauersfeld left this morning for Niagara.

Deputy sheriff Brooks during the last term of federal court had charge of 43 U. S. prisoners and each of these was carried between the jail and the government building, several times. So crowded was the jail and so hot the weather that one night he turned these prisoners out in the corridor and then mounted guard over them all night.

Mention was made of the fact that the police at Norfolk arrested a negro who was thought to be Norwood Johnston, and who was wanted for a murderous assault in Montgomery county. But when the man was taken as far as Carthage it was found that he was not Johnston but was Rufe Council, a reputable negro. He was at once released and is now here, earning enough money to pay his fare back to Norfolk. Johnston, the real convict, has been caught in South Carolina.

SPEAKING OF POLES.

They are Still Standing on the Sidewalks at the Mansion.
The Visitor yesterday told, in a brief way, of the conflict of authority between the mayor and governor as to whether the city or the state has control of the sidewalks, and whether the governor can remove telephone poles from the sidewalks of the executive mansion. Gov. Carr contends that when the state sold lots here it reserved the squares and that the sidewalks of these belong to the state that the latter paid some $3000 for the paving and curbing of the sidewalks around the mansion lot. He also holds that manager Glass had promised to move the poles.
On the other side the mayor and the city attorney say plainly that the city has exclusive jurisdiction over the sidewalks, anywhere in the city; that poles cannot be put in the streets or the gutters, but are required to be on the sidewalks. Some few persons take the governor's view, but the great majority side boldly and strongly with mayor Ruff and say the latter is on top in this matter. It is really quite notable what a stir it has caused. Yesterday and today it was the popular topic of talk. All or nearly all agree that the mayor is master of the situation. The matter now goes before the attorney general. The governor, it will be noticed, has taken no steps looking to the removal of trolley poles, which are also on the sidewalks.

THE STATE FAIR SAFE.

The Money All Put Up and the Fair to be Held in October.
There was naturally much interest in the citizens' meeting at the mayor's office last evening, to see whether there was or was not to be a state fair next autumn. Mr. George Allen presided, Mr. John Nichols being secretary. The committee on subscriptions reported $2,252 of the $2,500 needed as pledged. Mr. Louis Brown gave $150 of this. The $248 was then made up by Messrs. John Nichols, Puleski Cowper, F. B. Arendell, R. B. Raney, Frank Stronach, John b Kenney, W. E. Ashley, J. R. Chamberlain, president of Caraleigh mills, Ed. Denton and Joseph Blake. The fair will be held in October, most probably beginning on the 22d. Now all the people must get to work and make it a big one.
A telegram from president Julian S. Carr today says: "I congratulate the committee upon its great success. Now for a fair that will prove a record-breaker."
Made Out of a Washpot.
This morning deputy collectors Wiley Jones, Shelburn and Walker returned from a raid in Chatham county, where yesterday they tried to capture a moonshiner and his outfit. The moonshiner got away but his still, which was made of a washpot was captured. He was absent with a lot of his firewater, in order to raise funds wherewith to make more.
