

Weather for Tomorrow.

For North Carolina: Rain in central and eastern portion, fair in western portion.

Local forecast for Raleigh and vicinity: Possibly a little rain, but greater part of Wednesday fair and warmer.

Local data for 24 hours ending 8 a. m.: Maximum temperature, 79; minimum temperature, 63; rainfall 0.04.

The slight "low" which was noted yesterday morning off the North Carolina coast seems to be developing into a considerable storm and is causing threatening rainy weather with cool northeast winds along the middle Atlantic coast. The rain is only heavy along the immediate coast. The barometer is high over the north Atlantic coast; it is slightly low from Nashville north to the lake region. The weather is generally fair and warm in the central valley. The probabilities are that very little rain will fall in the vicinity of Raleigh, though the sky may continue cloudy. The temperature will rise.

WAKE FOREST COLLEGE.

The Senior Class Day Exercises. The Graduates, etc.

At Wake Forest last evening the senior class day exercises were as follows at Wingate memorial hall:

F. E. Parham, president, of Granville; H. W. Early, secretary, of Bertie; J. H. Kerr, orator, subject, "Comparatives, their influence on law;" S. R. Ruxton, historian, of Northampton; L. A. Beady, poet, of Duplin; W. C. Newton, prophet, of Johnston.

There was delightful music by the 1st regiment band, of Richmond, Va. After the close of the exercises president and Mrs. Taylor gave an elegant reception at their residence to the senior class. Twenty-five young ladies assisted in receiving the guests. There are twenty-two graduates, as follows:

S. R. Boston, Frank E. Parham, (who are the two honor men), R. T. Allen, L. A. Beady, I. S. Boyles, W. J. Christian, Jr., J. L. Cornwell, Raleigh T. Daniel, M. P. Davis, J. V. Devenny, W. Durham, H. W. Early, R. W. Haywood, O. L. Hoffman, J. M. Holding, J. H. Kerr, Jr., Hugh Long, J. R. Moore, W. C. Newton, John A. Rogers, Wm. Royall.

Opera This Evening.

At the academy of music this evening the opera "The Pretty Persian," a three act work by the famous composer Charles Lecocq, will be presented by the Andrews opera company. It is a comic opera. While the music is bright and tuneful, its great success has resulted principally from its amusing comedy theme, which deals with the peculiarities of the Persian marriage laws. The extremely ludicrous situations, combined with the brilliant and lavish costuming of which the opera permits, and the brightness and daintiness of its music make the "Pretty Persian" one of the most effective and successful of the later school of comic operas.

BOARD OF AGRICULTURE.

ITS SEMI-ANNUAL SESSION BEGAN THIS AFTERNOON.

The Members Whom the Legislature Tried to Elect are Here.

This afternoon at 4:30 o'clock a regular session of the board of agriculture began. There are present W. F. Green, president; H. E. Fries, J. B. Coffield, W. R. Capehart, J. R. McLelland and Gilmer, old members of the board; J. E. Mewborne, a member because of his being president of the state Alliance; Hill E. King from the 3rd and R. Aiken of the 9th district, both new members elected by the last legislature to fill vacancies. J. J. Long was elected to fill a vacancy in the 6th district, but he is dead.

The last legislature also elected, or tried to elect, five additional trustees, these being J. A. Buchanan, C. H. Johnson, J. C. L. Harris, J. R. Chamberlain and O. H. Starbuck, but as this election took place before the act was ratified it is void and of no effect, as it appears under the terms of the supreme court's decision in the case of Cook vs. Mears. This the Visitor stated immediately after the decision in the latter case.

All these "additional" members are here. This morning they employed Spier Whitaker as counsel and asked his opinion as their right to hold office. He told them they had no right. The act which increased the board abolished the trustees of the A. & M. college. These were W. S. Primrose, N. B. Broughton, D. A. Tompkins, and R. W. Wharton. The act places the duties of trustees on the board of agriculture.

The "additional" did not demand places on the board. Two of them, Starbuck and Buchanan, were near the building. That was all. They said they had no rights. The board declared their places vacant and elected Primrose, Tompkins, Broughton and Wharton to fill the vacancies. It also elected two other members.

A. & M. COLLEGE.

interesting Exercises to be Held this Evening.

At 8:30 o'clock this evening the commencement exercises at the A. & M. college begin. There will be prayer by Rev. Dr. Marshall and the annual address will be delivered by Capt. Chas. E. Vawter, principal of the Miller manual training school, at Crozet, Va. The Miller school is the most distinguished of the manual training schools in the south, having been endowed handsomely by the late Samuel Miller. Capt. Vawter is a distinguished educator and by an invitation addressed the N. C. legislature when the state had been aroused to the needs of this work and was looking to the establishment of the institution which is now an honor to this city and state. The benediction this evening will be by Rev. N. B. Cobb.

STREET IMPROVEMENTS.

Chairman Drewry Says His Committee Will Make Things Hum.

In the course of an interview with chairman Drewry of the street committee he said: "I really think it is the best plan to let out the paving by contract. We had figured on a cost of $1.50 a square yard, but can get the work done by contract for only $1.35. This is for Belgian block. We can get macadam work done at 75 cents a square yard. There is no money on hand. We do not as yet know the city's financial status, as the books are not yet turned over. It is said they will be turned over within ten days. We intend to do much work and to make things hum."

Most Wonderful of Cows.

Moses Viff, of Rose Bank, S. I., has a curious and valuable Alderney cow. She is very large and has a hollow on her back which will hold over a gallon of water, and the cow always stands in the rain until the hollow is filled. It is then absorbed through pores and she gives that much additional milk, but, oddly enough, this phenomenon does not take place if ordinary water is poured into the hollow spot. Mr. Viff states that the process is even more strange if there happens to be a rainbow during the shower, as in that case the cream that rises on the milk takes on all the beautiful colors of mother-of-pearl.

More buildings are needed at the A. & M. college; a chapel, an armory, etc. During the vacation a 24-room dormitory will be built. The athletic grounds are in poor condition and need attention. They have never been put in proper condition, and are very rocky. The students also need more drill.

An associated press telegram from Memphis says that U. S. senator Marion Butler heads the North Carolina delegation and in company with the delegation reached Memphis this morning; the delegation is composed of democrats, republicans and populists alike and is significant from the fact that it will be the first manifestation of coalition between the three parties in North Carolina.

ASSESSING CITY PROPERTY.

The Work is Being Carefully Done.

Messrs. Julius Lewis, B. P. Williamson and B. Frank Womble are now putting in most of their time making assessments of city property. Today they were on Fayetteville street. For some time they have been in the southern part of the city, among the small houses, where labors were tedious and slow. They have been over about one-fourth of the city, they say. After they complete their work one of them should be continued at work, verifying the assessments, and making up a carefully prepared list of the number, location, dimension, &c., of all pieces of property.

DELIGHTFUL PERFORMANCE

Was Given by the Andrews Opera Company Last Evening.

A delighted audience witnessed the capital performance of the opera "Fra Diavolo" at the academy of music last evening. From opening to end there was the sparkle of music and clever acting. Miss Myra Morella, the "Zerlina," was most musical, and Miss Florence Clayton's high notes won applause. Mr. Jay Taylor made a very acceptable and tuneful "Fra Diavolo." The funmakers were Ed. Andrews and Fred Clayton, as the robbers, and they with Mr. Taylor and Miss Morella won the deserved compliment of a double encore. The choruses were effective, the costumes good and the company made a most agreeable impression. Music lovers should this evening hear it render the "Pretty Persian."
