The appearance of the features was life-like in the extreme. Mr. Upchurch's death was due to hemorrhage. He had had several of these. His lungs became affected eight months ago, while he was traveling in the extreme northwest for a Chicago house. The remains were accompanied here by Mr. Harris, Mrs. Upchurch and Mrs. S. M. W. C. T. U. News.

The thirteenth annual session of the W. C. T. U. of this state met at Charlotte yesterday afternoon Mrs. N. C. Weatherly prayed, and Mrs. Cartland of Concord as president opened the session. Rev. Dr. Preston offered prayer at the evening service, mayor Weddington welcomed the visitors on behalf of Charlotte, Rev. Dr. Cressy in behalf of the preachers, Mrs. Littlejohn in behalf of the women of Charlotte, and to the latter speech Mrs. Fannie Hayes of Raleigh neatly responded. Rev. Dr. Pritchard made the annual address. The Charlotte Observer says that after reviewing the lives of his comrades in early years, showing that one half of them had filled drunkards' graves, he asserted that intoxicating liquors are the curse of society and the church. A pathetic, touching address followed, replete with incidents and illustrations, which were listened to with rapt attention by a large and appreciative audience.

GRAPES AND BERRIES.

A Fine Crop of Both at Pine Forest.

One of the prettiest sights near here is at "Pine Forest" vineyard south west of town. It is owned by Whiting Bros and just now Mr. Seymour Whiting is devoting his days to it. There are thirty acres in grapes and dewberries, plums and pears. There are 10,000 dewberry vines and a pretty sight they are. The Lucretia is the favorite variety. Three to five runners from the vine are twined around each stake and held in place by strips of leather. Each vine is black with berries, flavoured and of large size and each one bears from 1 1/2 to 3 quarts. There are 2000 blackberry bushes of the Wilson variety. These berries will be ripe in two or three weeks as they are that much later than the dewberries. There are just now 30 pickers at work among the dewberries. This week up to today 65 bushels had been shipped and today 25 bushels were sent away. There is a good demand for these berries. There are 5000 Delaware and 2000 Niagara grape vines in full bearing. There are several thousand which will come into bearing next season, and there will be in all 25,000 vines. Mr. Snyder a well known fruit buyer visited this vineyard last week and says it is the finest he has seen. Of the Niagara grapes 30,000 bunches are now in paper sacks, [as this is the best means of preventing the rot to which they are extremely liable. The grapes have to be sprayed with bluestone six or eight times a year.

THREE BIG FISH,

And How a Farmer Caught Them With a Pitchfork.

Dr. Banks of Middle Creek township was here today, and he tells a fish story for the truth of which he vouches. Two sons of Mr. Frank Gardner went to Black Creek to look at some hives in soak there. They heard something flapping in the hives, and hurried home and told their father. He went and saw three great fish in a pool, the water having so fallen that they could not get away. He got a pitchfork and killed all the fish. They were carp and weighed exactly 45 1/2 pounds. The largest of the three weighed 18 pounds. From two of the fish ten pounds of roe were taken.

Mr. Carr says that he is in receipt of many letters tendering assistance to the fair, and that there is widespread public interest in it. The next fair is sure to be a fine one. The premium list was shown president Carr by secretary John Nichols, was approved and in about a week it will be ready for issue, it is expected. It is a pleasure to be able to state that the business men of Raleigh have advertised liberally in the premium list, of which there will be a large edition.

THE ICE AND THE CORPSE.

This is Said to be the True Story of the Affair.

The Winston correspondent of the Charlotte Observer today tells what he says are the facts in the Winston hotel Phoenix sensation at Winston: "The ice was in a large tub, covered over with a sheet, under the boards on which the corpse was lying. It was removed by a porter, under instructions of Mr. Kittelle, from the tub, washed and placed in the refrigerator, from which it was afterwards taken for the tea and water in the dining room. The ice was not in contact with the body at any time. Kittelle when first confronted with the charge by the stockholders denied it emphatically.

The directors then called the porter and he was asked in the presence of Mr. Kittelle if he had been told to take the ice from the tub and put it in the refrigerator and if he followed his instructions. To both questions the negro answered in the affirmative. The porter was corroborated by a chambermaid. As soon as this became known the guests began preparations for moving. The next morning they left almost in a body, but returned when assured by the management that Kittelle would have nothing more to do with the culinary department. The hotel is closed for the present, until a new and competent manager can be found.

Mr. Kittelle and family are still in town and it is stated that he intends making Winston his home. Mr. Kittelle is preparing to bring suit for slander against Mr. John Igelstrom, who has been making the Phoenix hotel his home for a year or more, and who, Mr. Kittelle claims, first started the report. The colored porter told Mr. Igelstrom first about the ice and Mr. Igelstrom circulated the report amongst the guests of the hotel.

At Chicago an unknown man played ghost at a laundry last night, and so badly scared three girls that they are dangerously ill. One of the girls saw a white draped figure before a window and ran shrieking for help. The three remained on watch. The figure again appeared, with an unearthly groan, and glided into the darkness. The 3 girls fainted and when found, half an hour later, all were still unconscious. Physicians say that Alva Reidel will probably die, and that the other two are in a critical condition.

Political Points.

Yesterday the Washington correspondent of the Charlotte Observer interviewed congressman Harry Skinner who said that as all three parties in North Carolina are for free silver, the populists will not go over to the democrats; that Tom Reed is stronger in the state than McKinley; that leaving such states as Michigan, Iowa and Indiana in the doubtful column the silver democrats in the national convention will still lack eighty votes of a majority; that nevertheless he thinks they will largely influence the body; that the people like the legislature's action better on reflection, especially its treatment of county government, the schools and the state institutions. Congressman Skinner said, however, that the last legislature might have let alone the public school management.
