ALDERMEN TONIGHT

No Reports from Light or Street Committee

CH'M. CORRELL RESIGNS

Alderman Correll was Unable to Get a Meeting of the Light Committee Hence He Will Resign, as Chairman

The City Fathers will hold their regular monthly meeting tonight in the Mayor's office. The September meeting will be of note chiefly from two factors—the longed-for report of the Light Committee will not be forth-coming, and second no report will be presented from the Street Committee.

The public were anxious for some report from the Light Committee for until the past week the service was miserable, and the people of Raleigh wanted to know the reason for this.

Alderman Correll, chairman of the Light Committee in an interview recently published in the Times-Visitor, stated that this committee would offer a warm report tonight.

A reporter called on Chairman Cor-rell today and asked for the text of this report.

"There will be no report from the Light Committee tonight," he replied.

The reason for this is that Alderman Correll was the only member of the Light Committee who showed up at the meeting called for last night. Since Alderman Correll could not constitute a quorum alone no business could be transacted.

Alderman Correll was disappointed at the failure to hold a committee meeting last night and tonight he will tender his resignation as chairman of the Light Committee.

He will be succeeded as chairman by Alderman McDonald of the First Ward.
The chairman of the Police Committee states that he will have nothing new for the board tonight.

THEY GOT HIM

The Wild Man Has Been Captured

LASSOED IN MID-AIR

Two Swift Creek Officials with Balloon Captured the Wild Man and He is Now in Custody

By Special Cable from Annapolis Headquarters.

Of course the miraculous actions of the wild man of Swift Creek created a sensation in all of Maryland. Politicians alone could account for such a kick-up. Evolutions from democratic to populist ideas, flops from republican to fusion proclivities were familiar transactions, but none of these had pulled the two old parties up, root and branches, and suddenly disappeared.

There are some peaceful farmers who had not wandered about the swamps and consequently had not heard of the wild man. These usually spend their evenings upon their verandas cooling off, after the day's work. Such was Mr. Ed. Bledsoe doing when a dense shadow passed through the lawn in front of his house. Mr. Bledsoe at once raised his eyes upward and beheld a large tree floating through the air, to which was attached a human shape, making all manner of gyrations similar to the frantic actions of a crazy trapezist in a ten-cent circus. Mr. Bledsoe immediately telephoned to Annapolis headquarters in Raleigh for an inflated balloon, which was hurried to his place of residence. In the meantime Mr.
Bledsoe, who, by the way, is a justice of the peace, sent for Rufe Powell, constable, and these two officials entered the basket of the balloon opened the valve and hurriedly ascended to a height of half a mile or more. By aid of a powerful glass Ed. Bledsoe sighted the object they were in search of, slowly moving northwardly, and Rufe Powell steering the balloon, opened wider the valve and the air ship fairly flew through space. When near the home of Bob Horton, in the House's Creek country, the air ship opened one of her 13-inch portholes and sent a solid shot at the tree, but with no effect. Rufe Powell then ran out a dynamite tube and sent one of those Vesu-vius speculators out into the air, which struck the tree square in the roots, and roots, trunk, branches and leaves were scattered wildly among the clouds. The balloon was now within fifty yards of the falling wild man, and Ed. Bledsoe opened an automatic lasso valve and straight through the air flew one hundred feet of well oiled flaxen rope, the end of which made several wraps about the body of the wild man and tied itself into a double sailor knot, and the wild man was suspended beneath the balloon. Rufe Powell at once reversed the action of the air ship and slowly descended, making a landing in Bob Horton's front yard.

The wild man was secured by chains and cables and brought to this city and carried to Tom Brockwell's, who riveted strong iron bands upon his ankles and wrists and a steel belt about his waist, and then this monster was turned over to Dr. Burnes as a companion to the vicious squirrel in Burns' Zoo Zoo, and an additional prevention to nurses and small children trespassing upon that forbidden ground.
There will be no more poison used in this administration flower garden, as this wild man eats dogs.

There may be some who will think this is but a sensational item, but such is not the case. This manuscript was submitted to a full meeting of the Annapolis Club, and Captain L. W. Smith reported back that he had read it to Shelly Swain who declared that he believed every word of it.

(The End.)

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

Ror Raleigh and vicinity fair, warmer tonight and Saturday.
The storm has moved in a northwesterly direction and is now central beyond Atlanta, but has decreased in violence; in fact, has almost disappeared. The rainfall at Atlanta during the past 24 hours was 3.18 inches.
The weather is cloudy at a few stations in the vicinity of Atlanta and at two or three other scattered points, but over the greater portion of the country clear, very warm weather prevails.
The barometer is lowest in the northwest north of the Lake region, and southerly winds are blowing into the low throughout the central and western portions of the country. A period of fair and very warm weather seems probable.

BIDS OPENED.

tleships have been opened. A successful bid, at about two and half million dollars.

Mr. Jos. Brown Back from Bankers Convention

OMAHA EXPOSITION

Mr. Brown Tells of the Marvelous Output of Colorado Mines—Every Courtesy Shown the Bankers.

Mr. Joseph G. Brown, president of the Citizens National Bank of this city, returned last evening from Denver, Colorado, where he attended a convention of the American Bankers' Association.
He was the only representative among the 675 from North Carolina. He was highly honored by being elected a member of the executive committee.

Mr. Brown was greatly impressed with the marvelous wealth of Colorado, but in spite of this he was never better satisfied with North Carolina. He is enthusiastic in his praise of the hospitality of the people of Denver.

"After the three days' convention closed the people of Denver hired twenty-five Pullman cars and took the 600 on a tour of Colorado. They paid all the expenses of the trip, too—that is, nearly all.

"The people of the towns visited would not let them pay in some instances. They claimed that privilege for themselves. The escort of Denverites that went with us to show us the sights was headed by ex-Governor and Mrs. Baxter and Mr. Hayes, Jefferson Davis' son-in-law, and a dozen other equally prominent people."

Mr. Brown was greatly impressed with the mines visited. He says that while digging a foundation for a hotel in the town of Victor, a rich vein of ore was discovered. At one silver mine he saw the output of that day and it was valued at $135,000. At some of the mines the delegates were given souvenirs of ore valued at from $3 to $6.

At Cripple Creek and Pueblo the restaurants and hotels and street cars and soda water fountains refused to accept payment from any one wearing an American Bankers' button. At towns where the visitors did not leave the cars the citizens gave each man a basket of fruit and each lady a bouquet of extraordinarily beautiful flowers. The three days' tour wound up at Colorado Springs, where the party was met by 250 carriages and taken to ride through out the city, being mostly driven by the most prominent men in the city.

Mr. Brown visited the Omaha Exposition after leaving Denver. He speaks in highest terms of the buildings and displays there. While in Omaha he saw Mr. Ceburn Harris, of this city, who has charge of the North Carolina exhibit.

MAGNIFICENT OPENING.

No Term of the A. M. & M College has Opened More Auspiciously

The fall term of the North Carolina College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts formally opened yesterday. The enrollment of boarders alone reached about 130 today. This does not include the students boarding away from college. Students are arriving on every train and the prospects were never brighter on the second day for a large enrollment.

Prof. Wright remarked today, "The new students are entering remarkably high. More students have been able to enter the Sophomore class than ever before. The boys, as a whole, seem to have had better preparation than heretofore."

Prof. Hill says that the entrance examination papers were the best he has ever had. Entrance examinations are being held daily.

The formation of companies will not be begun until a commandant arrives.
Mr. Harris is expected to arrange this while in Washington.

Mr. C. H. Stonebank has charge of the kitchen and the boys who board at college may consider themselves fortunate.

ADJUTANT BRADLEY WOOTEN.

Now at His Father's Residence Recovering From the Effects of Fever.
Adjutant Bradley Wooten, of the Second North Carolina Regiment, who has been quite ill of fever at St. Augustine, Fla., arrived here yesterday, accompanied by his mother, who has been with him the past several weeks.
He was carried at once to the residence of his father, Rev. Edward Wooten, on Third street, where at a late hour last night he was reported in as good condition as could be expected after so long and fatiguing a journey. The attending physician said he had a slight fever again, caused by the trip. While Mr. Wooten is very weak and emaciated, there is every indication that his convalescence will continue.—Wilmington Star.

Yesterday evening Mr. and Mrs. J.
W. Evans' son, Master Earl, on New-bern avenue, gave a very pleasant birthday party. A number of friends were invited. Ice cream and refreshments of all kinds were served and the guests report having spent a very pleasant afternoon.
