Gen. Miles Says Reported Interviews Correct

DEATHS FROM HEAT

G. A. R. Encampment—The Peace Commission—A Fatal Political Row in Colorado—Other News

GEN. MILES DOES NOT RETRACT.

By Telegraph to The Times-Visitor. NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—Gen. Miles today declared that the interview with him published in Kansas City was in the main correct. He refused to retract the most serious allegations made against the War Department. A few minor points reported in the interview he said were incorrectly stated, but on the whole he fathered the statements. According to army regulations his reiteration of these charges against his superior officers will force the Secretary of War to order the General to appear before a court-martial. That is what his friends say he wants, that the administration of the war in Cuba may be thoroughly overhauled.

G. A. R. ENCAMPMENT.

By Telegraph to The Times-Visitor. CINCINNATI, Sept. 7.—A feature of the National Encampment today was the Grand Army parade. It is the largest attendance of any day since the encampment began. There is great interest in the event of the contest between Sexton of Illinois, Shaw and Shouts of New York, Anderson of Kansas, and Mack of Ohio, for commander-in-chief. While Denver, Kansas City and Philadelphia are struggling for the location of the next encampment. During the parade General Carey, police commissioner of Buffalo, N. Y., was dangerously hurt. His horse fell and his spine is believed to be seriously injured.

A MAN KILLED.

By Telegraph to The Times-Visitor. COLORADO SPRINGS, Sept. 7.—A political war between factions of the silver Republicans resulted in the death of Charles Harris, of Denver. One faction attempted to capture the opera house guarded by the Sprague faction. At 4 o'clock a rush was made by fifteen or twenty of the Broad men from both the front and rear of the building. The Sprague men who held the position fired a volley and Harris fell. The shooting occurred just outside the opera house. Several arrests, including the man who fired the fatal shot, have been made. The shooting is the result of the national chairman, who removed Richard Broed from the chairmanship because of alleged disloyalty.

THE PEACE COMMISSION.

By Telegraph to The Times-Visitor. WASHINGTON, Sept. 7.—The American case to be presented at Paris is being prepared by the State Department. The French line has offered free transportation to the commission, which had to be declined because other arrangements had been made. Commodore Bradford, the chief of the naval bureau of equipment, is likely to go to Paris to advise regarding coal-stationing and it is understood that the commission intends to limit its military and naval staff to one officer of each branch.

TROOPS WANTED TO PARADE.

By Telegraph to The Times-Visitor. NEW YORK, Sept. 7.—General Miles said he received no request or reply of the men in camp near here to the second request that the troops be permitted to parade. He had only received a message ordering him home forthwith. He concluded: "I didn't want to parade myself. I am going to Washington, but my men desire to parade."

OMAHA EXPOSITION

Mr. Ceburn Harris Sends an Interesting Letter

SOME SPECIAL FEATURES

Miss Carrie Harris of North Carolina in Charge of the Department of Justice—Displays Which Attract Special Attention.

A most interesting letter has been received by Mrs. J. C. L. Harris from her son, Mr. Ceburn Harris, who has charge of the North Carolina exhibit at the great Exposition now being held at Omaha. While the letter was not intended for publication we take the liberty of making some extracts. Among other things Mr. Harris writes: "I will try to give you a brief description of some of the features of the Exposition. Perhaps some of the most interesting features in the government building are the wax figures of the army officers in their different uniforms from the Revolutionary period to the present time. The uniforms worn in the Revolution do not look anything like those used now. There are also models of all the different kinds of guns used by Uncle Sam since his infancy. One of these old guns has a barrel as big as a coffee pot. "The exhibit from the Smithsonian Institute is very interesting and instructive. The old war relics from George Washington's sword down can be found here. "The Department of Justice contains portraits of all the Presidents, Vice-Presidents and other statesmen. This department is in charge of Miss Carrie Jenkins Harris, of Henderson, N. C. She can tell you anything you want to know about these exhibits. "The navy exhibit is very fine. It contains models of all the warships. The model of the Maine is covered with crabs and over it is the familiar inscription, 'Remember the Maine.' These models have every detail of the vessels they represent and cost $8,000 a piece. "The first exhibit on the west side of the building is the display of Fish and Fisheries. This consists of a long tunnel which would be dark as pitch but the electric lights. Every variety of fish, turtles, &c., may be seen under the glass cover of the space, about 4 feet wide, which enclose them. The electric light shining upon the fish makes a beautiful display and the place is crowded all the time. On the outside of the tunnel are models of fish traps, hatcheries, &c. "Then there is a display of articles that have passed through the dead letter office. Among these articles are saddles, harness, shoes, pistols, clothes, Indian beads, lamps and most curious to tell somebody sent a rattlesnake through the mail. He is now in alcohol. "Back of this is a regular government postoffice from which mail is delivered to employees in the various buildings four times a day. "Next the Horticultural Department, containing plants and fruits from every part of the United States. The daily examination of pork under a microscope, is most interesting. The government building stands at the head of the Lagoon which is about a quarter of a mile long. On each side of the Lagoon are the Exposition buildings. On the left side are the following buildings: 1. Agricultural; 2. Manufactures and Machinery; 3. Electrical; 4. Children's, and on the right of the Lagoon are: 1. High Arts; 2. Liberal Arts; 3. Mines and Mining; then the markets and eating houses. All of these buildings are perfectly white and at night when lighted around the Lagoon are beautiful. The most attractive exhibit in the agricultural building is the display of crows raised along the Great Rock Island Railroad. A little train run around the top of this exhibit. When you first see it, it is inside the exhibit; then it switches off by itself and runs around the outside, then inside and through a long tunnel, across a bridge and finally stops at a little station. "Among the State buildings Georgia has about the best. The midway is the place for fun. Here you see the Streets of Cair, Trilby, Crystal Maze, Bombardment of Matanzas, Wild West Shows, Dancing Girls, German Village, Fortune Tellers, An Ostrich Farm, A Southern Plantation with 100 Negroes on it. "Italy, France, Germany and Canada have fine exhibits. Mr. Griffith, of Salisbury, and Mr. Joseph Brown, from home, are the only North Carolinians I have seen here."

I WANT MY COAT AND VEST.

That was the plaintive request made by Constable John Upchurch this morning when he entered Judge Robert's court room. John is short one coat and one vest in the inventory of his personal effects making up his personal property exemptions. Every citizen is entitled to $500 worth of coats and vests which Constable John Upchurch cannot levy upon even though he has an execution, but Constable Upchurch's coat and vest are gone, not under execution, but by the felonious stealing, taking and carrying away by one William Snipes. William committed a trespass and was taxed costs which he could not pay, so he placed his guitar in soak and agreed to work for Constable Upchurch curing tobacco till the amount of costs were worked out. Curing tobacco was hard work, so William took Constable John's coat and vest and hit the grit. Constable John now sits picking the guitar strings: "While we are missing you, Also a coat and vest."

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

For Raleigh and vicinity showers tonight or early Thursday, followed by fair and considerably cooler weather. The "cool wave" which appeared in the west yesterday has developed considerable progressive movement and already covers the entire country west of the Mississippi, the central Mississippi and Ohio valleys and the Lake region. Heavy frost is reported this morning at Bismarck and North Platte. The area of coldest weather (34 to 36) degrees covers Nebraska and Colorado. The temperature has fallen 10 to 18 degrees throughout the central valley. Over the Gulf and Atlantic States the weather continues warm, with southwest winds. Light showers occurred at scattered points.

TROUBLE AT CAPITOL.

Boys Should Behave When in That Sacred Domain.

Yesterday a telephone message came to the station house saying: "Send an officer to the Governor's office right away."

On the way they imagined all manner of horrible things, but on arriving found that a battle was eminent between a squad of about twenty Raleigh boys, one on side and Keeper of the Capitol Burns, backed by Secretary Cade and Clerk Fowle, on the other. The trouble arose over some misbehavior by the boys. Hostilities were fortunately averted and the officers dispersed the crowd after taking down the boys' names.
