Holloway and Miss Mary E. Lumden as husband and wife was performed by Rev. Dr. J. W. Carter of the First Baptist church, assisted by Rev. Dr. A. M. Simms, of the Baptist Tabernacle. The drawing room was artistically decorated, and while the happy couple, in the presence of a host of relatives and friends, were taking solemn vows, the soft notes of the sweetest music floated from the adjoining room where Mr. Samuel Parish presided over the organ.

The ceremony was witnessed by a number of relatives and friends of the contracting parties. Numerous presents were received as a slight manifestation of the esteem in which the bride and groom are held.
Mr. and Mrs. Holloway left at 11:30 today for Washington City where they will spend a week or more.

MAYOR'S COURT

Mrs. J. V. Wilson Given a Hearing

HER BOND $150

A Soldier Found Cut--The Affair a Mystery--A Soldier Smashes the Glass in a Front Door.

Mayor pro tem Powell had a rather lively docket in the police court this morning. The soldiers were paid off yesterday and this contributed to some extent to the merriment of night, although it is due the men to state that as a whole they were very gentlemanly and well behaved in spite of the fact that a few loose dollars were jingling in their pockets.
The first offender was A. B. Jackson of Company A, charged with breaking the glass in a front door in East Raleigh. Mayor Powell fined him $5 and cost.

Charlie and Moonie Perry, two negro boys, were arraigned on the charge of provoking a soldier to resist an officer. It seems that officer Woodall had the soldier under arrest going to the station house when these boys began yelling at the soldier and telling the officer to carry him on, whereupon the soldier became unruly and gave the officer much trouble. These two negroes consequently contributed $3.25 each to the city treasury today.

WILSON CASE.

Mrs. M. L. Wilson was arraigned for a preliminary hearing on the charge of shooting her husband, Thomas P. Devereux, Esq., represented the defendant. Only two witnesses were examined.

Temple Ivey, an old colored woman, was the first witness. She stated that she was in the house at the time. She saw Mrs. Wilson go in the room where Mr. Wilson was, heard a chair fall, went into the room and Mr. Wilson had his wife backed against the door trying to get the pistol from her when he was shot.

Floyd Perdue, who lives in the house, was in the room opposite when the shooting occurred. He said that Mrs. Wilson was complaining at supper and he told her that she had better stop drinking whiskey. After supper he heard Mr. and Mrs. Wilson say something about a divorce, and Mr. Wilson said that he would not back down and then a pistol shot.

This is a very unfortunate affair, deeply regretted by all the community. However, the only thing the Mayor could do was to send Mrs. Wilson on to court under a $150 bond.

SOLDIER CUT.

Last night about one o'clock a soldier was found cut down on the Bowery and brought to the station house. He was attended by a physician, and when a reporter visited the station house today he was sleeping quietly on a cot. His cuts are not serious. He has a gash in the back and a cut on the arm. His name is Robert Mitchell of Company E. Nothing is known about the cutting, and Mitchell has not yet told a word about it.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S UNION.

Interesting Meeting at the Baptist Tabernacle Last Night.
The meeting of the Young People's Union at the Baptist Tabernacle last night was quite a pleasant one. The programme was arranged so as to give an evening with Walter Scott, and so after the opening exercises, the first thing was a brief biographical sketch prepared by Mrs. T. B. Moseley and read by the President, Mrs. Moseley being detained at home by the sickness of her husband. This was followed by a selection from "Kenilworth," read by Miss Kate Allen. Prof. W. J. Brogden, of Raleigh Male Academy, then gave a select reading from "Marmion." Both of the selections were very choice and the rendition of them was excellent. The story of "Marmion" was then told by Mrs. Wm. R. Smith in an attractive paper beautifully read. Prof. E. P. Moses concluded the program with as charming a talk on "Scott as a prose-writer" as one will often hear. He gracefully sketched the story of several of the Waverley novels, and urged his hearers to read them in his own earnest and inimitable way.

The President, Mr. R. N. Simms, announced that Prof. W. R. Cullom, of Wake Forest, would address the Union next Tuesday evening on "The Making of the English Bible," or some kindred theme.
The Union is mapping out a line of work that it is thought will be helpful and interesting, and it is hoped that it will do great good.

ST. LOUIS SIGHTED.

By Telegraph to the Times-Visitor.
SOUTHAMPTON, Oct. 19.--The St. Louis from New York was sighted this afternoon.

ANOTHER ESCAPE

A Convict Follows Example of Other Two

JNO DAVIS THIS TIME

He Had Only Eight Months to Serve in the Penitentiary and Had Been in the Hospital for Two Months.

Monday two Federal prisoners escaped from the State prison and they set a new example for their fellow prisoners. This morning about the same hour and in the same manner another convict made his escape.
This morning a squad of ten convicts were carried to the garden, just south of the stockade to dig potatoes. This garden embraces about 40 or 50 acres, and the gardener is an old man named Ponton. The squad was in charge of a guard named Steel. In the squad of convicts was a negro boy named John Davis. The men had been working only a short while when Davis suddenly made a break. Ponton, the gardener, was in the field and he whipped out his pistol and fired on the running negro. The guard also fired three times with his rifle. He got only one good clear shot at the man, however, and he is confident that he hit the mark then. When the guard fired that time the negro stumbled and slapped his hand on his thigh, and disappeared in Rocky branch bottom.
This happened about nine o'clock, and guards have been searching in vain for him ever since.
Warden Tom Russell immediately telegraphed to Captain Bradshaw to send him his blood hounds and they will be put on the trail this afternoon. Mr. Russell thinks that he can get the man when the dogs come as he is quite sure that he was wounded.
John Davis is a negro boy about eighteen or twenty years old. He arrived at the State prison a little more than two months ago to serve a sentence of ten months for larceny. Davis sent up from Wilson county. Since Davis arrived he has spent two months in the hospital, and had only eight months to serve. Davis was released from the prison hospital only a few days ago and this was about the first time he had been out to work since he assumed convict garb.

A REASONING SEAL.

The New York Sun tells the following concerning one of the musical seals in Capt. Woodward's only school of trained Alaska sea lions and seals, which will appear in Raleigh, N. C., on Monday, October 21, with the Great Adam Forepaugh and Sells Brothers' America's Greatest Shows Consolidated.

"In the curious display of trained seals and sea lions here, there is one incident that is of some interest to the people. It is the seal who is thrown to him. The chief sufferer by his greediness is a little seal who is at the further side of the lion from the trainer, and who holds a banjo from which his fin thrums the 'open' tones. He has a full minute of his musical effort, but when ordered to play to another animal's singing refuses flatly. Remanded urging only brings from him lusty barking for more food. Finally the trainer goes to the tub from which he took the fish and places it before his recalcitrant musician. The latter puts his head down into it, carefully looks it all over, and the second that he raises his head begins twanging the banjo strings, as if entirely satisfied that the reason for his not having more to eat is because there is nothing left."

MARRIAGE LAST EVENING.

Mr. Geo. E. Lougee, Jr., and Miss Mollie Graham Malone Wed.
Durham Herald.
Quite a number of the intimate friends and relatives of Mr. Geo. E. Lougee, Jr., and Miss Mollie Graham Malone gathered at the residence of Mr. L. L. Chamberlain last evening to witness an important event in the lives of these two young people. An event which usually--speaking from the extension of a life of happiness or a life of the most abject misery. A life of harmony or a life of discord.
The ceremony which solemnized the union of Mr. Lougee and Miss Malone was performed by Rev. J. N. Cole.

MORNING MARRIAGE.

Miss Pattie Montgomery and Mr. Eugene Hicks United in Marriage.
At Christ church this morning at half past ten o'clock the marriage of Miss Pattie T. Montgomery to Mr. Eugene Hicks was solemnized.
The decorations of marguerites and chrysanthemums made the altar a symphony of white and gold.
The attendants were Mr. Walker Williams and Mr. Frank Havwood, Mr. John C. Drewry and Mr. John Ward.
Miss Ida Montgomery was the maid of honor.
The bride entered with her brother, Mr. Thomas Montgomery, and was met at the altar by the groom, attended by his best man, Mr. Thomas H. Capehart, of Abbeville, S. C.
In the absence of the rector, Dr. Marshall, the ceremony was performed by Rev. E. A. Osborne of Charlotte, chaplain of the Second Regiment.
The large number which assembled to witness the marriage testified to the popularity of the bride.
Mr. Hicks is from Abbeville, S. C., though a native of the Old North State.
Mr. and Mrs. Hicks left on the eleven thirty train for Philadelphia. The best wishes of numerous friends follow them and Raleigh regrets having to give up one so universally popular, but congratulate Abbeville upon so attractive an acquisition.

A WESTERN JUDGE.

The Peruchi-Beldeni Company Next Monday Night, October 21, at Metropolitan Opera House.
The celebrated Peruchi-Beldeni musical comedy and dramatic company opens a week's engagement here Monday next, October 21, fresh from their week's playing at Wilmington and seven weeks' run at Nashville.
This company has record for length of stay in a Southern city. No company ever made such a lengthy visit as the Peruchi-Beldeni company made in Nashville. Its success can only be attributed to the care and detail given to every performance, and the two shows rolled into one, embracing as it does a double company, as high class specialties are introduced between acts, thus avoiding the customary waits.
The company is headed by the clever comedian, Chelso D. Peruchi, and the winsome, pretty soubrette, Miss Ella Beldeni, who last year added fresh laurels to their well known career by the portrayal of Harry and Lucy, the two kids in a well known comedy.
The Carleton Sisters are also added to their list together with Emile Subers a favorite black favored comedian, besides a company of sixteen finished actors and actresses. Nothing is too high for this management. Very large salaries are paid to the clever people. This management is always on the qui vive for novelties, and that's how it is the Peruchi-Beldeni company is considered the best of its kind on the road.
Everything is up to date. Nothing tedious permitted. As effervescent as fine champagne and everything goes as merrily as "marriage bells."
Popular prices--10, 20 and 30 cents.
The sale of seats opens Friday morning at King's drug store, and will be on sale every day during the week.
