

THE TIMES-VISITOR

NUMBER 8,895.

RALEIGH, N. C., FRIDAY EVENING, JUNE 9, 1899.

25 CENTS A MONTH.

REGISTRATION CLOSES.

A General Lining up for the Bond Election Now.

Today the registration for both the school bonds and the street improvement bonds closes.

City Clerk H. M. Smith says that the total registration is between 3,700 and 4,800. This is a heavier registration than for the previous election of the issuance of $50,000 in street improvement bonds. The elections will be held Monday, June 12th. Both the school and street bonds will be voted on at the same place. The boundaries for this election are as follows:

- First District—North of Hillsboro, west of Halifax.
- Second District—East of Halifax, north of Newbern avenue.
- Third District—South of Newbern avenue, east of Fayetteville.
- Fourth District—West of Fayetteville, south of Hillsboro.

WILL SUPPORT QUAY.

Senator Pritchard Practically Admits That He is for Him.

Col. Olds says in his correspondence: "Your correspondent wrote Senator Pritchard, asking whether or not he would vote for the seating of Senator Quay. Senator Pritchard says in reply: 'I beg to say that inasmuch as I am a member of the committee on privileges and elections and will therefore be called upon to pass upon the merits of Senator Quay's claim, I do not think it proper that I should express an opinion as to my course in the premises until I have examined into the merits of the case. In this connection I will say that I voted for Senator Corbett, of Oregon, who was appointed by the Governor, believing as I did that he had the power to fill any vacancy that might exist at a time when the Legislature was not in session. I am still of the opinion that such is the proper construction of the section of the constitution which relates to such cases.'"

JEFFRIES CONFIDENT

Police Will Not Interfere in the Fight.

ALLENHURST, N. J., June 9.—Jim Jeffries, a retinue of trainers, consisting of his brother Charles and Billy DeLaney and Tommy Ryan, left here this morning for Coney Island. The pugilist looked in excellent trim and expressed confidence in his ability to beat Fitzsimmons tonight.

A tip was sent around that the fight tonight will be unadvised. Chief Dewey simply issued a statement for the purpose of setting himself right before that portion of the public opposed to fistie encounters.

RICH AND RAGGED.

A Wealthy Young Man Who is Attempting to Do Good.

It is an unusual thing for a man with an annual income in the neighborhood of $50,000 to dress like a tramp, and choice and sleep in the cheapest hotels at times in calabasses for lack of better accommodations. Yet such an individual, it is said, is J. Eads How, son of the late Colonel James F. How, Vice-President of the Wash. He slept in the Macon (Mo.) calabasse Saturday night because the hotels were crowded and his ready appearance encouraged no one to offer him a place. He was on the street Saturday evening talking of the religion of the twentieth century, the burden of his discourse being socialistic. The officers approached him, thinking him deranged, but telegraphic instruction from St. Louis caused his prompt release. His voice was sweet and gentle and his choice of words and purity of accent proclaimed him educated and refined.

He spoke again on Sunday, taking up a collection, which he turned over to the Mayor to start a religious library. He went from Macon to Bevier, where he spoke for an hour Monday night on the same theme. Young How is a graduate of Yale and Oxford, and has had all the advantages of a home of luxury. As his name indicates, he is one of the Eads heirs also, to whom the Government pays $250,000 annually for the Mississippi jetties. He gets a sixth part of this, in addition to other incomes. He is of strong religious convictions, and devotes all his time and talent to mission work, and sends his income for charity and religion.

In a conversation with Mr. Gary, of Macon, he said that his conscience would not allow him to live in ease and luxury when he saw so much misery about him, so he has limited his means and goes about preaching on the streets, appealing to men to live a higher life.—Kansas City (Mo.) Journal.

ROYAL RUPTURE

Serious Dispute Between Queen Regent and the King's Aunt.

MADRID, June 9.—A dispute has arisen between the Queen Regent and the Infanta, King's Aunt, which has resulted in a serious rupture of their hitherto friendly relations. Infanta anonymously sent a wreath on the occasion of Castellane's funeral, but the fact leaked out and elicited expressions of popular approval. The Queen Regent was displeased by this act of the Infanta and expressed her disapproval very plainly. As a result the Infanta intends leaving the palace and taking private lodgings in the city.

ANOTHER SPECIAL SALE.

Thomas and Campbell have started another special sale. They have cut the prices on ice cream freezers, refrigerators, ice chests and other summer goods.

We have still a number of rolls of beautiful patterns of matting left, said Mr. Campbell that we will close out at a bargain. All matting laid free of charge.

BANKS ADJOURN

Mr. Jos. G. Brown Elected Presented.

SESSION THIS MORNING

Time and Place for Next Meeting Left to the Executive Committee

—Papers Read

Today.

The third annual meeting of the North Carolina Bankers Association came to an end today. It was pronounced by all the history of the association. The only gentlemen who participated, not members of the Association, were Mr. Caldwell Hardy, of Norfolk, Dr. K. P. Battle, of the University and Col. W. H. S. Burgwyn, National Bank Examiner, who read an excellent paper on "When the South was the Richest Section of the Country, and when it can be Again."

Col. John W. Blunsdale of this city read a most valuable paper today on "The Bankrupt Law."

"The Country Banker," was the subject of a splendid paper by Mr. C. N. Evans, cashier of the Bank of Reidsville. A delightful feature of today's session was short talks from representatives from each town or city in the State. Each speaker expressed his high appreciation of the many kindnesses shown the association by the Bankers Association by the Bankers of Raleigh and the citizens of the place. An advance of resolutions were introduced expressing the association's appreciation to the bankers here, the citizens, Mr. and Mrs. Belvin, the Capital Club and Raleigh in general.

The time and place for the next annual session was left to the executive committee. The places considered are Asheville, Wilmington, Newbern and Winston.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

President, Joseph G. Brown, of Raleigh.

First Vice-President, J. P. Sawyer, of Asheville.

Second Vice-President, G. W. Montague, of Lexington.

Third Vice-President, W. T. Old, of Elizabeth City.

Secretary and Treasurer, Miller, of Charlotte, was re-elected.

The Executive Committee consists of Col. F. H. Fries of Winston-Salem, T. W. Dewey of Goldsboro, J. Edward Cox of High Point, Dr. H. W. Lilly of Fayetteville, and the officers of the association.

After the installation of officers the association adjourned sine die.

THE LOVE BIRDS.

"We tried to keep the railway carriage to ourselves from Liverpool to London," writes a young bride. "The dinner was so crowded we really had not a moment to ourselves. At Busby, I think it was the guard opened the door, and in spite of Fred's scowls, left a small girl into our compartment, making a lot of apologies about having no place else to put her. She was a real little tow-headed English girl, about seven, and she sat down on the edge of the seat and stared about her."

"What is the matter, Miss Victoria?" asked Fred, who is the most good-natured man in the world.

"I don't see the birds," said the small girl, plaintively.

"Birds? What birds?" asked Fred.

"When I came from my other train, your guard said to my guard, 'Shove her in along with the love-birds.' Where are they?"—Troy Times.
